LONG RANGE GOALS AHEAD

GOP Drops Wooing of Southern Democrats

Washington (AP) — House Republican leaders, scenting congressional control in 1968 elections, have dropped their policy of wooing Southern Democrats and are putting long-range goals ahead of possible 1967 legislative victories

While the old GOP-Southern Democrats coalition may function where the two groups have parallel interests, the cozy, consistent teamwork that marked the heyday of former GOP Leader Charles A Halleck and former Rep Howard W Smith is gone

Republican leaders have insisted since they picked up 47 seats last November that they were not going to deal with Southern Democrats to bring the "Great Society" to a halt.

The current maneuvering over the extension of federal education programs has shown that Republicans, while backing a states rights alternative that would naturally appeal to many Southerners, are not listening to Southern offers of a deal in exchange for votes

Rep Gerald R Ford, the House GOP leader, from Michigan said in an Ohio speech last week that Republicans are following "my Southern strategy"

He explained

The strategy is to drive Southern Democrats in the House into the arms of the administration—where they belong — on votes that will hurt them in their home congressional districts"

He said, "This strategy runs exactly counter to the old pattern of a Southern Democrat-Republican coalition." And he added· "I think it is far better to lose a few legislative battles and win the next election"

In last November's election Republicans gained a net of six Southern House seats for a total of 23 out of 106

Although other GOP gains were balanced off by defeats, the six-seat gain exactly matched the number of Southern administration supporters no longer in Congress this year As a result, the administration can count regularly on only about 20 of the 83 remaining Southern Democrats.

NEW CRISIS

Venezuela Captures Guerrillas Led By Cuban Army Officers

Courageous Roberta, 4, Phones; 'For Mom'

By Eldon Barrett

Seattle Wash (UPI) —The small voice on the telephone was hesitant

There's a fire I don't know my address but I'll go outside and wave when you get here"

Yet the words were definite and the anxiety in the voice was enough to cause early morning fire dispatchers Earl R Gordon and George Gamble to realize this was more than an ordinary alarm.

What's your name son? Where do you live?

I'm Roberta Lynn Wittmeier My mommy's asleep on the couch and I can't wake her up"

This was the way the drama started — at 2 29 a m Apr 8 It is a drama that has been retained on a tape recording It is a vivid testimonial to a tiny girl's courage

Roberta is only 4 She has big brown eyes and short brown hair She is so small that she has to climb on a chair to reach the telephone on the wall of her mother's kitchen

Urgency Sensed

The two dispatchers sensed instantly that the life of the mother rested on the courage of her daughter They had to keep the girl on the telephone While one dispatcher called on the telephone company to trace the call the other questioned Roberta

Where do you live Roberta'

She didn't know

What's your telephone number?

She didn't know

What's your mommy's name?

She couldn't remember

Roberta how do you spell your last name?

I can't spell she sobbed

Honey I don't want you to hang up but I want you to try to wake your mother

Okay I'll try

Mommy Mommy Mommy' Wake up'

Back to the telephone she came She won't wake up'

'Roberta, is there much smoke'

Yes a whole bunch'

Roberta do you see fire

Yes It's burning where mommy is sleeping

The telephone operators were working frantically to trace the call

Roberta where do you go to school'

I don't go to school but I go to Sunday School'

Where do you go to Sunday School Roberta?

Minutes Pass

Gordon looked at the wall clock Four minutes had passed

"Roberta look into the center of the telephone and try to tell me the numbers that you see"

Plaintively she asks, "Where is the center?"

Patiently Gordon and Gamble continued the questioning Roberta can't read numbers of letters but she can recognize those in her own name This is of no help

While one dispatcher talks the other scans the telephone directory There are many variations of the last name the girl gave in the beginning Whitmer, Whitmire, Whitmyer, Witmer, Wittmeier, Wittmer Wittmeyer, Whittmier maybe it was Whitmore or Whitmier

"Roberta," Gordon asks again, "What is your mother's first name?"

War Goods May Move In Strike

Washington (AP) — The Defense Department agreed Saturday to discuss a union proposal to move essential military goods in event of a rail strike But it called the plan not feasible because it would delay the shipment of equipment and ammunition for Vietnam

Cyrus R Vance the deputy secretary of defense wired leaders of the union threatening a June 19 strike saying that representatives of the Pentagon and other federal agencies are ready to discuss the matter with labor and management representatives on Tuesday

The time and place of the meeting have not yet been worked out a Pentagon spokesman said

Michael Fox president of the AFL-CIO Railway Employes Department and G E Leighty chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' Association offered on April 28 to attempt to arrange and develop plans for moving all rail shipments essential to the nation's military effort and the public health if there should be a national strike by shop unions

In response to this latest union telegram, Vance said, "We strongly believe that your proposal for maintaining partial service to meet the defense and health needs of the nation is not feasible, particularly in view of our requirements for Vietnam"

He said the reasons were set forth in his letter May 9 to Harley O Staggers chairman of the House Commerce Committee

The Pentagon made public a copy of that letter to Staggers and it pointed up these reasons

1 "The movement of essential defense material in less than carload lots would require special trains This in turn would result in a slowing down of the delivery of required equipment and ammunition to the ports

2 Assorting and selecting of railroad cars containing essential defense freight will also delay the delivery of essential defense materiel'

3 The time required to assemble complete trainload lots will of course also substantially delay the shipment of essential defense material"

Trouble Is: Zinc Mine Gives Oil

United Press International

Tom Kiser of Miami, Okla, has a problem with his lead and zinc mine—it keeps producing oil

Since last November the oil has shut down one end of Kiser's Wesah mine in Ottawa county

It drips off the roof and seeps out of the walls and the working face" Kiser said 'I've spent a lifetime in these mines and never before seen anything like this"

Kiser said it has been necessary to close a section of the mine, scoop up a pair of earthen dams to contain the oil and install pumps to carry it 248 feet to the surface where it is stored in two 210-barrel tanks

Kiser's oil, however, is still thick enough to present a seasonal pumping problem Although the temperature in the mine is relatively constant, the winter surface temperature solidifies the oil before it can be stored

'We need about 80 degree weather at the surface," Kiser said "Over the winter we accumulated about a thousand barrels down there"

Hannibal, Mo, cave where search continues for three boys

Sock Discovered Near Cave; Mayor Calls for Volunteers

Compiled From News Wires

Hannibal Mo — Mayor Harry Musgrove called for 50 volunteers to show up at 6 a m CDT for a final combing of a 20-square-mile area in which a giant search had been made for three boys who have been missing since Wednesday

A sock found in the vicinity of Murphy's cave Saturday was identical to those worn by one of the boys but it was not of distinctive design searchers said and could have belonged to someone else

Bill Dean, a step brother of 14 year-old Craig Dowell said the sock is definitely Craig's

When it was shown to the mother of the oldest missing boy she said, "He has a pair just exactly like it"

However, she was unable to determine the color and type of socks her son was wearing when he vanished and the youth's elder brother said I know he's been up there (at Murphy's cave) but I've never seen him come back barefoot

Dowell and Joey Hoag 13 and Billy Hoag 11 were last seen entering Murphy's cave about 4 40 p m Wednesday

The Mark Twain Squad assembled for another descent into Murphy's cave equipped with a metal detector which might pick up the missing boys flashlights or shovel Bridges said he thought the boys might still be in Murphy's cave despite other fruitless searches of the cavern

It may be like when we drag rivers' he said If we don't find them in three or four hours we start getting reports that they're all over but we always find them in the river

Fingerprint experts were sent to a deserted house where detective Charles Webster said he found fresh hand and footprints which might have been made by three young boys.

Searchers discounted the theory that the boys might have gone to play is the Mississippi River, beloved by Mark Twain and his fictional hero Tom Sawyer William Karras cave expert from Washington who is directing the underground search, said "We would search the river as a last resort"

However, Mayor Harry Musgrove of Hannibal doubted the boys were lost in a cave

OAS, UN May Get Charges

Caracas Venezuela (AP)—The Caribbean is cracking with a new crisis over what the Venezuelan government calls the landing of a guerrilla force led by Cuban army officers Two of the officers are prisoners

The government of President Raul Leoni is pushing ahead with plans to indict Fidel Castro on charges of aggression before the Organization of American States and possibly before the United Nations

This is the first time a South American country has reported capturing Cuban troops on a subversive mission.

The Venezuelan government contends it now has indisputable, coscrete proof of Cuban intervention in its internal affairs An announcement Friday by Leoni said Cuban army officers led a group of Cuban-trained Venezuelans ashore at dawn last Monday on a lonely beach 90 miles east of Caracas and near a guerrilla mountain hideout

Venezuelan army troops killed the Cuban commander of the group, a lieutenant the announcement said Another officer drowned but two were captured, Leoni reported

The two were presented at a news conference in Caracas and admitted leading the guerrillas ashore They said they were Cubans

A Havana dispatch said the Cuban Foreign Ministry reported it had no official word of the landing and capture of the Cubans A spokesman said he could neither confirm nor deny the Caracas reports on the basis of present information The Communist party newspaper Granma published a news account of the Venezuelan announcement but did not comment on it

The captured pair gives Venezuela added leverage in its quest for collective sanctions against the Havana regime It has been seeking support for a collective indictment of Castro by the Latin American nations. It has also lodged complaints with nations trading with Cuba

American infantrymen use an ancient Vietnamese tomb as cover during an assault 12 miles north of Saigon.

Marines Dig In Below DMZ

By Peter Arnett

Con Thien, Vietnam (AP) — A tank - supported battalion of U S Marines and a strong North Vietnamese force dug in Saturday night after a three-hour battle at point-blank range in hills below the demilitarized zone.

"I think we just dented them," a Marine officer said. "They'll come back."

The battlefield was about 4,000 yards southeast of Con Thien, a forward American command post, and three miles south of the DMZ.

The Americans—the 600 or so men of the 1st Battalion, 9th Marine Regiment — ran into the enemy troops during a sweep.

The Marines were not expecting major contact and were almost walking over enemy positions when heavy fire erupted among them.

Staff Sgt Hubert Leslie of Beckley, W.Va., said "They were hidden under the hedge rows. After we were hit, we couldn't bring in tanks because we would kill our own men. Every time we moved, they stood up and threw grenades at us."

One Squad Mauled

One squad was severely mauled in an unsuccessful attempt to take out a line of enemy bunkers. These were later neutralized by the guns of two tanks that moved up to within five yards of the bunkers.

Newsmen who flew to the battle area found the 50-yard-wide landing zone under heavy small arms fire. Tanks were firing cannister rounds at enemy soldiers within 15 yards of the zone's edge.

Helicopters were under continuous fire, but they managed to evacuate all the wounded Marines.

At nightfall the fighting slackened, but later in the evening more Marines were reported wounded.

There was no announcement of the casualty count on either side

The fight followed several days and nights of intensive mortar and artillery fire on Con Thien and Gio Linh, a U.S. artillery base seven miles to the east.

Mortar Fire

Enemy mortars hammered Con Thien all day Saturday.

Maj. Gen. Bruno A. Bochmuth said: "They are stepping up their harassment and interdiction fire against us. We expect the pressure to continue indefinitely."

Hochmuth commands the 3rd Marine Division.

"Jean"

"Jean? Jean Wittmeier?"

"Yes"

Gamble points to a name in the phone book. Almost a shot in the dark.

"Is it Jeane Wittmeier and is your home address 528 13th Ave. East?"

"Yes," she almost shouted. There is no doubt in the voice now.

Within three minutes, firemen were at the house and Roberta politely opened the door for them. Roberta's mother was removed to safety and given first aid.

On Tranquilizers

Later Mrs. Wittmeier explained. She had been taking tranquilizers since the death of her husband because she had been suffering from insomnia. That night she had lain down to watch a late television show and had fallen asleep while smoking.

Roberta had been awakened by the smell of smoke and had put out the burning cigaret and then called the fire department.

There had been some fires in the neighborhood a few days before and they had frightened Roberta. So Mrs. Wittmeier, only the previous afternoon, had shown her little girl how to dial the operator and ask for help.

Today, Roberta holds the title of "junior fire marshal," a county insurance association had donated $4,000 in her name toward the Seattle Fire Depts. school and fire education program, she has been nominated for the national "junior fire marshal gold award, and Fire Chief Gordon Vickery has presented her with a citation that reads

"In recognition of her courage and the presence of mind she showed in reporting a fire at home, thereby saving her mother's life—the officers and men of the Seattle Fire Dept salute Roberta, age 4½, for her calmness in the face of great danger and emergency."

Gallup Poll

1 in 4 Is 'Superhawk'

Princeton, N J. — If one were to travel across the country to talk to people about the Vietnam war, he would soon discover that it is impossible to fit citizens into neat categories such as "hawks" and "doves".

Many shades of opinion are found about Vietnam.

However, when all the different views of the public are collected and analyzed, some fairly definite groupings begin to appear, especially at the extreme positions of the spectrum—the "superhawks" and the "superdoves."

Among the many questions asked was this:

"Some people say we should go all-out to win a military victory in Vietnam, using atom bombs and weapons. Do you agree or disagree with this view?"

One person in four answers in the affirmative. This may come as a surprise since no U.S. military leader has yet proposed such an extreme measure.

Use Atom Bombs?

	Per cent	Millions of Adults
Agree	26	30
Disagree	64	72
No opinion	10	11

Men are more inclined to take this "superhawk" position than are women. Southerners are the most hawkish. Little difference is revealed by an analysis of party affiliation, age, education, or occupation.

To identify the other extreme, a question was asked to find out how many persons think we should withdraw immediately from Vietnam.

A total of 14% or 16 million adults fall into this category, slightly more than half the number who say we should go all-out and use atomic bombs and weapons.

A sharp difference is found between the views of men and women, with the latter being far more inclined to favor immediate withdrawal.

Easterners are the most "doveish" of the nation, but again little difference is to be found on the basis of party affiliation and age. The "doves" are distributed rather equally in all levels of society.

Garrison Probe Not Convincing

By Edward J. Cooke

New Orleans (UPI)—After months of sensational headlines and intrigue, where does Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison stand in his investigation of what he insists was a plot to assassinate President Kennedy.

Opinion Analysis Of Author

The answer is that he does not seem to be much further along in proving that the President was the victim of a massive plot than he was the night his one defendant, businessman-playwright Clay L. Shaw was arrested.

Shaw was arrested Mar. 2, the day a grand jury obviously willing to listen to Garrison's logic was sworn in.

At the time, Garrison pledged other arrests and said the only way the conspirators could escape his investigation would be suicide. There have been no suicides

It was this grand jury which indicated Shaw in a charge of conspiring to assassinate President Kennedy It did so after hearing Garrison's star witness, Perry Raymond Russo, repeat the story he had told in court as Garrison convinced a three-judge panel that he had enough evidence to continue proceedings against Shaw.

Russo said he was accompanied to the party by a girl named Sandra Moffitt. She turned up as the wife of a part-time minister in Omaha, Neb., and denied going to the party. She said she did not even meet Ferrie until 1965.

He has said that Oswald and other major figures in the case were CIA agents and has accused lawyers defending some of them of being on the CIA payroll.

In taking certain newsmen into his confidence, Garrison has made at least two big mistakes He welcomed James Phelan of the Saturday Evening Post and Hugh Aynesworth of Newsweek into both his home and confidence. The articles they wrote for their magazines branded the investigation a fraud based on personal ambition.

New Orleans is still interested in Jim Garrison and his investigation. It cannot help it, but the interest has shifted from genuine concern to speculation over who will be the next to denounce the district attorney.

White shafts represent the men who died with Custer after an encounter with some 4,500 Cheyenne and Sioux braves in southeastern Montana.

Some 90 Years Later, Custer's 'Last Stand' Battle Still Rages

Helena, Mont. (AP) — When George A. Custer and five companies of the U.S. 7th Cavalry fought their famous "Last Stand" on the banks of the Little Big Horn River in southeastern Montana in 1876, they spurred a military controversy that may rage as long as wars are fought.

Why didn't Custer listen to his Indian scouts, who forecast doom? Why did he detach two segments of troops and send them elsewhere before the battle? Why did he turn down an offer of additional troops and a platoon of Gatling guns?

"We want to seek out and preserve the truth for future students and historians," says Robert J. Ege of Great Falls, Mont., a writer, student of the Old West and a leader of the Custer fact-finding group.

Ege and Robert B. MacLaine of Tacoma, Wash., founded the Little Big Horn Associates last December and recruited 10 other Western history students as charter members.

Custer went into history books either as a military genius and great leader or as a flamboyant, overconfident glory seeker, whose biggest mistake was his last.

Ege

One school of thought says Custer wanted to be president and thought that by annihilating the Cheyenne and Sioux he could establish himself as a national hero. Others believe Custer was trying to rebuild his public image. He had been rebuked by President U.S. Grant for getting into a sticky political situation which involved the president's brother.

No one in this group writes of Custer being impeccably dressed in Army blues or having golden curls flying in the wind. Why?

Because such a man never fought at the Little Big Horn, says Ege, who has studied the battle for 25 years. He said the real Custer went into the battle crewcut, saberless and in buckskins.

Just prior to Custer's defeat, he divided his command into three groups and a pack train. This action has been questioned ever since.

MacLaine, a student of Western history for 45 years, believes Custer's tactics, if assessed from a soldier's standpoint, indicate he was overconfident, had not reconnoitered completely and should not have split his command.

Ege, one of the pro-Custer members of the society, disagrees. Custer expected to clash with a force of 800 to 900 Indians, Ege said, but a breakdown in communications kept him from learning of the Indian buildup in the valley. The camp, as he learned too late, was three miles long and contained 15,000 to 20,000 Indians.

As it turned out, Custer faced the largest war party ever formed to fight the "white eyes." About 4,500 braves were of age — ready to do battle.

Isolated, Custer and his five troops of cavalry could do little but retreat. The command was forced back to Custer Ridge, where it fought to the last. Only a horse survived.

Order Not Followed

Before engaging the Indians, Custer scribbled a note to Capt. Frederick W. Benteen ordering him to come immediately with men and ammunition. The order was not acted upon. Benteen's lack of action followed him to the grave.

Mrs. Vivian Paladin, editor of the authoritative publication, "Montana, The Magazine of Western History," minces few words describing why Benteen failed to fulfill the order. "Benteen hated Custer's guts," she said.

Ege and MacLaine believe there were about 225 killed.

"On the field 212 bodies were found. There were four officers missing and nine troopers unaccounted for," Ege said. The men unaccounted for have caused much rumor, speculation and research. There have been more than 70 "survivor" theories since the battle.

Ege believes at least one man did escape. "His name was Frank Finkel," Ege said, "and he died in 1930 near Carter, Mont."

Survivor or no, the Battle of the Little Big Horn is far from over. More than 90 years later, the controversy shows no signs of diminishing.

Columbia, S.C. (AP) — Army Capt. Howard Levy's attorneys concede he is a liberal, but say he is not disloyal to his country and that charges against him are products of the Prussian attitude of professional military men.

Levy

That evolved as testimony began in the court-martial of the 30-year-old Brooklyn, N.Y., doctor who is chief of the dermatology clinic at nearby Ft. Jackson.

He is accused of refusing to teach medical skills to Special Forces medics, of trying to persuade Negro soldiers not to serve in Vietnam and of conduct unbecoming an officer.

Levy, who pleaded innocent, could be sentenced to a maximum of 11 years in federal prison if convicted by the panel of 10 high-ranking officers, including four who have served in Vietnam.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Levy of Brooklyn, sat silently through the first three days of the court martial in a stuffy barracks at the Ft. Jackson Army Recruit Training Center.

Motions Overruled

Col. Earl V. Brown, the law officer and counterpart of a civilian judge, overruled the last of 20 defense motions which sought to dissolve the proceedings on grounds they violated free speech and other constitutional guarantees.

Col. Henry F. Fancy, the Ft. Jackson hospital commanding officer, and the first of about 40 prosecution witnesses, testified that on three occasions Levy refused direct verbal and written orders to train Green Beret medics in the diagnosis and treatment of skin diseases.

The chief defense attorney, Charles Morgan of Atlanta, regional counsel for the American Civil Liberties Union, sought to show in cross examination that Fancy was prejudiced against Levy because of Levy's political views.

Fancy denied prejudice, but conceded he brought the charges after reading an Army intelligence dossier on Levy's affiliations in New York, and his involvement in civil rights activities since he came to South Carolina soon after becoming an Army doctor in July, 1965.

Sgt. Q. C. Debenuiki Landing, an enlisted man assigned to Levy's clinic, testified he once heard Levy tell a Negro Special Forces soldier that Green Beret men were "murderers, peasant killers, and killers of women and children."

Another enlisted man at the hospital, Spec 5 C. Ronald Novak, testified that Levy once told a group of Vietnam-bound Green Beret medical aid men that he hoped they would "come to harm."

Out of Work?

Stoke on Trent, England (UPI)—Soccer star Calvin Palmer has raised a knotty problem for the men who paid unemployment benefits. Is an athlete suspended for bad behavior unemployed?

Palmer, who plays fullback for Stoke City, insists he is out of work. The government is seeking legal advice. The question came up after Palmer was banned for three weeks "As far as I'm concerned," he said, "I don't have a job."

Don't miss it. News of friends on vacation, marriages, engagements, parties, PTA notes and club meetings makes good reading in the family section of "Sunday Journal and Star."

A Vocation by Instinct

Motherhood is the only major vocation for which there is little training, only instinct. Probably most young girls expect to be mothers some day but they train to be teachers, secretaries or any one of a hundred other occupations.

A girl who has a good and wise mother has had good on-the-job training, which supplemented by love and selflessness and will equip her for the tasks of motherhood. Not all girls have this advantage.

Life in the United States has undergone great changes since Mother's Day became a national event in 1914. The mothers in the early part of the century expected motherhood to be their life work

Today many young mothers hold jobs to supplement the family income and "sitters" become the day-time mothers. Other mothers expect to return to the business field when their children no longer need their constant care.

In this age when there is an increasing growing number of "part-time" mothers, the world is growing more complex for the children. The pros and cons of working mothers are frequently debated but without any firm conclusions. Many working mothers are better mothers than those who supposedly are full-time mothers.

The youth of today stand as a testimony that there are millions of wonderful mothers and one must conclude that vocation by instinct is not a failure. Yet today there are many disturbed children who have not had mothers trained to care for their needs, emotional or physical.

Last month Nebraska County and Juvenile Court judges said that one of their worst problems was the handling of mentally ill children. There is need for the state to step in and provide diagnostic care promptly in cases where the home has failed.

* * *

Mother's Day is indeed a day of love and remembrance but it should also be a day of concern for the children who do not know love and understanding.

Easing Pakistan's Food Shortage

When cheering news is hard to come by, a report from the Alliance for Progress was good news for a world often said to be facing starvation.

The Pakistani government, after years of crop failures, was advised to try Mexican dwarf wheat by Ignacio Narvaez of Mexico's International Center for Maize and Wheat Improvement.

About 350 tons of seed arrived in Karachi in the fall of 1965 and were planted on 12,000 acres in West Pakistan. A year ago the yield was 53 bushels per acre—four times that of the traditional Pakistan varieties. The harvest being gathered now is expected to reach the national target of 6 million tons for the first time.

Research and development in the wheat transfer were aided by the Rockefeller and Ford Foundations. In view of its success, the Ford Foundation has granted $319,000 to the Mexico Center to help develop machinery to handle the Pakistani harvest.

This is an excellent example of how the Americas with their great resources and talents are joining hands to combat hunger in the world.

It is of interest to Nebraskans that one of their own is making a contribution to this effort. Dr. John Lonquist, a noted corn-breeding scientist, will be working in Mexico with the Ford Foundation in a search for answers of how to feed the populations of the world.

If they find the answers this may be the ultimate way to a peaceful world. The prospect fewer hungry people in Pakistan is good news indeed. If it can happen in Pakistan surely it can happen in India.

A WORLD OF HUMOR

By ART BUCHWARD

Hey There! You With . . .

Washington — Pacific Airlines has been waging a very unusual advertising campaign pointing up the fears people have about flying. With such attention getters as "Hey, there! You with the seat in your palms," security blankets for the passengers and painting their airplanes to look like railroad locomotives, Pacific hopes to attract passengers who don't like to fly. It's a very dangerous campaign that Pacific is waging, but if it succeeds other industries might decide to try the same approach.

Buchwald

The advertising agencies are watching the Pacific advertisements with interest and already have their own ads on the drawing boards. For example, the automobile people may get into adverse advertising with this kind of ad.

"Hey, there! You with the beer can in your hand. Have you ever thought if you took your Rake X-321 out tonight you might ram it into a tree?

"Sure you're afraid to drive with all those nuts on the highways and you certainly have good reason. First of all, you're not even certain if your car is safe or not, and then you don't know if anyone else's car is safe. Frankly, the way they're building the roads these days you'd probably be better off staying in the house.

"But this shouldn't prevent you from buying a Rake X-321. For one thing it's fast—too damn fast if you ask us—and this can really scare you if you lose control.

"So why not go out and see your Rake dealer today?"

Then there are the bathroom fixtures advertising people.

"Gurgle Plumbing Fixtures will not pretend to you that it's safe to take a bath. We feel the more facts you know about getting into a tub the less anxious you'll be. The odds of getting in and out of a bath without hurting yourself are about four to one, which are not bad considering there is so little to hold onto when you're sitting down. Then there's always the chance of getting scalded if you turn the wrong tap. You say it will never happen? You should see some of the mail we get from our customers.

"Gurgle doesn't have the answer to accidents in the bathroom. All we can do is provide the equipment to make the accidents possible. Write for our free booklet, 'The Bathroom Is Not Safe At Any Speed.'"

And then there are the drug people.

"Hey, there! You with the pain in your tummy. I guess you've read that Litmus Stomach Powders are safe. Well don't let anybody kid you. If you take the wrong dose you could be sick for two days.

"Many people are afraid to take Litmus Stomach Powders. And they're not dumb people either. But we would rather you know in advance what you're getting into. Tests show bicarbonate is as good as Litmus and it only costs half the price."

And finally there are the cigaret advertisers.

"Hey, there! You with that terrible cough in your throat."

Failures Are Building Blocks

Just as it should be, the disastrous fire that took the lives of three Apollo spacemen has proved a stimulant to further progress in the nation's determination to land a man on the moon.

The program aimed at the moon land, said spaceman Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., is proceeding with haste, but "orderly haste." There is a "can do" atmosphere in the $24 million Apollo project because of the recent disaster that killed three astronauts, said Schirra.

Of course, a number of changes have been made. The next spacecraft will be well protected against fire and provision will be made for reacting to a fire emergency should one still develop.

A new hatch for the space capsule will allow for almost instant escape, a matter of criticism in connection with the Apollo I fire.

Actually, that fire never served as much of a catalyst for abandoning the moon landing program. There were a few people however, who pointed to the disaster as proof of the folly of our efforts

Some still believe that we are preoccupied with the moon while the many human problems of earth continue to assault us. But it is a balanced society in which we live and which we must attempt to create.

Part of our challenge is found in the diversity of the needs that cry out for satisfaction. The challenge is to utilize our resources in such a way that we can meet this diversity rather than limiting ourselves to narrow avenues of approach and leaving great vacuums in the network of human failings.

Thus, we find our space program to be in harmony with a logical approach to circumstances of today and with past events.

A mark of civilization's success has always been its tenacity. Men have not given up when they met with failures but have generally become all the more determined as their difficulties mounted

In this way, our nation was founded, our independence was gained and our borders expanded and developed. In this way we have come to master much of our environment and to harness for our common welfare the resources at our command.

Had generations before us allowed themselves to become discouraged in the face of hardship and reverses, we might not even be here today. And if we were here, our conditions of life could well be far less rewarding than they are.

The Apollo fire, of course, is to be deplored but it has not and will not be without meaning and value. In all that we do, the sacrifices we make, deliberately or otherwise, feed the stamina and dedication that are prerequisites of eventual success.

Postal System: Revolution of a Relic

In a "race with catastrophe," the Post Office Department wonders where to pigeonhole its problems. Ideas are cheap, solutions costly.

EDITORIAL FEATURE

By Gaylord Shaw, AP

PRESS a green button and the squat, innocent-looking machine starts chipping away at 200 years of postal tradition.

First its motor whines unsteadily, then settles into a quiet purr as six pieces of mail a second swish past its electronic eyes.

The speeding letters melt into a white blur.

Zip . . . zip . . . zip.

In one hour, the machine can handle more mail than a clerk can sort in two hours into the pigeonhole cases first used in the United States in colonial days.

The zip code reader machine symbolizes the big push to revolutionize the nation's postal system—to convert it from a creaking relic of horse-and-buggy days into a jet age operation.

Parcel of problems . . . Chicago post office swamped by packages.

But the machine has been installed in only one post office and some bugs still must be worked out. Jet age mail service remains a long way off. In fact, it's quite likely the United States will have a man on the moon before its postal system can guarantee one-day delivery of priority domestic mail

Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien, best known as an astute political strategist, is pressing a $100 million postal modernization program this fiscal year and is seeking $300 million in modernization funds for next fiscal year. He has said, however, that the Post Office needs $1 billion a year for five years to adequately update is facilities.

O'Brien also is expanding the department's research efforts. He has asked Congress for $23.1 million in research funds for next year, up 40% from last year but still only about half what the much smaller Veteran Administration spends for research.

But even as the Post Office searches for better ways to deliver the mail, it is, in the words of O'Brien, "in a race with catastrophe." Mail volume increasing by about 11 million pieces daily, now totals 80 billion pieces a year.

In the past, as it teetered on the brink of chaos, the department has tried to solve its problems with more money and more people. Employment now totals 700,000, and modernization plans call for no cutback. The annual budget tops $6.3 billion

But the service continues to run a deficit and is seeking an $800 million annual rate increase — the third rate hike in the past decade.

After 18 months as postmaster general, O'Brien has concluded it would be best to slay the postal elephant and start afresh with a nonprofit government corporation.

Under his plan, which includes a very unbureaucratic proposal that his own job be abolished, bonds would be sold to finance postal modernization. President Johnson appointed a commission to study the proposal.

O'Brien's corporate proposal got mixed reviews in Congress. This is understandable. Most congressmen are less than anxious to give up the political patronage system so embedded in postal operations.

Even as their boss talks of abandoning the present leaky ship, Post Office Dept. administrators, engineers and employes dream and scheme of better ways to deliver the mail, be it for Uncle Sam or for Post Office Inc.

Some of the ideas, if they ever are officially proposed, are certain to provoke grumbles from the public. Like the suggestion that door-to-door delivery of mail be terminated. Under this plan, everyone would pick up his mail at neighborhood distribution centers.

Some officials predict the post office of the future will serve merely as a communications relay center for image transmission of letter mail directly into homes and offices.

Detroit postmaster Edward L. Baker's post office, billed as the most mechanized postal facility in the world, serves as a proving ground for advanced equipment. The department's only operational zip code reader, for example, is there.

The zip code reader is hooked up to a sorter and sometimes is pressed into regular service. But most of the time it plows through stacks of test mail while technicians fret over its performance.

The device still has some flaws. It cannot, for example, read handwriting. But eight of every 10 letters are mailed by businesses, and most have typed or printed addresses

But for the machine to succeed, the zip code—those five cold numbers so symbolic of the automated age—must gain universal usage.

Mechanization could all go for naught unless dramatic changes are made in other postal operations.

Transportation ranks among the department's most preplexing problems. In some locals, century-old modes of transit work fine. Mail still is delivered by horseback on 38 routes in Kentucky, West Virginia and Montana. But the urban crush has become so great that helicopters are used in New York, Los Angeles and San Francisco to ferry mail from post offices to airports.

Postal operations in major urban areas have also been hampered by rapid turnover in personnel. Chicago must hire nearly 1,000 new employes a month to keep its work force up to par. Detroit's turnover rate has hit 25% a year.

One reason is salaries. Starting pay for postal clerks is $5,331 a year. It takes 21 years to reach the top of the scale, $7,263.

President Johnson has asked Congress to boost postal pay by 4.5% this year. But the postal unions, which carry weight on Capitol Hill, are clamoring for more.

The past few years have seen a startling upswing in the number of women postal employes. Of Detroit's 9,200 employes, 2,200 are women. This compares with 1,500 a year ago and 200 two years ago. Women hold more than half the postal jobs in Chicago.

Officials say they try to assign women to less arduous tasks. But a reporter watched hefty females working side-by-side with men, wrestling the bulky sacks on the Detroit post office docks.

"We have a real problem with supervision down here," one official said as he surveyed the cluttered dock area.

"Oh? A lot of loafing?"

Nebraska's Fourth Estate

Nebraska editorialists had a few things to say last week about the court challenge of the income tax portion of the sales-income tax bill, partisan Legislatures and what wasn't being done to encourage tourism

"Well at least it isn't a referendum," the Grand Island Independent said in reference to a challenge of the validity of the new method of income taxation.

They did point out, however, that "if the petition should go in favor of the plaintiffs, incidentally, you'd better look for about a 5% sales tax eventually."

Two different views concerning the action of the Legislature in turning down the assurance of a peoples' vote of whether they do or don't want a partisan Legislature came form the Lexington Clipper and the York Daily News-Times.

The York paper wrote that even if Sen. Richard Proud is able to get the issue on the ballot in 1968, "we can't believe the people will go for it." The reasoning, ". . . it seems to us that if many people really had wanted a partisan legislature, they could have gotten their message across to their respective legislators before the Unicameral voted out the bill relating to partisanship."

In the Clipper's opinion, ". . . we do have a clear feeling that the Legislature should have given the people an opportunity to be heard on the matter . . .Those who have been lukewarm on the idea in the past are starting to wonder just why it is that the legislators are to h . . .bent on keeping them from voting on the proposal . . ."

The Sidney Telegraph mentioned that "If Nebraska can't get our part of I-80 built before 1973-1975 we're going to be sitting out here for a long time in a no-man's land so far as the nation's tourists are concerned."

They suggested that "perhaps our influential Republican friends should call this to the attention of Gov. Tiemann, with appropriate suggestions for action."

PWP Chapter

Lincoln — Thank you for the splendid article about "Parents without Partners, Inc.," and mention of our local chapter in The Sunday Journal and Star, May 7

Program Beauty

Lincoln — I read with interest your editorial in The Sunday Journal and Star (May 7) concerning the highway beautification program

Your editorial represents thinking in depth and if the Bureau of Public Roads would approach this program with the same intelligent thinking the whole matter could be resolved to the satisfaction of all

The outdoor advertising industry has attempted to work with the Bureau of Public Roads in establishing reasonable standards, however, to date all efforts have been very unsuccessful in spite of many promises of new things to come.

We second your hope that Rep. Kluczynski and his committee will be able to straighten out this situation with reasonable and sensible standards.

State Hospital

Lincoln — The Lincoln State Hospital had a very successful Open House on April 30. I thank you for the help you gave us.

In 1966 those who came to the hospital were primarily families of employes, families of patients and families of volunteers. This year we noticed that a large percentage of the visitors had no official connection with the hospital, but were interested in seeing the facilities and knowing more about the work of the hospital.

Publicity from your newspaper article played a big part in alerting the public to the opportunities to visit the hospital

Anything Goes

For the past ten years, since the famous Roth case of 1957, the U.S. Supreme Court has been wobbling back and forth on smut. Most of the time, the court has appeared to support the proposition that just about anything goes; even "Fanny Hill" was not obscene. Other times, the court has tended to protect community sensibilities: Ralph Ginsburg was a dirty "panderer," and had to go to jail.

This past Monday the court looked wearily at this whole field of the law, and then turned its glance away. In a brief per curiam opinion, probably composed by Justice Brennan, the court brushed aside three cases with an air of "go away, boys, you bother me."

The effect, this time, was to suggest that prosecutors forget about obscenity charges unless they have a truly flagrant case, possibly involving juveniles, to bring into court.

The three cases came up from Arkansas, Kentucky and New York. Each of them originally was thought to embody some significant point of obscenity law. That was why the court agreed to hear them in the first place. In the Arkansas case, the question was whether the state could proceed "in rem" against a flock of girlie magazines, and have the magazines destroyed as obscene. The cases from Kentucky and New York were accepted because they involved the criminal liability of booksellers and newsstand clerks for the sale of off-color books.

But on Monday the high court was in one of its Olympian humors. The points of law that had been fully briefed and argued now seemed immaterial. It was enough that the particular magazines and books in question were not obscene as a matter of law. So he-hum, and the convictions were reversed. Harlan and Clark dissented, but their hearts weren't in it.

This was a disservice on the court's part. The questions presented in the three cases were serious questions, of large importance to local prosecutors and to those engaged in the retail sale of books and magazines. The concept of an "in rem" approach, in which the offending book itself is tried, rather than its author, publisher, or distributor, at one time commanded a considerable support within the bar. The Arkansas law of 1961 reflected this legal opinion. It would be useful to learn from the Supreme Court, as the ultimate authority, whether this approach has validity; it is the court's duty to instruct us.

Distributor's Position

But on Monday the court was out to lunch or gone fishing. It would not say.

Similarly, the operators of drug stores, newsstands, and bookshops would like to know where they stand. Seven years ago, in Smith v. California, the court laid down the legal rule that in obscenity prosecutions, an element of "scienter" had to be proved. That is, no one could be convicted of selling an obscene book unless it were shown that he sold it "knowingly."

In the New York case, a clerk at a subway newsstand sold a couple of books called "Lust Pool" and "Shame Agent." His customer was a plain-clothes cop. According to the evidence, the clerk acknowledged that the two paperbacks were "garbage," but remarked that "there is worse stuff than that around." The cop made his arrest; conviction followed.

Hints Tossed Out

In the Kentucky case, a Committee on Moral and Social Welfare from the Paducah Ministerial Assn. called on a local newstand operator and urged him not to sell such magazines as "High Heels" and "Spree." The distributor said he would think it over; meanwhile, he put the suspect publications in a rack behind the cashier's stand where they would have to be asked for by name. A couple of smut-hunting ladies came around, asked for the magazines, and bought them. The distributor was found guilty of knowingly selling obscene publications and fined $250.

In reversing the convictions, the high court tossed out some hints that will cause no gladness in the Legion of Decency offices. "In none of the cases," said the court, "was there a claim that the statute in question reflected a specific and limited state concern for juveniles. In none was there any suggestion of an assault upon individual privacy by publication in a manner so obtrusive as to make it impossible for an unwilling individual to avoid exposure to it."

Neither was there evidence of "pandering." In the New York and Kentucky cases, the customers did not have to be persuaded by sales appeals. They asked for the dirt on their own. The books and magazines in question may not have been utterly without redeeming social value, the Court's definition of obscenity in Roth. In its Delphic way, the court did not choose to discuss the issues.

This leaves the law as murky as ever. What is "obscene" as a matter of law? The answer, apparently, is durn near nothing. What conduct, in this field, is criminal? The answer is that we still don't know. And the court, for the nonce, won't talk.

Private Daily Look May Cut Midriff Bulge

Toronto (AP) — Two Canadian doctors, in a paper read at the annual meeting of the Ontario Medical Assn., contend that a daily private look at one's midriff bulge may help reduce it.

"It has been stated that the body image of obese patients, particularly adolescents, is distorted by their emotional attitude to it," said the report of Dr. Daniel Cappon of the University of Toronto psychology department and Dr. Robin Banks, psychologist at the University of Waterloo.

"We would go much further and hypothesize that people with eating problems cannot become very fat or very thin unless they deny to themselves the real size of their body—specifically its width and thickness.

"Conversely, in order to correct psychogenic obesity caused by the emotions a vital aspect of treatment is its reinforcement by increasing the accuracy of estimates of one's body size.

"To this end, the writer suggested some years ago that patients look at themselves daily for some minutes, naked, in front of full-length angled mirrors. Patients have followed this suggestion since then, with some success."

Destroyer Bumping Incidents Considered 'Closed'

Washington (AP) — The United States and Russia exchanged apparently final diplomatic charges Saturday over the destroyer bumpings in the Sea of Japan. The State Dept. then stamped the incident closed.

"We have made our position clear and consider the incident closed," a State Dept. spokesman said after Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson and Russia's deputy foreign minister, V. S. Semenov, traded protests at the Foreign Ministry in Moscow.

The American ambassador contended Soviet destroyers maneuvered dangerously in harassing the U.S. destroyer Walker during U.S.-Japanese navy exercises at mid-sea, causing two minor collisions last Wednesday and Thursday.

U.S. Accused

Semenov, rejecting the U.S. protest, accused the Americans of provocative and illegal maneuvers and demanded punishment of those responsible.

The Soviet news agency Tass, reporting on the note Semenov handed Thompson, said it accused the U.S. warships of a "premeditated, organized provocatory military demonstration" close to Soviet shores.

"The Soviet government strongly protests against these illegal and dangerous actions of U.S. warships and demands that the guilty should be punished and that the measures should be taken to make such provocational actions impossible in the future," the note said.

The State Department declined to make public the text of the U.S. note.

New Maneuvers

Meanwhile, the U.S. naval group involved in the May 10-11 episodes went right ahead with new maneuvers in the same area, U.S. officials said. They said the three destroyers and an aircraft carrier which had been on a joint antisubmarine exercise with the Japanese navy May 4-12 began a similar two-day maneuver with the Korean navy.

The Walker was scraped by one Soviet destroyer Wednesday. It bumped into another at slow speed Thursday. The Soviets have long shadowed closely and sometimes harassed Western naval maneuvers, but rarely has this resulted in physical collisions.

The State Dept. announced Thursday that severe protests were being lodged, plus demands that "the Soviet government take prompt steps to halt such harassment."

But on Friday the State Dept. sought to put the affair in low key. A spokesman said there was no evidence of deliberate Kremlin intent to worsen U.S.-Soviet relations or to tie the action to the Vietnam war.

Shakespearean Stars Marry

London (AP) — Barbara Jefford, one of Britain's leading Shakespearean actresses and "Molly Bloom" in the film "Ulysses," was married Saturday to John Turner, a Shakespearean actor. She is 36; he is 34. It was the second marriage for both. The ceremony took place at the Marylebone register office in London.

Summer Music Tuition Boost Draws Protests

The summer music program of the Lincoln public schools would be "virtually eliminated" by a tuition increase to $10, according to the president of the Lincoln Symphony.

"And I don't like it," declared Lincoln industrialist Leo Hill. "This could seriously affect the future of the Lincoln Symphony. It is ridiculous to force these kids out of the program."

The Board of Education last month voted to raise the tuition for the program from $5 to $10. At one time the program was tuition-free and only in the past few years was raised from $3 to $5.

"Our vocal program would be reduced tremendously," observed vocal music coordinator Hugh Rangeler. "Right now I don't see how we are going to handle it.

"Our surveys indicate enough interest at the fifth-and-sixth grade level to hire one teacher for the whole city But the kids won't come from all over town to one location"

In recent years the program has been offered at all three high schools

At one junior high school, Rangeler said, only three pupils returned slips saying they would be interested in the program at the new tuition rate. But 58 said they were interested if the tuition were still $5.

Instrumental music coordinator Eugene Stoll said he had received 50 registrations city-wide so far, compared to 500 at this time a year ago.

The decree from the Board, he said, was that the program was to be self-supporting, but it would take at least 250 students each in vocal and instrumental music to achieve that goal. The registration so far, he noted, would appear to make it impossible to get that many students.

A program like the one of the past, Stoll said, would cost the district about $2,000. If there were no tuition charge, the number of students would be greatly increased and would cost the district somewhere near $7,500—about the annual salary of one teacher.

The program offers students concentrated instruction for six weeks, giving them the equivalent of what they would get in a full school year.

The summer program, Stoll noted, is an integral and important part of the total music program that won the school system last year's Pacemaker Award, sponsored by the National Education Assn. and the Sunday Journal and Star magazine supplement, Parade.

Edward Copple, slated to become board president next Monday, observed that "If this is the situation, the Board will certainly take another look at it."

Rangeler said scheduling timetables would make it difficult if not impossible, to make a change in the program, even if the tuition rate were rolled back, unless the action were taken within the next two or three weeks

Denney Eyes Bill Asking Monthly Budget Figures

Washington — Rep. Robert V. Denney, R-Neb., has asked for passage of a bill requiring the director of the Bureau of the Budget to submit to Congress monthly estimates concerning national income and expenditures.

These would include an estimate of anticipated revenues and expenditures of the federal government for the balance of the current fiscal year.

In addition, Denney said he intends to introduce a resolution which would give taxpayers an idea as to what amount the government must put out or the level of finance in the treasury at any point during the legislative year.

"It is my thought," Denney said, "that to vote intelligently on publicly financed proposals, a congressman should know how much income can be expected to come in and how much has been spent to date."

Addictive Drug Use 'Uncool'

LSD, Pot Used At Berkeley

"Taking addictive drugs is considered "uncool" at the University of California," the special assistant to the chancellor at Berkeley told a University of Nebraska convocation.

"But," added Dr. John Searle. "LSD and pot (marijuana) are very much a part of the life of the 'hippy,' a beatnik type non-student—either a drop-out or one who intended to register but never quite got around to it

Dr. Searle

Most actual students, he said may have experimented with hallucinogenic drugs but do not use them regularly

A broad look at the subject of academic freedom according to Searle indicates that student rights must be tempered by the special needs of the specialized institution.

Searle statements:

"It's only in a culture where there is no fear of not having a pair of shoes that you find people running around barefoot"

"When and if the war ends, we will have a big decline in radicals"

"I don't think a university should be run by a vote of the students. Students should be heard but decisions should be made by people who are professionally qualified to make them."

Ticket Honored

Farmington, N.M. (AP) —Mayor Floyd Davis says Farmington failed to live up to its obligation when Mrs. Frank Macaluso Sr. was fined for going 18 miles an hour in a 15 mph zone He said Mrs. Macaluso had been given a courtesy ticket by a welcoming hostess that allowed her to commit one traffic violation without a fine And Davis said recently it should have been honored even if it had been given 16 years before.

April Weather Picture Shows Much Diversity

Changeable weather, a moisture deficiency in most sections, and temperatures that average from one to four degrees above normal made up the Nebraska weather picture for April, the U.S. Weather Bureau noted in a report.

Unseasonably warm weather during the first 20 days of the month was broken by a late season snow that spread across the state on Apr. 22-23.

Freezing temperatures followed the snow, with readings ranging from the teens in the west to 20 to 30 degrees in the east. A return of warm weather, with a high reading of 94 at Beaver City on the 30th, occurred from Apr. 28-30.

Precipitation fell in the forms of rain, snow, sleet and hail. Only the Panhandle and southeast received normal amounts for April. The moisture deficit that had persisted through the winter (September-March) continued elsewhere in the state

Re-Examination Plan for Drivers Costly Project

The Nebraska Tax Research Council has estimated the driver re-examination program pending before the Legislature will cost $200,000 a year to administer.

The figure was contained in the council's weekly legislative report. The money would come from state and federal funds.

Lawmakers advanced the re-examination bill from general file, first Unicameral floor stage, earlier this week. It will come up for final passage later this month.

Under the bill (LB798), drivers will be re-examined every four years beginning in 1968. It also eliminates the present minor's license and the eight-point, one-year penalty system which covers drivers from 16 through 20.

Sponsored by Sen. Claire W Holmquist of Oakland, the measure is designed to meet new federal traffic safety standards

Nebraska must enact a driver re-examination law before next year or face possible loss of 10% of its federal highway construction funds

Air View Given To Ag Students

Some 40 University of Nebraska agricultural students got a "bird's-eye view" of their classwork this week and they all "aired" approval of the situation.

The students, studying irrigation and water conservation practices as part of a farm management course, were treated to an airplane tour of the Salt-Wahoo Watershed area.

Through the cooperation of the Nebraska Aeronautics Dept. and Ray Kubie of the Soil Conservation Service, the students were taken on 45-minute plane rides, covering watershed areas south and west of Lincoln.

THE SALVATION ARMY

NEW Men's Social Service Center

We invite the public to share our happiness in the opening of our beautiful new Lincoln quarters. We are especially anxious for you to know of the marvelous facility that is now available for our service in Lincoln. We believe it's an experience you'll not want to miss.

Our objective is the rehabilitation of homeless or unattached men . . . mentally, morally, physically, socially and spiritually. Most applicants are referred from the following sources: sick alcoholic, broken homes, social agencies, churches, the courts, medical profession.

At the Center a man works, obtains spiritual and personal counsel—and enjoys healthful recreation—to become a whole man again. Each man is encouraged to seek outside employment in his chosen field, when he is deemed "ready" by the Center's counseling staff.

The unusual success of our program is due to the Army's conviction that a man can be completely rehabilitated if his problem is treated in a sympathetic, firm and understanding manner — depending ultimately in the faith and power of God.

A REMINDER

Your donations of restorable discards are acceptable and welcome. Just call 432-4491 for free pickup The material is brought to the Center where it is processed and, if necessary, the items are reconditioned for resale in our greatly enlarged Red Shield Store at 737 P St. or those at 834 No. 27th and 6232 Havelock Ave Here they are sold at attractive prices to meet the need of the low income family. The income is used to maintain the Center.

'A Visitor for Every Resident' Is Mother's Day Goal of Care Homes

By BESS JENKINS

Lincoln like almost every other community across the land faces a new but rewarding task today

The city and its citizens are asked to make certain that every resident in a nursing or care home has a visitor sometime during the day

Rare Pleasure

Too many here and elsewhere in homes don't have this pleasure often

For some a drouth of weeks months or even years without seeing a familiar face happens because medical science has helped their outlive families and friends

But for many more it is simply a matter of being brought to the home then ignored by families too busy or too far away to come see the aged ones

This is not peculiar to residents in the more modest personal care and nursing care homes but prevails up and down the cost ladders according to a consensus of workers with the aged

A staff member in one of the city's more expensive homes has a resident in mind who won't be visited by her son or daughter on this Mother's Day if experiences of the past year or two prevail

A Little Effort

Since one lives in the east and the other west it would take a little effort to visit this mother but nothing would make her happier if they walked in here some day the worker said

We can give her everything she needs but this one visit

The American Nursing Home Assn which launched this visitor for every resident project couldn't have picked a better week for it than this one starting out with Mother's Day

Nor should masculine residents mind too much if they owe their Sunday visitors to the weaker sex The ANA reminds the public that women patients outnumber men by almost two to one in today's nursing home population of nearly half a million

Staffs of Lincoln homes have not sat back letting the public carry full responsibility for today's resident visitor movement

Special Events

Homes like non profit Madonna and privately operated Homestead for example, will have special events

Madonna's begins at noon with a picnic for residents and their guests followed by a public program at 2 p m

At that time outgoing Mayor Dean Petersen and Mayor-elect Sam Schwartzkopf will pay tribute to Lincoln's oldsters and their place in the community

Homestead will host a public Mother's Day tea and open house at 3 p m today initiating a series of public happenings this week a barber shop chorus at 6 45 p m Monday a quilt making session at 2 30 p m Tuesday a Lincoln Southeast High girls octet feature at 3 30 p m Thursday and a games day party at 2 30 p m Friday

Open House Preview

Tabitha Home's salute to senior citizens and an open house last Sunday previewed this week's activities

Most other homes in the community agree with Director Jerry Milder who said Milder Manor won't have a special open house today He explains

We say here that every day is open house and encourage company at any hour It's the best kind of therapy to get our patients on their feet and keep them there '

TLC (tender loving care) comes in big daily doses to nursing home patients such as Dr F W (Pops) Teal, 92 who must spend more time in bed than out His admiring friend is Mrs Cyril Bish of Milder Manor's nursing staff

This is the basic aim of today's nursing and care home if it is doing a good job

Wonders of modern medicine have made it possible for many patients to continue to enjoy a fuller life as diseases of old age are controlled and modified even if it still is not known how to eliminate them

Some homes including a number in Nebraska are still labeled by health studies as "places where people go and must die to free the bed '

But it's the rule today rather than the exception for most homes to provide activities and extensive physical rehabilitative services as a few of the tools making the process of aging take on brighter meaning

Lincoln Has 903 Beds In 26 Homes for Aged

There are 26 homes for the aged and infirm in Lincoln two with half providing skilled nurse home services and the other personal care help

This represents a total of beds although many do not conform to standards in the opinion of state health officials

Only 235 beds are personal care type the remainder in nursing care homes

All but four of the 26 facilities are proprietary The non profit homes are Madonna Tabitha and nursing care units at Gateway Manor and Clark Seary Home

The largest home is Homestead the smallest Gateway Manor's infirmary

Lancaster County's 40 bed unit is not licensed as a skilled nursing home but a convalescent hospital

There is a wide range in rates from the minimum $120 paid by county welfare for a personal care resident to as much as $550 top in Homestead's $250 $550 range

County welfare has 300 citizens either in personal or nursing care homes but not all in Lincoln They use 46 different facilities throughout the state

Welfare's maximum rate for personal care is $180 a month It can pay from $180 to $250 for skilled home care services

Average monthly rate paid by welfare is $160 based on the 300 under their care

Game Unit Denies Charge of Single Low Land Offer

State Game Commission spokesmen Saturday night said it's not true the state agency made a single $30 per acre offer for a disputed Richardson County tract — one which would be part of Indian Caves State Park.

Moreover, the commission has documentary evidence to back up its position, a staff member says.

Elmer Duerfeldt, rural Falls City farmer, last week asserted the Game Commission's "one and only offer" for the property was $30 per acre for some 900 wooded acres and $240 to $400 for approximately 100 acres of bottomland.

Frank Foote, aid to Director Mel O. Steen, Saturday said an offer was made in writing to Duerfeldt's attorney last year involving specific proposals on 13 separate tracts covering 1,081½ acres.

Offered Prices

Of the total land, 923 acres were classified as hilly timberland, some with rough pasture.

"Mr. Duerfeldt was offered $40 per acre for one 125-acre timberland tract," Foote said, "and $50 per acre for the remainder."

Another 126 acres listed as bottomland of various classes drew Game Commission purchase offers ranging from $100 to $400 per acre, according to Foote.

And there were offers from $100 to $200 per acre for 32½ acres of cropland of different types.

All told, Foote asserted, the Game Commission proposed to pay Duerfeldt $73,454 for all of his land to be included in the proposed park.

The Commission spokesman said this can be documented in a letter dated July 5, 1966, from John McKnight of Auburn, the state agency's attorney in the transaction, to C. Russell Mattson of Lincoln, Duerfeldt's counsel at the time.

Long-Time Feud

Duerfeldt and the Game Commission have been feuding for several years over the land — Duerfeldt wanting to keep it and the commission seeking its control for park development purposes.

Two years ago the Legislature authorized the Game Commission to obtain the real estate by condemnation, if necessary.

But when eminent domain action was commenced, Duerfeldt initiated a lawsuit, winning an injunction. The landowner claims the condemnation statute is unconstitutional.

On May 25, Duerfeldt is to appear in Richardson County District Court to answer to a Game Commission petition.

The state agency wants him permanently enjoined from disturbing mineral rights on the property, half of which the commission now owns.

At a press conference 10 days back, the commission supplied photographs showing the regionally famed Indian Cave on the Duerfeldt land had been bulldozed full of dirt. Steen called the development a "despoilation."

But Duerfeldt described it as part of preparatory site work for commercial enterprises he has planned for the property.

Mid-State Cost Rises While House Hesitates

By Marguerite Davis UPI

Washington — The estimated cost of Nebraska s long-sought Mid State Reclamation Project has risen by almost $22 million in the last four years, to a total of $106 135 000 according to the Reclamation Bureau

The bureau, in a report filed with the congressional interior committees, blamed most of the highest estimates on a rapid increase in construction and right-of-way costs Another factor was the building of Interstate Highway 80 through the Mid-State area, necessitating expensive canal and floodway crossings

As the cost increased the benefit cost ratio dropped from $1 57 in benefits for each $1 of the cost calculated in 1963 to $1 25 for $1 How ever the ratio remains above the $1 for $1 usually required of such projects and the bureau described the benefits to arise from flood control, fish and wildlife and recreation aspects of the development as important "

The bureau calculates the annual benefits at $4 543 000 from irrigation $518 500 from flood control $425 000 from fish and wildlife and $175 500 from recreation

The plan for the project remains the same as proposed in 1958 for the 550 000-acre area in three south-central counties of the Platte River Valley

The lands to be benefited cover a width of 10 20 miles from a point east of Lexington to the vicinity of Elm Creek, Neb About 363 000 acres have been designated as irrigable

The proposed works along the north side of the Platte would in addition to other purposes stabilize ground water supplies which Mid-State proponents say have been lowered to disastrous levels by the more than 5 200 irrigation wells in the area

The plan includes

—A diversion dam on the Platte seven mil s east of Lexington

—A main canal and floodway to carry water from the dam to the reservoir system and to intercept floodwaters of Buffalo and Stevens Creeks to the Platte

—A system of 23 interconnected ravine reservoirs

—Four potential hydroelectric plants, although only one — the Prairie Creek—would be built initially and operated primarily to furnish irrigation pumping power

The Senate several times has approved authorizing legislation but never the House A House interior subcommittee is scheduled to hold hearings on the project May 16 and congressional backers are hopeful of a favorable report

Sunday Journal and Star's Annual Contest

Four Prizes Await Amateur Artists of Photography

Four $35 prizes — a total of $140 — wait for the winners of this summer event for amateur camera fans.

You don't have to be a veteran photographer to enter. All it takes is a camera, film and imagination.

There is a prize for each of four divisions:

In Color: people and activities.

You may enter as many pictures as you want according to the rules (above). The entry deadline is Tuesday, July 18. Pictures must be received by that date or, if mailed, postmarked no later than midnight July 18.

There is plenty of time to get in the contest, but early birds have one advantage. Some of the earliest entries will be published in The Sunday Journal and Star prior to the deadline.

All four division winners will be published after the contest closes.

It doesn't take expensive photo equipment or years of experience to win this contest, which is strictly for amateurs. In past years some of the prizes have gone to people who aren't even avid photo hobbyists and who have used inexpensive cameras.

To be eligible for the contest, photos must have been taken since July 1, 1966. That means you can scan your photo album for recent pictures as well as taking new ones.

Sunday Journal and Star Photo Contest Rules

Only amateur photographers are eligible. Any number of entries may be submitted.

Entries are limited to pictures taken after July 1, 1966. Each entry must be accompanied by the name and address of the photographer. A snapshot of the photographer should accompany each contestant's first entry; there is no limit on the number of entries.

A cash prize of $35 will go to the amateur photographer who submits the picture judged best in each of four categories, two in color and two in black and white. The four winning pictures will be published in the Sunday Journal and Star. Decision of the judges is final.

Entry deadline is July 18. Entries must be postmarked no later than midnight on July 18, if mailed. Entries should be mailed to:

The Sunday Journal and Star
Box 588
Lincoln, Nebraska 68501

Contestants are urged to submit entries early. Entries will be eligible for publication in The Sunday Journal and Star prior to the deadline, and these published entries will still be eligible for prize money.

Black and White

Black and white prints must be five by seven inches or larger. No black and white prints will be returned, and such entries become the property of The Sunday Journal and Star.

There are two divisions in the black and white contest, each with a $35 prize. The two divisions are:

Scenes and Still Life—Any scenes, landscapes, flower or fruit groupings or other stills, or pattern pictures.

People and Activities—Any pictures of children and/or adults, either portraits or action, or depicting activities. Animals may be included.

Color

Color prints and slides or transparencies of any size will be accepted, and every effort will be made to return color entries if contestants provide return postage and a self-addressed envelope. However, return cannot be guaranteed.

There are two divisions in the color contest, each with a $35 prize. The two divisions are:

Scenes and Still Life—Any scenes, landscapes, flower or fruit groupings or other stills, or pattern pictures.

People and Activities Any pictures of children and/or adults, either portraits or action, or depicting activities. Animals may be included.

Costly Bullet

One Mother's Best Present

A Mother's Day present came a little early for Mrs. Eifel Anstine, 2136 Holdrege, and she said she considers it the best any mother could get. She received a phone call from her son, Air Force Maj. Gale B. Anstine, to say that he is to be assigned to the Pentagon in Washington after completing his 100th combat bombing mission over North Vietnam. Maj. Anstine, a 1954 graduate of the University of Nebraska, has been based in Thailand since October, 1966.

Harder Work at NU . . . May Earn Pay Hike

By DICK HERMAN

University of Nebraska faculty members likely will be accorded pay raises under 1967-69 appropriation recommendations due to come from the Legislature's Budget Committee soon.

But NU teachers may be required to work harder for that salary gain.

Reports from a number of reliable sources indicate a Budget Committee majority has agreed to allocate teaching staff for the University on an average workload basis of at least 530 student credit hours for each full-time equivalent faculty member.

The 530 figure compares to a 500 student credit hour workload used by the 1963 and 1965 Legislatures in authorizing new teachers at the University.

It also contrasts, rather sharply, with the 479 hour average Regents requested for the new biennium and even is greater than workload averages established during the present academic year — about 520-25 student credit hours.

Would Cut Hiring

If the Legislature endorses the reported majority Budget Committee recommendation, NU could not hire as many new professors and other academic staff as were asked.

Then, if the University's enrolment in the next two years equals current projections, the result could be heavier teaching assignments for individual faculty members. One way of boosting workloads is to increase class sizes.

None of the reported Budget Committee decisions could be confirmed with individual committee members. As is the tradition, they aren't talking.

Chairman Richard D. Marvel said the omnibus appropriation bill, containing dollar figures for NU, may be available late this week. The document is in the bill drafter's hands now.

Marvel also hinted he's irritated over what appears to him to be a greater number of "leaks" of committee recommendations than in past years.

Statement Noted

Senators noted a statement made by NU Chancellor Clifford Hardin May 5 at the 10th annual Nebraska Bar Assn.-sponsored Law Day luncheon.

On that occasion, the chancellor said he feared the Budget Committee had made heavy cuts in requests for additional teaching staff.

"If this proves to be the case, we hope the Legislature and the governor will restore to us a sum more in line with our requests," Dr. Hardin said.

The University asked a general fund subsidy for operating purposes of $67,192,693. This included cash for 262 additional faculty members or their equivalent, based on an average faculty production of 479 student credit hours.

Gov. Norbert Tiemann approved a $52,254,886 subsidy and 213 extra full-time equivalent teachers working an average of 500 credit hours over two semesters.

Pay Boost Okayed

The governor also okayed an average pay boost of 9% annually

If the faculty workload is increased at NU — while national data shows it declining in most other large state universities — teachers may have to shoulder some of the responsibility.

During the winter Budget Committee members made unprecedented visits with dozens of NU faculty people, putting a variety of questions.

Near-Record J-J Crowd Cheers Nebraska Demos

Nebraska Democrats Saturday night nostalgically celebrated past triumphs and looked down the long road to possible future election victories.

The occasion was the annual $35 per plate Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner. More than 1,000 persons were drawn to Lincoln's Pershing Auditorium, a J-J crowd second only to last year's record-breaker at Omaha.

At that time, too, Democrats controlled the state's top executive office, had representation in Washington and nourished hopes of making even greater gains at election time.

But today, Democrats are completely shut out in Washington. They have only one man in a state elective post — Omaha Railway Commissioner James Munnelly. And not until 1970 will they get another crack at state offices or a U.S. Senate opening.

This, then, being "lean years," party officials were cheered by the strong 1967 J-J Dinner response. It was one which also put the party more firmly in the financial black.

Blunt Speaking

It was also a time of blunt speaking about national party weakness by Minnesota Sen. Walter F. Mondale.

Mondale

The senatorial successor of Vice President Hubert Humphrey said the "great issue of the 90th Congress is whether the renewed strength of the Republican-Southern Democratic coalition arising from the 1966 election will bring to a halt social reform put on the books by the 89th Congress.

Taking up a phrase used by former President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Mondale termed the coalition an "unholy alliance." It is one which "has already demonstrated its desire to bloc or hamper progress."

The Minnesotan cited a number of Johnson administration programs imperiled by the GOP-Southern Democrat axis, including rural electrification, supplemental financing and aid to cities and schools.

"Worse than this, the re-establishment of this 'negative alliance' has poisoned the atmosphere of creating thinking existing in the 89th Congress."

Vietnam Frustrating

At the press conference earlier Saturday, the junior Minnesota senator said the basic Democratic difficulty nationally is "frustration" over the Vietnam war. Yet Mondale submitted Republican critics offer no "viable alternative."

He classified as "an outrageous suggestion" the recent labeling of Democratic Sens. Robert F. Kennedy and William Fulbright as "pink doves" by Nebraska Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann.

"That implies disloyalty," Mondale asserted. "They (Kennedy and Fulbright) are fine Americans who are deeply troubled by the war and are expressing themselves."

As for himself, Mondale supports President Johnson's handling of Vietnam affairs.

'Bloc Will Erode'

Mondale said the Republican-Southern Democratic bloc will eventually erode when Dixie political parties begin to divide along economic lines—conservatives in the Republican camp and liberals going to Democrats.

Nebraska's Centennial and the Democratic party's role in 100 years of history was the J-J dinner theme.

Campaign signs boosting J. Sterling Morton, Algernon Paddock, William Jennings Bryan, Keith Neville, Gilbert M. Hitchcock, Robert Cochran, Frank B. Morrison and Philip G. Sorensen, among others, for various state and national offices, covered the backdrop wall.

There was also a narrative of the party's Nebraska past.

Save for brief periods, Democrats always have been the state's minority party over the past century. Democrats have elected 10 governors, four U.S. Senators and 30 Representatives to the House.

Tiemann Pledges Push For Education Aid Bill

Gov. Norbert Tiemann says he is "going to push as hard as we can for passage" of Sen. Jerome Warner's state aid to education bill "in its present form."

So saying, Tiemann revealed his awareness of a growing split within the Legislature over the question of how state financial aid to public school districts should be distributed

Before that time a mighty tug of war for votes will take place, almost entirely out of public sight.

On one side is LB448 and the concept state aid to education should be applied so all students, regardless of where they live, will have some financial guarantee of quality education.

Census Formula

Opposed to this view is a growing coalition seeking to use a straight census formula for supplying public school districts with state-collected sales and income tax dollars

The census approach is one where all boys and girls in a school district, ages five to 20, are counted whether they are in a public school, a parochial school or any school at all.

Tiemann says the census-only approach is unacceptable.

"It creates an imbalance in the distribution of funds," according to the governor. "Some districts would get more money than they may need and some would get less than they need."

Tiemann finds it unfortunate the census distribution approach brings up the religious issue and rekindles old divisions. (In the past, much of the backing for use of census as an allocation formula has come from areas with large parochial school enrolments.)

'Vote Settled It'

But, the governor observed, "we are a public school state. The vote on the bus amendment last fall settled that."

Omaha Sen. George Syas last week disclosed something of an ultimatum had been delivered to the 12 member Douglas County delegation by senators favoring the census distribution approach.

To Omaha educators Syas identified the group as including Sens. Terry Carpenter, George Gerdes, Ramey Whitney, Richard Ely, Arnold Ruhnke and Glenn Viehmeyer

The political problem inherent in LB448, it was explained, is that within legislative districts, neighboring school districts will get unequal amounts of state aid.

That's to compensate for the unequal placement of taxable property valuation in the districts, based on student enrolment

That's also the precise heart of a state aid system, according to Warner. "It equalizes educational opportunities for students prevented by an unequal ability to pay local property taxes," he said.

Inequalities

Most Nebraskans are acquainted with situations where the mill levy in one district might be 15 to 20 mills while just across the road, in another school district, the property tax rate is 45 to 55 mills

This discrepancy in school taxation is one reason new industries frequently have been positioned in rural (and low tax) school districts, just outside the borders of cities and city (high tax) school districts.

The varied state aid payments envisioned through LB448 gives senators some home district political worries. As Syas outlined the situation: "If we go census, everybody's safe . . . This formula (in LB448) is not going to go, I'll tell you that."

Syas also touched upon the factor of districts with heavy non-public school populations.

LB448, while complicated far beyond the likes of lawmakers desiring simple formulae, is essentially composed of two parts.

The first grants "foundation" aid to all districts — an equal amount for pupils attending public schools only. This is the small dollar end of the proposal

Minimums

The second, more controversial and more costly feature is "equalization" aid. It would require all comparable districts to have minimum property tax levies. Equalization aid then would provide the difference between what the local taxes raise and sums the bill spells out as minimum per pupil allocations for basic educational programs.

Where taxable valuation per student in a district is high, the minimum levies would not give districts much equalization money.

New Turnpike Bill Offered

Called Solution To Road Problem

By Associated Press

A state senator proposed Saturday that the Legislature re-enact a Turnpike Authority law as a partial solution to Nebraska's growing highway problems.

Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr. of Omaha said the law, repealed in 1955, would provide Nebraska with another alternative for financing major highway construction projects.

Under the proposal, the Turnpike Authority would issue bonds to construct highways, and the bonds would be retired with revenue collected through tolls on the bond-financed highways.

Sen. Pedersen said he can see the possibility of building turnpikes between Omaha and the Fremont-Columbus-Norfolk area or along U.S. Highways 81 and 77, which run north-south

He said the Turnpike Authority could build new highways or improve present routes.

He said the turnpike law was repealed because of the advent of the interstate highway program, but it now appears that there will be no significant expansion of the interstate system beyond present plans.

"If we're going to have any more major freeways, it looks like we'll have to finance them on our own," he said.

The lawmaker reported that the enabling bill has been submitted to the Legislature's Reference Committee, which will refer the measure to a standing committee for possible introduction.

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann has recommended that no major highway legislation, including his own revenue bond proposal, be considered at the current legislative session.

Under Tiemann's bond plan, a state highway authority would issue the bonds, which would be retired with revenue from the state gas tax.

36 Cars Pelleted By Vandals; Total Damage Is $2,819

Lincoln police reported Saturday night they had made no arrests in connection with the early Saturday automobile vandalisms in east Lincoln.

Police received 36 reports of vandalisms to automobile windows caused by a BB or pellet gun. They theorized the offenders were juveniles. Total damage was estimated at $2819.97.

Most of the damage occurred on Kearney St. between 66th and 73rd, and on Logan St. between 63rd and 70th. Police said the vandalism was limited to cars on the right side of the street.

The Dean Brothers used car lot at 48th and Vine was also one of the vandals' targets. An undetermined number of cars had side and rear windows broken

Ex-Lincoln Man Dies in Accident

A former Lincoln resident for five years, Air Force S.Sgt. Adam Solick, 54, who was stationed at Dow Air Force Base, Me., was killed early Friday near Springfield, Mass.

State police said that Sgt. Solick was killed after being thrown from his vehicle when it struck a bridge abutment

Survivors include his wife, Leota, of Lincoln; three sons, Bob of Lincoln, William of Kirkwood, Mo., and Jacque of Eureka, Calif., and two daughters, Margaret and Patricia, both of Lincoln.

Israeli Birthday

Jerusalem (UPI) — Israeli President Zalman Shazar said Saturday he has received a message from President Johnson congratulating him and the people of his country on the 19th anniversary of Israel's independence.

United Commercial Travelers Pick New Officers at Meeting

Grand Island (AP) — The United Commercial Travelers of Nebraska were in the final sessions of their 70th annual convention Saturday after electing officers.

Byron Mott of Hastings was named grand counselor of the organization, which is devoted primarily to salesmen, succeeding Cletus Brooks of McCook. Elmer Micke of Nebraska City was named grand junior counselor; Howard Leeper of Kearney, grand conductor; Gerald Wicks of Hastings, grand sentinel; and Robert Williams of Hastings, grand page.

Lewis J. Mason of Fairbury was re-elected grand secretary and W. E. Tell of Scottsbluff was given another term as grand treasurer.

Mother's Day Event Off; Church 'Mess'

Grafton, W.Va. (AP) — Mother's Day, for the first time since anyone can recall here, won't be celebrated in any special way Sunday because the church where Mother's Day originated is a mess

The traditional observance has not been forgotten, but it has had to step aside for urban renewal.

Demo Push for Partisan Legislature Off for Time

For the time being, the official position of Nebraska's Democratic Party is that it favors re-establishment of a partisan legislature, but will not actively participate in an initiative petition drive to bring such a legislature's return.

By a 36-21 count, a resolution pledging party involvement in a petition drive putting the partisan legislature question on the 1968 constitutional amendments ballot failed Saturday.

The vote was taken at a meeting of the Democratic State Central Committee, held in advance of the party's annual major fund-raising event, the Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner.

After the "participation" resolution failed, an earlier statement offered by William Hoppner of Pender basically endorsing the partisan legislature concept carried 42-15.

Open to the press, the Democratic session was enlivened by challenges of 21 proxy votes cast in a bloc against joining Republicans in a petition enterprise.

The proxy votes were cast by National Committeewoman Maurine Biegert of Shickley. They originally were given to State Chairman John Mitchell, who in turn turned them over to Mrs. Biegert. Mitchell was absent Saturday, being a national government representative at an Iranian political meeting.

Without the proxies, the vote for the initiative petition drive stood at 21-15 in favor.

Prospects for a partisan legislature amendment initiative petition campaign bloomed after the 1967 Unicameral defeated the proposition.

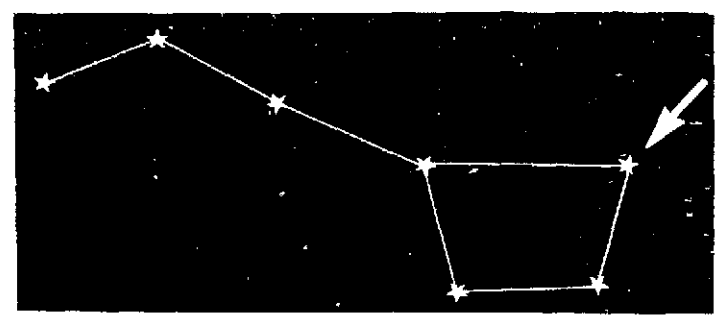
Nebraska's Republican Party has not officially taken a stand. However it is expected to be in the forefront of a petition effort, should one finally materialize

Former Gov. Frank B. Morrison said "nobody has convinced me up to now how a partisan legislature will solve one single problem" in the state.

Lancaster County Chairman Norman Krivosha defined the issue as whether "a political party can have greater effect through a partisan or non-partisan legislature." Krivosha favors a legislature whose members clearly wear party labels.

Earlier Saturday, Vice Chairman J. James Exon of Lincoln disclosed he has appealed to GOP Gov. Norbert Tiemann and the non-partisan Legislature to revamp the state's three congressional districts to reduce population disparity

Exon said if no action is taken a lawsuit probably would be filed to force redistricting in advance of the 1968 elections. Neither Tiemann nor Speaker of the Legislature Elvin Adamson are favorably inclined toward reapportioning congressional districts before the 1970 census.



Big Dipper Contributes Bright 'Centennial Star'

A Centennial star is born

Members of Lincoln's Prairie Astronomy Club conducted a recent study of Alpha Ursa Major, the upper right star in the dipper part of the Big Dipper, and discovered that it is 100 light years from Earth

It was determined that the light which left the star one century ago is just now reaching Nebraska and light which left here in 1867 is now reaching the star.

Considering that light travels at the speed of 670 million miles per hour and the star is 100 light years away, the distance between here and Alpha Ursa Major is 600,000 billion miles.

Earl Moser, president of the Prairie Astronomers, said there are several stars about this distance from the earth. However few of these can be seen with the naked eye and of these Alpha Ursa Major is the only one that remains above the Nebraska horizon all the time.

Aid to Handicapped Honor for Lincoln

Selection of Lincoln as one of seven cities in the U.S. most active in eliminating architectural barriers to the handicapped has been announced by the National League of Cities.

Mayor Dean Petersen was notified of this community honor in a letter from the league's urban studies department.

The urban group is undertaking an architectural barrier study for the vocational rehabilitation division of U.S. Health, Education and Welfare.

Part of this will be a one or two week research visit to each winning city, with Madeline Baker and Ed Young of the league scheduled to arrive here Tuesday.

They will miss by one day the special presentation to Mrs. Del Tyrrell of an architectural barrier survey recently completed by the Mayor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped. The presentation is set for 10 a.m. Monday at the City Council meeting.

Mrs. Tyrrell's late husband was the City Council representative on the handicapped committee and active in promoting the architectural barrier survey.

Lincoln's selection by the National League of Cities was based upon three factors, according to the urban studies department:

Positive action by the city building inspector's office to insure compliance with architectural barrier legislation.

Other cities selected were Hollywood, Fla.; Albuquerque, N.M.; Fresno, Calif.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Rochester, N.Y.; and St. Paul, Minn.

Liapis . . . Yemen captive

Former Lincolnite Is Prisoner

Yemen to Try 2 Americans

A former Lincoln resident is one of two American foreign aid officials held captive by the Yemen government who will be put on trial by that country

He is Steve Liapis, 34, who was head bookkeeper for the R. L. White Co. and Baker Hardware, 824 O, in 1960-61.

The Yemeni government, which is controlled by the United Arab Republic, seized about $1 million worth of property belonging to the United States government last month after expelling the U.S. aid mission and arresting the two men for allegedly trying to blow up the city of Taiz.

Charged With Attack

Liapis and Harold Hartman of Baltimore, both Agency for International Development officials, were arrested 13 days ago and charged with launching a bazooka attack on an ammunition dump.

At their upcoming trial, they are to be charged with participating in a U.S.-backed conspiracy to assassinate leaders and create chaos.

In Lincoln, Dick White, president of the two companies Liapis worked for, poohpoohed the charges. He said Liapis, while in his employ, demonstrated unstanding and outstanding qualities.

Wanted 2 Things

In 1961 the two things Liapis wanted most. White said, were his United States citizenship and to eventually settle in Lincoln.

Liapis left Lincoln in 1961, but returned three years ago to receive his final citizenship papers. White vouched for Liapis before U.S. District Court Judge Robert Van Pelt.

White said Liapis is of Greek origin and was educated at St. Mark's College in Alexandria, Egypt.

"He had a thorough and excellent background in accounting," White said.

Called Sen. Curtis

White said he telephoned Nebraska Sen. Carl T. Curtis' office about Liapis and was told that a U.S. State Dept. official was remaining with Liapis at all times including staying at the jail in Taiz where Liapis and Hartman are being held

Sen. Curtis' office said the two are comfortable.

One of Liapis' children was born while he lived in Lincoln and another was born in Yemen. White said Liapis' wife is from Grand Forks, N.D. White said she had been living in Yemen but that he did not know whether she left the country or is still there.

Private Service Monday for Max L. Main

Private graveside services will be held Monday for Max L. Main, 81, 1425 No. 65th, who died Saturday.

An employe of the Internal Revenue Service 30 years, he served as field deputy until 1943, when he became chief of the Lincoln Division. He retired in 1948.

Born in Rockford, Ill., Mr Main was a Lincoln resident 78 years and was a 59-year member of East Lincoln Lodge 210, AF & AM

His survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Maxine Meisenback and Mrs Marilynn Schroetlin, both of Lincoln; a brother, E. P. (Al), of Elmwood, and three grandchildren.

Dirksen, Hruska Ask Change in Apportionment

Washington (AP)— Sens. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska have appealed anew for a constitutional amendment to undo the Supreme Court's 1964 ruling that both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned on a population basis.

The two Republicans said that if Congress fails to submit an amendment to permit one house to be apportioned on factors other than population, a constitutional convention should take over the issue.

Hruska, allied with Dirksen in the fight, attacked in a Senate speech arguments made by opponents of the drive for a constitutional amendment.

He said that if 34 states petition Congress to call a convention, it must do so or else itself propose a constitutional amendment to let each state decide how one branch of its legislature shall be apportioned.

32 States Act

Hruska, like Dirksen, said that 32 states already have acted and that petitions from two more will compel Congress to act

Hruska said he would prefer Congress to submit an amendment to the states rather than summon a convention.

Hruska also upheld the validity of the petitions received from 32 states, saying they did not have to be received during a single Congress nor did they have to meet any prescribed form.

Hruska rejected the argument that some petitions were invalid because they had been adopted by now apportioned legislatures. If that were the case, he said every act of those legislatures might be invalid.

Mental Board Commits Two

A man and a boy were committed to hospitals last week after hearings before the Lancaster County Metal Health Board on mental complaints.

The cases:

Boy, 3, found to be suffering from parental abuse, schizophrenia and being hyperactive, committed to the Lincoln State Hospital.

Honored by State's Democrats

Honored guests at the Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner Saturday night were widows of two Democratic Nebraska governors—Mrs. R. L. Cochran (left) of Lincoln and Mrs. Keith Neville of North Platte. A former state highway engineer, Cochran was the first governor to serve three consecutive terms, 1935 to 1941. Neville gained national attention as the "boy governor" when he won office in 1917. At the time he was 32, the youngest man ever elected Nebraska's chief executive.

Nebraskan Gets Medal

Maj. Reed Of Crab Orchard

Army Maj. Norman E. Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Reed of Crab Orchard, has been awarded the Air Medal for "distinguishing himself by meritorious achievement while participating in sustained aerial flight in support of combat ground forces in the Republic of Vietnam."

Maj. Reed

Major Reed is a 1955 graduate of the University of Nebraska and is assigned to the 21st Tactical Air Support Squadron. He is also a 1964 graduate of the Air Force Institute of Technology.

Lincolnites serving in Vietnam include: Army Spec. 4 Leonard C. Burr, son of Mrs. May Burr of 1227 South St., who is assigned to the Vietnam Regional Exchange System; Marine Gunnery Sgt. Gilbert R. Slote, son of Mrs. R. L. Slote of 2519 So. 9th St., assigned to 1st Force Service Regiment, and Marine Lance Cpl. Roger K. McKay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. McKay of 1420 No. 38th St., who is also assigned to the 1st Force Service Regiment.

Father Higgins Found Dead At Creighton

Omaha (UPI) — The Rev. John J. Higgins, S.J., member of the Creighton University faculty since last fall, was found dead in his room about noon Saturday.

The 62-year-old priest had returned to the Creighton Jesuit community Friday after being hospitalized nine days for treatment of a heart ailment.

Father Higgins was an instructor in philosophy and a student counselor.

He was widely known for his work in helping individuals overcome emotional problems through deep concentration. He had cut several phonograph records which were sold throughout the world and concerned such subjecst as the psychology of weight control, improving memory habits and readiness for reading and listening.

Father Higgins was born June 14, 1905, in Racine, Wis. In addition to Creighton University he taught at Campion High School, Prairie du Chien, Wis.; St. Louis University, St. Louis, Mo; St Mary's College, St. Mary's, Kan.; and at Rockhurst.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Wednesday at St. John's Church on the Creighton campus.

Father Higgins is survived by three sisters, Miss Margaret Higgins and Mrs. L. W. Smith, both of Racine, Wis.; and Mrs. H. H. Rauch, Milwaukee, Wis.; and two brothers, Albert of Racine and Edward of Winter Park, Fla.

Casey Will Go To Nevada Meet

State Safety Patrol Chief Dan Casey said he will attend the four-day International Assn of Chiefs of Police conference convening in Nevada May 15.

Col Casey said the convention will discuss national crime prevention and highway safety programs.

Chamber Groups to Tour New Quarters

NU MUSIC STUDENTS will present scenes from La Boheme, Don Giovanni, Tosca, Marraige of Figaro and Cosi Fan Tutte at 8 p.m. next Friday and Sunday in room 132 of the Westbrook Music Building.

THE 59TH ANNUAL MEETING of the Association of American State Geologists begins Monday and continues through Thursday at the Nebraska Center. One hundred geologists from 35 states, Canada, Puerto Rico and the federal government are expected to attend.

Lincoln in Brief

THE PROFESSIONAL ENGINEERS of Nebraska installed Merk Hobson, 2223 Van Dorn, vice chancellor and dean of faculties at NU, as the organization's president at the annual banquet in Omaha.

THE LINCOLN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE and its Women's Division have been invited to tour the Chamber's new offices at 200 Lincoln Building. The open house will be held Monday and Tuesday from 2 to 4.45 p.m.

A TEAM OF 35 MEN from the 12th Air Force, Waco, Tex., inspector general's office is spending five days evaluating the Nebraska Air National Guard this week. Under the simultaneous inspections will be the Guard's records and procedures, in addition to its photo reconnaissance capabilities.

CITY COUNCILMAN Ervin Peterson says Lincoln's current pedestrian crossing ordinance review should be intensified. The review, being conducted through the office of Public Safety Director Emmett Junge, is designed to determine whether more protection can be afforded pedestrians.

Vets Need To 'Hurry' For Loans

World War II veterans should "hurry" if they haven't used their eligibility to buy a home under the Veterans Admnistration program, warns R. C. Walters, president of the Lincoln Board of Realtors.

July 25, 1967, is the deadline for WW II veterans. After that date veterans will not be able to take advantage of the no-down-payment, VA-guaranteed type financing.

"Now is a good time to buy a home," Walters said. He noted that the mortgage money situation which existed last year has eased dramatically and should improve.

In order to use GI bill provisions for home loans a certificate of eligibility must be issued by the VA. This takes some time for processing.

The expiration date for Korean War veterans is 1975, and for veterans serving after 1954, the deadline is 10 years after discharge, plus one year for each three months active duty. The maximum is 20 years after discharge, however.

LAP to Set Hearing Dates

Public hearing dates for applications seeking Office of Economic Opportunity funding will be set at the Lincoln Action Program (LAP) meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Lincoln Center

President Robert Barlow said reports will be made by the application review, neighborhood program and Lincoln CAMPS (Cooperative Area Manpower Planning System) committees.

Action will be taken on the Lincoln Public Schools' application for in-school and summer Neighborhood Youth Corps program aid.

Three 'State Songs' to Be Heard May 22

By Associated Press

State senators will have an opportunity May 22 to judge for themselves the merits of three legislative "candidates" for the honor of being Nebraska's state song.

Elgin Sen. William Wylie, chairman of the miscellaneous subjects committee, told lawmakers he has arranged for a special presentation of the songs in the Capitol on that day.

The committee has advanced to the floor bills calling for the state song designation for "Nebraska" by Frank Tirro, "Beautiful Nebraska" by Jim Fras or "This Is My Nebraska" by Polly Abegglen.

The Legislature's budget committee reported it has given 6-1 approval to a bill providing that pay of reserve teachers shall not be reduced by the amount of the state service annuity.

The measure, Callaway Sen. J. James Waldron's LB238, was supported by reserve teachers at an earlier public hearing.

Sidney, Mitchell Masonic Building Rites Are Held

Officers of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Nebraska laid cornerstones for the Cheyenne County Courthouse at Sidney and a new Masonic Temple at Mitchell.

Mason participating in the weekend ceremonies were:

Lewis R. Ricketts, Lincoln; John A. Bottorf, Sutton; Norris W. Lallman, Hooper; Hugh W. Eisenhart, Cambridge; Carl R. Greisen, Omaha, Levi B. Williams, Omaha; Dr. Vance D. Rogers, Lincoln; George W. Roseloif, Lincoln; Robert W. Cook, Omaha; C. Harold Edwards, Lincoln; John H. Brown, Omaha; Warren K. Urbom, Lincoln; Charles H. Ninegar, Blair; James G. Riley, Mitchell, and Robert D. Spearon, Sidney.

Ag-Health Lab Site 'Acceptable'

State Land In South Lincoln

State Health Director E. A. Rogers and State Agricultural Director Elmer Schlaphoff have informed the Capitol Building Commission that the new proposed ag-health laboratory building site in south Lincoln is "highly acceptable."

Dr. Rogers said this letter also reflects the opinion of State Health Board Chairman H. K. Diers after the three inspected the site.

The Building Commission proposed Tuesday that the building be located on part of a 15-acre tract owned by the state. This is north of the penitentiary and immediately south of Calvert, between 9th and 14th Sts.

State Health Board members will visit the new site under consideration during their monthly board meeting Monday, according to Dr. Rogers.

The board has criticized proposed construction of the building upon University of Nebraska East Campus property for some months. They described it as undesirable and inadequate for present, much less future laboratory needs.

2 Hearings Scheduled

Bonding, Fire Marshal Bills

A bill requiring bonding and registration of livestock slaughtering plants will receive a public hearing before the Legislature's Agriculture and Recreation Committee Thursday.

The measure, LB904, is one of only two bills which will be aired at legislative hearings during the coming week.

The bonding proposal was submitted by the Agriculture Committee as a means of providing greater financial protection for persons who sell livestock to the slaughtering plants.

The size of the bonds would be based on the value of livestock purchased for slaughter by each plant.

The Government and Military Affairs Committee will hold a public hearing Thursday on its LB905, making mandatory rather than optional the rural electrical inspections which the state fire marshal may be asked to make, and increasing fees for such inspections.

The hearing on the bonding bill will begin at 2 p.m., and the fire marshal bill hearing will open at 1:30 p.m.

Juvenile Court Has 12 Cases

Two boys, 11 and 14, were found delinquent last week by the Lancaster Juvenile Court for prowling cars and stealing property.

According to juvenile probation officials, the 14-year-old was placed on probation and the other boy in a foster home.

Other cases:

Homes Parade Ending Today

About 3,400 persons toured the Parade of Homes open houses Saturday. This brought the total attendance for the "parade" to 33,400 for the seven days.

Homes will be open from 1 to 9 p.m. Sunday, which will be the last day to view the 19 model homes on display.

STATEHOUSE LETTER

Ross Rasmussen, Hooper's contribution to the Legislature, was relaxing in the chamber late Friday afternoon with Alliance Sen. George Gerdes, talking over the events of the day.

One of those events was Gerdes' success, gaining tentative legislative approval for raising non-resident high school tuition from $3 to $4 per day. For the standard 180-day school year, that's a jump from $540 to $720.

There's no question among most lawmakers that at $720 per year, city school districts accepting rural high school tuition pupils are about to make some profit — at the tax expense of farm property owners.

Rasmussen accused Gerdes, although not in a belligerent way, of taking the biggest step in recent years to spur development of new Class VI (rural high school) districts. His reasoning: Rather than pay $720 annual tuition, rural parents may find it cheaper to go together and form their own rural high school structures.

Gerdes and some other lawmakers are considered cool to a system requiring non-resident tuition only equal the actual per pupil tax outlay of the receiving high school districts. And their reasoning: If per pupil cost becomes the tuition index, expenditure efficiencies found in larger school systems would pull students away from higher-cost small high schools, accelerating their eventual disappearance.

Here, There and Everywhere—

With a jeep and a chain, all those stickery bushes along the walkway leading to the Capitol's south entrance were jerked out last week. And on the north side of the building, workmen were measuring the statue of William Jennings Bryan. He's going, too.

Federal matching funds used by school districts to purchase science, math, foreign language, art and other instructional equipment will drop from $600,000 to less than $400,000 in the coming fiscal year, the State Board of Education has learned.

A tourist had trouble last week finding those little brochures containing information about the Statehouse. Supposedly, one of the offensive items about the old booklets was the statement a fellow named Frank B. Morrison is Nebraska's governor. A senator reported the brochures suddenly were withdrawn from circulation.

Asked if he planned to be a delegate to the 1968 convention, one highly-placed Nebraska Democrat replied he doubted it. He simply doesn't want to help renominate LBJ, he says.

Never in all her years at the Capitol, a veteran Statehouse worker commented, has nepotism (hiring of relatives) been so widely practiced. You can't prove it by me, however.

A Judicial Nominating Commission to narrow the field of possible appointees to future Workmens Compensation Court positions is in the process of being formed. Nominations for the trio of lawyers to be on this new commission are supposed to be in Supreme Court Clerk George Turner's hands by May 29.

$1 Million Cost

Walthill to Get Plant

One Aim: Jobs For Indians

Sioux City — Plans to build a $1 million manufacturing plant at Walthill have been announced by Arthur C. Gall, president of Prince Manufacturing Corp., manufacturers of hydraulic cylinders and component parts.

Gall said the plant will be built for Omahaline Hydraulics, Inc., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Prince.

The plant is scheduled to go into operation in about five months. Gall estimated the plant would employ 25 to 30 persons in the first year of operation. Plans call for doubling its size in three to five years.

Gall said preference in employment at the Omahaline plant will be given to the members of the Omaha Indian tribe, whose "enthusiastic financial cooperation has been the determining factor in locating at Walthill." He said this assured a favorable labor market.

Gall also said Prince's Sioux City plant will be expanded soon.

Cushman Plant Construction Is Postponed

A construction start this summer on the new Cushman plant on an 111-acre site in the Lincoln Industrial Park has been deferred, division manager Curtis Morris announced this weekend.

He said the decision was made by Cushman's parent organization, Outboard Marine Corp. No new construction date is set as of now.

This does not mean the $5.6 million project is abandoned, he emphasized.

Morris described it as the result of corporation reassessment of the most benefits from capital investments this year. This resulted in a lower priority on the Cushman plant.

Oath Rule Appeal Out

Regents Direct Case Dropped

The University of Nebraska Board of Regents has directed the school's legal counsel not to pursue the case challenging the validity of the state loyalty oath.

In announcing the decision Vice Chancellor Joseph Soshnik said in view of the order it is unlikely the University will appeal to the State Supreme Court a recent district court ruling striking down the oath as unconstitutional.

"The Board has advised us to take no further action," Soshnik said. "This is mainly because of recent adverse decisions in similar cases in the U.S. Supreme Court and in other states."

Lancaster County District Judge Herbert A. Ronin ruled three weeks ago the oath was vague and denies freedom of expression, assembly and association.

The finding was in favor of Mrs. George (Killen) Spangler, 23, who was fired from a University job in 1966 for refusing to sign the oath.

Pioneer Paving Low Bidder on City Projects

Pioneer Paving Co. of Lincoln was the apparent low bidder for city resurfacing projects through the remainder of fiscal 1966-67.

The Pioneer bid was $157,583.75. Dobson Bros. Construction Co., the only other bidder, submitted a bid of $160,920.

Streets scheduled to be resurfaced are 9th, South to Hill; 48th, Cotner to Sumner, Van Dorn to Prescott and Superior to the Sanitary Land Fill; West A, 5th to Southwest 9th; 17th, K to O; 70th, Rock Island tracks to Kearney and Havelock Ave. to Cuming; 27th, Holdrege to Fair and 56th, Vine to the Missouri Pacific Railroad tracks.

Senators Kill Bill to Abolish Superintendents

By Associated Press

The State Legislature has killed a bill which would have abolished the 93 county school superintendents and replaced them with 19 "unit superintendents."

The lawmakers gave narrow 19-17 approval to Valentine Sen. Elvin Adamson's motion to kill the controversial bill, LB196.

Sen. Adamson said the measure is "highly unworkable" and would discourage school district reorganization.

Another major education bill, increasing Nebraska's nonresident high school tuition rate by one dollar, won 21-8 general file support.

Since 1959, school districts sending their high school-age pupils to neighboring districts have been required to pay $3 per day to the receiving districts for each such pupil.

Senators rejected a proposal that the rate be based on the actual cost of educating nonresident students even though the State Justice Dept. says the flat rate law is unconstitutional.

Dual Festival At Bridgeport

Bridgeport — Centennial celebrations here May 20 will combine an observance of the 91st anniversary of the opening of the Camp Clarke Bridge across the North Platte River and the 67th anniversary of Bridgeport.

The bridge, still in use, was a link on the Sidney-Deadwood Gold Trail of 1876. The festivities will take place on the bridge, still supported by some of the original pilings.

Officers organizing the celebration are Don Siffering, president; Richard L. Hart, secretary, and Arthur Erickson, treasurer.

Lutherans Plan Workshop On Alcoholism

The Southern Nebraska District of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, will present an alcoholism workshop at the Faith Lutheran Church, 63rd and Madison, May 16, at 9 a.m.

The workshop will consist of a day long series of talks and discussions aimed at defining and solving the problem of alcoholism.

Featured speakers during the sessions are to be Vern H. Albrect, institutional chaplain for the Omaha hospitals; Paul Wold, speaking on the role of Alcoholics Anonymous; and Dr. David C. Hancock, discussing the role of the state and community in service to the alcoholic and his family.

To Walk, or Not to Walk?

Lincoln's zoning laws didn't affect the recent construction of the city's newest "high-rise apartment" built by a sparrow following a springtime stop at a 56th and Holdrege traffic light. One modern feature of the little bird's new home is built-in heating—whenever the "Don't" light is on.

Architect Concerned Over Environment

By CHUCK ROBERTS

A British-born professor of architecture who one time taught at the University of Nebraska suggested Saturday the only way the nation's architects could start leading society is by telling the public "the whole environment is going to hell and you're going with it!"

Patrick Horsbrugh, who served as professor of architecture at NU from 1960 to 1965, made a return trip to the Capital City Saturday to address the annual awards banquet of the NU student chapter of the American Institute of Architects. He is currently professor of architecture at the University of Texas.

During a noon discussion of the direction and problems of modern architecture, Horsbrugh exclaimed with a British accent that the social responsibility of architecture must go beyond the drawing board and into the market place.

He explained that the "whole environment is going to hell" because of the "unchallenged belief that anything that produces monetary returns and is still legal is socially justifiable."

Horsbrugh, who admitted, "I'm deeply concerned by the uniformity of design which is spoiling our sense of regional qualities," stressed that "our attention to water as architecture, is of paramount importance."

No Human Relations

He explained that land no longer has human relations without water.

"Architecture detailing is very important," he said, "but no amount of great detail will redeem a bad situation."

Horsbrugh, also mentioned that which is old.

"It is necessary to maintain that which is good" he stressed, "and the destruction of a good building is something the next generation will learn to regret."

He called the tearing down of the old Omaha Post Office Building "outrageous."

Horsbrugh described Nebraskans as "basic Americans . . . they have forthrightness, common sense and stability which I admire," he explained.

Pair of Travel Awards Given

Robert A. Powell Jr., a University of Nebraska junior architecture student, has been awarded the first Leo A. Daly Foreign Travel Fund grant established in the NU Foundation.

Powell, one of two who received foreign travel funds, will receive $1,863 for his 87-day trip through the Japanese Islands and Hong Kong, where he will study Japanese architecture.

Powell, of 4300 Folsom, graduated from Shenandoah, Iowa, High School in 1961. He is married and the father of two boys.

His selection for the unique foreign-travel fund was announced Saturday at the School of Architecture's annual awards banquet.

In addition to the student award, Ronald E. Hess of 4140 A, assistant professor of architecture, will receive $1,882 from the Daly Foreign Travel fund for travel in the Middle East and Europe.

The new fund resulted from altering the former Daly Architectural Scholarship Fund which has provided an annual scholarship since 1956.

"Such a fund is somewhat unique among architectural schools," said Dr. Murlin R. Hodgell, architecture school director. "There are very few grants of this kind, especially involving faculty members and supported by architectural firms," he said.

—Davis and Wilson Scholarships —Danny L. Murrish, 4145 Randolph, and Gordon P. School, Bellevue.

—Steele and Weinstein Scholarship—Terry R. Larsen, Fort Calhoun.

—Nebraska Lath and Plaster Association Scholarship — Mark L. Moseman, 1112 Q, and Vernon O. Plager, 337 S. 54th.

—Black and Veach Scholarship —Richard L. Hild, Plattsmouth.

—Nebraska Concrete Masonry Ass. Scholarships — Edward P. Black, 2044 S. 19th; John D. Cameron, Canoga Park, Calif.; Danny L. Murrish, Kearney.

—Portland Cement Assn. Scholarship—John D. Cameron, Canoga Park, Calif.

Other awards included: American Institute of Architects medal and book — William W. Holmes, Hastings; American Institute of Architects book—Marc M. Rueter, Wauneta; Alpha Rho Chi Medal—Roger L. Schultz, Huntley; Nebraska Chapter, American Institute of Architects Awards—Norman D. Catlett, Falls City; James A. Dick, 5000 Grandview Lane; Gary L. Stanley, Sioux Falls, S. D.

Faculty Awards to Students—Marc M. Rueter, Wauneta; Leo I. Schriever, Superior; Janet J. Youngberg, Gothenburg, and Ted B. Wright, 1516 N. 27th.

Sumner Girl Is State 'Miss 16'

Fremont (UPI)—Layanna Beattie of Sumner was named the winner Saturday of the Miss 16 of Nebraska contest here.

Suzie Phillips of Fremont was first runner-up, and Debbie Mettenbrink of Grand Island was second runner-up. Donna Cattau of Columbus placed fourth.

Eight winners from the states will be selected for the final competition in New York. It was not immediately known whether Miss Beattie would be among the eight.

Chief Scout Will Speak

Joseph A. Brunton Jr. of New Brunswick, N.J., chief executive of the Boy Scouts of America, will speak Thursday evening at a dinner at the Lincoln Hotel.

Brunton

The occasion will be the annual meeting of Boy Scouts of America council executives and volunteer leaders including council presidents, commissioners, extension and public relations chairmen in the BSA's Region 8.

The regional headquarters in Kansas City administers scouting activities for the 36 councils in Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming, Missouri, Kansas and Iowa.

Brunton's subject will be "Scouting Opportunity." It is part of an emphasis on Operation Boy Outreach, an effort to reach all boys ages 8-17. At present there are 5,732,700 boys enrolled in the 144,538 BSA packs, troops and posts.

The Outreach program closes with a Friday luncheon when Judge George Priest of Denver Juvenile Courts will speak.

Friday afternoon and Saturday the regional executive committee will hold its annual meeting with Merle Hale and Mayor Dean Petersen as hosts. Both are members of the regional executive committee.

Grand Island First in Auto Trouble Shoot

Grand Island won first place in a field of 12 entries in the Nebraska Plymouth Trouble Shooting Contest at the Lincoln Job Corps Center Saturday.

Second and third place went to Lincoln High School-state winner for the last two years—and Sidney, respectively.

The two-man Grand Island team, composed of Gary Patterson, 17, and Joel Speck, 18, will compete at the National Trouble Shooting Finals in Detroit June 19-20.

Instructors and members of the runner-up teams were instructor D. A. Weixelman and Jeff Ditzler, 18, of 8340 Chestnut Lane and Skip Hetherington, 17, of 5850 Margo Dr. for Lincoln and instructor Charles Everitt, Greg Brown, 18, and Gary Narjis, 17, for Sidney.

Should the Grand Island team win the national finals, they will be awarded scholarships valued at $3,000 and special training equipment for their school shop worth $2,000.

Lincoln Northeast and Boys Town were the only other teams to get their cars running before deadline.

Other teams entered were Gretna, Hastings, the Lincoln Job Corps, University [illegible] School, Bellevue, Omaha Tech and Kearney.

Council Will Consider 15-Page CATV Proposal

A 15-page CATV ordinance will be back before the City Council Monday for final action, and review of further proposed amendments.

Community TV Antenna (CATV) is a system for bringing in a TV signal by coaxial cable without the use of an outside antenna along with varying the number of programs available.

If the Council doesn't take final action Monday the ordinance automatically is indefinitely postponed since Monday is the last meeting for the present Council. In this event, the ordinance would have to be reintroduced by the new Council.

Some of the key provisions of the proposed ordinance are:

—Franchises will not be exclusive.

—The franchise holder will be required to carry liability insurance, totaling $250,000 per person or property and $500,000 per accident.

—Maximum rates for CATV service will be $6.50 per month plus $1.50 per additional set. Commercial rates will not exceed $5 per outlet up to four outlets, $4 per outlet for five to 10 outlets and $3 per outlet for 10 or more outlets.

—The franchise fee or occupation tax against the franchise will be 2½% of gross receipts.

—A penalty of 8% will be charged for delinquent payment of the fee.

—The minimum payment to the city will be $1,200 a year beginning with the issuance of the franchise.

—The franchise will be for a 20-year term.

—Any company shall abide by the code of ethical practices promulgated by the National Community Television Assn. as it exists at the time of passage of the ordinance.

—A requirement of filing a $50,000 performance bond with the city within 30 days after the effective date of the franchise.

Carl Kopines, assistant city attorney, said an amendment to the "top 100 market" area amendment has been reworked for Council consideration Monday after stalling on a 3-1 vote to advance.

The amendment says: "Deeming it desirable for the City of Lincoln to remain a part of a television market within the 100 highest ranked television markets, any company must abide by all rules and regulations of the Federal Communications Commission relating to CATV systems within the 100 highest ranked television markets, provided, however, that the company shall not file any requests for waivers of said rules and regulations without prior approval of the city after hearing before the Council."

One of the FCC regulations provides that programs from distant stations cannot be imported into a top 100 market area and the proposed amendment would prohibit any company receiving a CATV franchise in Lincoln from petitioning the FCC to waive those regulations unless given city approval.

City Council member Carroll Thompson said he intends to introduce three amendments on media aspects of the ordinance:

One would prohibit the city from having any reversion interest in the ownership and operation of CATV in order to preclude city government from owning or operating a media which might be used to influence the taxpaying public.

Another would require any CATV operator originating programs of news other than time and weather (as against carrying by relay broadcasting programs originated by others) to make an equal opportunity available to other news media to carry similar originated programming on a contract basis. Thompson said this would preclude a franchised media monopoly by a CATV operator in news origination over CATV.

The third would recognize the right of non-broadcasting media, as well as broadcasting media, to have content, including advertising, relayed on the CATV channels on a contract basis.

The text of the Thompson proposed amendments:

"Section 22, (d): No franchise granted pursuant to this Ordinance shall contain a provision which, directly or indirectly, would give to the City any reversionary interest in the ownership and/or operation of the System.

"Section 30(b). The Company shall not originate any programming to provide a news service on any CATV channel carried on the Company's facilities, unless the Company makes available, within its channel capacities, the equal opportunity to news service media to carry similar originated programming on a reasonable contract basis which shall include consideration of availability of time, and rates for such service in other similar communities. The offering of a time and/or weather service shall not be deemed or construed as program origination of news service for the purpose of this Ordinance."

Section 29. strike and replace with "The Company shall not use the system for advertising purposes for others, nor shall the Company transmit over any of its equipment any advertising except that which is received from a regular broadcasting station and merely relayed to the subscribers in the same manner as said advertising is received from said broadcasting station with its normal program, except with the consent of the City and upon such terms and conditions as the City shall impose; and except that which may be received from a news service media on a contract basis as referred to in Section 30(b)."

Pole Charge In Addition

Kopines says that under the proposed ordinance application for franchise must include a copy of any contract, if existing, between the applicant and any public utility providing for the use of facilities of such public utility such as poles, lines or conduits.

He added, however, that the amount to be charged for use of poles would have to be negotiated and isn't specifically set out in the ordinance.

The Council has been told that a pole agreement could amount to some $25,000 per year since the city owns about half of the necessary poles.

Most poles are jointly owned by the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co. and the Lincoln Electric System.

Kopines said he felt the proposed ordinance had necessary provisions to cover any underground cables in the downtown area and any construction must have city approval.

The city is in the process of burying wires in the downtown and other areas of the city.

Building Rite At Immanuel Lutheran Set

Groundbreaking ceremonies for an educational wing to Immanuel Lutheran Church at 11th and Plum Sts. will be held next Sunday morning.

The Rev. Robert E. Tewes, pastor of the church, will officiate at the ceremony marking the beginning of construction of the $56,054 facility. The addition is to be completed by Nov. 1.

Immanuel Lutheran's present church building was dedicated in 1951. Its planning and construction were carried out under the leadership of the Rev. William J. Roesler, who retired from the active ministry in 1964.

Ford Motor Post to Flagg

Gould B. Flagg Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Gould B. Flagg Sr. of 1436 B, has been named director of advertising and sales promotion for Ford Motor Co's. marketing staff.

Flagg

Flagg, a University of Nebraska graduate, was with a Lincoln ad firm and a Lincoln publishing firm before joining Procter and Gamble Co. in Cincinnati. He has also served as advertising manager for Ford's Lincoln-Mercury Division.

Valmont Will Double Plant

Valley—Valmont Industries here will more than double its facilities for the manufacture of Valley Self-Propelled Sprinkler Irrigation systems. Under an expansion program, Valmont will construct a new building of 130,000 sq. ft. to house the new facilities.

The expansion will cost approximately $1,600,000. Construction will begin in July. Full completion is scheduled for early 1969.

The expansion is the fourth in the past three years. Prior to Jan. 1, Valmont Industries was known as Valley Manufacturing Co.

Northeast's Ed Johnson at work

Uncertain Start, Then Three Titles

Ed Johnson Coach of Year

By RICK AKIN

A week before Ed Johnson was scheduled to begin coaching Lincoln Northeast athletes, he was uncertain he had a job

"I was getting worried" Johnson said "I was supposed to coach reserve football, and here it was a week before football was supposed to start"

Verbally Ed had been hired, but not with pen and ink He traveled to Lincoln and received assurance he was in, principally to coach basketball

An uncertain beginning to 18 years of success perhaps but in black and white Northeast basketball coach Ed Johnson is The Lincoln Sunday Journal and Star high school Coach of the Year for 1967

The credentials three state championships including this year's 11 state tournament trips in 18 years and a 243 93 record

But records are not all that coaching has meant to Johnson

You know among the things I've enjoyed most" he said are seeing what the kids do later and the associations with the other coaches

"I get a kick out of going and playing these other guys like old (now retired Skip) Pairang at Boys Town and Jack"

at Bellevue and one of the many greats whom Ed has coached

There have been several of those and several super teams, but Johnson doesn't name them There are too many

All the teams have been about the same" he said 'Some kids have just had a little more ability than others It has nothing to do with willingness"

All have had that quality

'Our ability to stay up there year in and year out certainly reflects on the caliber of boys the school has," he said "I've been fortunate to be able to coach these boys A coach can do about as well as the material he's got"

No argument there, Ed But it does take some coaching

The 1967 state champions, for example were physically not monsters but, with inspiration, hustled

They were a labeled a possible state champion before the season began but lost their first two games to Kearney and Southeast Norfolk was next on a Friday night

Omaha Nips Jays for Title

By CHUCK WOODLING

Omaha University pushed across two runs in the top of the ninth and stringbean right-hander Jack Holder turned in a brilliant relief performance as the Indians stopped Creighton 4 2 to win the championship of the Nebraska Wesleyan Invitational baseball tournament Saturday evening at Sherman Field

It was the second straight meet win for coach Virgil Yelkin's crew who defeated Creighton, 6 5 in last year's finals

The Indians broke a 2 2 deadlock in the ninth capitalizing on George Stilen's wildness The Bluejay southpaw walked pinch hitter Herb Johnson with the bases loaded for the tie breaking run Second baseman Bobby Davis then singled in an insurance tally

Bryce Doebele
All-Tourney Pick

Jerry Motz

Davis a 5 7 150 pound junior from Omaha North was named the meet's most valuable player He had the most hits of any competitor in the three games—seven

Holder a 6 3 185-pounder came in for starter Larry Carlson to start the fifth and held the Bluejays scoreless the rest of the way The Council Bluffs sophomore fanned eight in his five inning stint

Hastings' Jon Jepsen hurled a six-hitter and drove in the winning run with a sacrifice fly as the Broncos downed Dana 1-0. for third place Jepsen was the only hurler to win two games in the tourney.

Kennedy needed an extra inning to edge Midland 2-0, for seventh place The Patriots received four hit pitching from Ray Denniston and scored the clinchers on consecutive singles by Howard Rosenbluth and Jim Krambeck a ground out and Ed Mancini's two run single

Concordia exploded for three runs in the last of the sixth to snap a 4 4 tie halting Nebraska Wesleyan 7 4 for fifth place The big blow was a two-run triple by Jim Young

Wesleyan won only two of its three games although the Plainsman set three meet records for hitting NWU lashed opposing pitchers for 32 hits in the three games, including five home runs

Outfielder Jerry Motz set the other mark by clashing three home runs—one against Concordia and two against Kennedy in the second round

'It's probably the best hitting we've ever done coach Irv Peterson said 'The mental errors killed us though If we had been able to play more games before the tourney I think we would have been in better shape'

Omaha placed three men on the all tourney team — shortstop Harold Lenz, Davis and Holder

The other all tourney picks were

Andretti Regains Indy Mark With Blazing 168.982 MPH

Indianapolis Ind P—Mario Andretti led a five man assault on Indianapolis Motor Speedway's speed records Saturday and for the second straight year earned the pole position for the 500 mile race May 30

The Italian born U S Auto Club champion recovered the 10 mile qualifying record at a fabulous 168 982 miles per hour after his year old mark of 165 899 had been raised twice

He also established a new one lap record of 169 779 a tick off his 170 mph goal against his old one of 166 328

Mario and his Brawner-Ford will share the front row in the 33 car Memorial Day field with international racer Dan Gurney of Santa Ana Calif who averaged 167 224 in his own American Eagle Ford and Gordon Johncock Hastings Mich who did 166 559 in a Gerhardt Ford

Joe Leonard of San Jose Calif held the record for a while at 166 098 in one of A J Foyt's Coyote-Fords

Foyt two time Indianapolis winner who last year had a miserable season that included two wrecks came back strongly with the fourth best speed of 166 289 in a Coyote from his Houston garage

The Speedway never reveals attendance but veteran observers said the crowd appeared to be the biggest ever for time trials and probably exceeded 200 000

Four wrecks delayed the show which will be followed by additional qualifications Sunday and the following weekend but nobody was hurt

Crashes took out Bobby Johns of Miami Fibb Rose of Hialeah Fla Bill Vukovich of Phoenix Ariz and Greg Weld Kansas City Their cars appeared repairable

Parnelli Jones another former 500 winner from Torrence Calif set an automatic record with the first qualification of a turbine car He gave the big STP Pratt & Whitney car a magnificent ride at 166 075

Lloyd Ruby Wichita Falls Tex qualified an Indianapolis-built Mongoose with supercharged Offenhauser engine at 165 229 but was disappointed He said the track was oily when he ran

Graham Hill of England the 1966 Indianapolis winner did not attempt to qualify in Saturday's runs He had been having handling troubles with his new Lotus Ford and he came in after three warmup laps without signaling for a qualification attempt

He still will have three chances to qualify in later sessions

Greene, Hellbusch Spark NU Triumph

By DON FORSYTHE

Swift Charlie Greene turned distance runner and Les Hellbusch authored a career best in the 880 to highlight an 80 65 romp past Missouri Saturday as Nebraska tuned up for next week's defense of its Big Eight outdoor track championship

Making his debut as a member of the mile relay team, Greene stole the show in his farewell performance on the Memorial Stadium cinders

Taking the baton from Hellbusch on the second leg of the relay Charlie opened up about 20 yards of daylight on Missouri's Bob Kniele with a blazing 46 7 effort

The rest was easy for Hugh McGovern and Dennis Walker as they breezed home for a meet record 3 13 5 It was one of seven new meet standards established but there was no new record in the top race of the day

That one found Hellbusch the Columbus junior outlegging Missouri's Craig Endicott and Bill Wells in a blistering stretch run

Content to lag back in the pack through most of the race Hellbusch stormed from behind to win in 1 51 3 nearly two seconds better than his previous best of this season and easily breaking his career best of 1 52 8 as a sophomore

It was a nice even pace There was no use to take the pace he analyzed after his come from behind triumph

Less than a second separated the top five finishers Missouri's Ted Nykiel finishing fourth and McGovern fifth in his first try at the distance since his high school days

There were a couple of disappointments but all in all it was a good meet for us' observed Cornhusker coach Frank Sevigne

Sophomore Clifton Forbes faded in the final yards in the 440 where Missouri's Steve Halliburton surprised with a 47 3 win but came back to defeat the Tiger sprinter in the 220

Hurdler Dave Kudron swept to a pair of wins, taking the highs in 14 6 and the intermediates in .52 9, both five-tenths off his season bests

Also doubling for the Cornhuskers was Dennis Hagin taking the shot put at 54 4½ and the discus with a record 167 9¹

Kent Tarbutton sailed the javelin 208 feet for the third Nebraska record The other four went to Missouri

Steve Herndon's 6 8¼ high jump, Gary Rainwater's 23-4½ long jump Halliburton's 440 win and Glenn Ogden's 14 11 7 triumph in the three-mile provided the Tigers records

I May Be Wrong

By Don Forsythe

Weekend notes and quotes starting with a little quiz In what sport does the home team enjoy the greatest advantage?

Golf? Basketball? Would you believe baseball?

Well until something better comes along an incident which happened when Howard College was playing at Winston-Salem indicates that baseball is a hands down winner

Howard's Ken Perry slammed a drive to right field, good for extra bases While circling the bases and turning the blow into an inside the-park home run, he removed his cap and carried it in his hand

When he reached home plate he was called out despite having scored easily

The umpire made the call against Perry for being out of uniform '

Curt Has The Answer

Funny things are happening in the major leagues too Especially if you believe that the previous year s pennant winners should be among the leaders

The Saturday morning standings showed World Series winner Baltimore in last place in the American League and Los Angeles in eighth place in the National League

The retirement of Sandy Koufax has to be the big thing in the decline of the Dodgers but how about the Orioles? A month ago they were saying the only thing that could stop Baltimore would be a plane crash

Outfielder Curt Blefary has it figured out however "It's a team effort he analyzes

Still on the baseball beat it s looking more and more like Johnny Sain may be a manager's best friend Sain who theorizes you don t need a fast ball to win in the majors was with three pennant winners in three years with the Yankees and had a pennant winner and runnerup while tutoring Minnesota pitchers His magic seems to be working again in Detroit this year

Soup for Lunch Bunch

Wrapping up with a quick trip around the Big Eight

Suspicions of Big Eight basketball centers have been confirmed Kansas Vernon Vannoy ought to be a football player. The 6 8 235 pound sophomore apparently has convinced coach Pepper Rodgers, too He started at end with the top defensive unit in Saturday's final scrimmage

The incentive system is being employed at Oklahoma State Members of the winning team in Saturday's final football scrimmage were to receive steak dinners The losers? They had to settle for ' a nourishing bowl of soup '

Oklahoma's footballers get a double dose of spring games The Sooners whipped an alumni team last week and closed spring drills Saturday with an intra squad test

No one is arguing about the best ever" tag being pinned on the upcoming Big Eight track meet Swift Charlie Greene may be hard pressed to earn a third straight Henry Schulte award as the meet s outstanding performer A fellow by the name of Jim Ryun world record holder in the 880 and mile will be running for Kansas

A couple of chaps who won NCAA indoor titles Oklahoma s Bill Calhoun and Iowa State s Steve Carson are among others of note in the talented contingent which will invade Norman, Okla this weekend

White Sox, Tigers Win Again

By Associated Press

The Chicago White Sox and the Detroit Tigers needed late inning rallies but they managed to continue their winning ways Saturday the White Sox posting their eighth straight victory and the Tigers picking up their seventh in a row

The White Sox edged California 1-0 in 10 innings behind Jim O'Toole's two-hit pitching, and the Tigers outlasted Boston 10-8 with a six-run rally in the ninth inning

Cleveland downed Washington 3 1 as pitcher Luis Tant rapped a double and a run scoring single Tiant however needed ninth inning relief help from Orlando Pena

The Kansas City Athletics defeated Minnesota 5-2 after Rick Monday got them going with a first inning homer Another rookie Ramon Webster contributed a two run double in the third

Philadelphia edged Cincinnati 3 2 on Johnny Callison s two out run scoring single in the eighth inning Callison delivered after Gary Sutherland was thrown out at the plate on Cookie Rojas attempted squeeze bunt

Pittsburgh also grabbed a one run victory nipping Atlanta 6 5 in the 10th inning when Roberto Clemente singled and scored as Donn Clendennon doubled Joe Torre s passed ball on a third strike helped the Pirates tie the game in the ninth

Tom Haller s sixth inning homer snapped a 3 3 tie and held up for San Francisco's 4 3 victory over Houston Willie Mays homered for the Giants in the first inning

The Chicago Cubs handed winless Don Sutton his fourth defeat as they dowred Los Angeles 6 3 Adolfo Phillips hit a double and a homer and drove in two runs

In a night game Baltimore struck for four runs in the third inning two on Paul Blair s bases loaded single and beat the New York Yankees 5 3 behind the one hit relief pitching of Moe Drabowsky and Eddie Watt

The New York Mets' night game at St Louis was rained out

Ed Stopped, Drove Right to State Title

"I remember driving down O Street that night Ed s wife Shirley said I thought Ed just wanted to keep on going "

But he went in and sent Northeast to a convincing win that night and 15 more until Bellevue won the last game of the regular season Two district wins and two in the state tournament took the Rockets into the state finals against Omaha Central

After the half Northeast was behind by eight points

I think there some people who would have sold us for a penny at the half Ed said But eight points isn t much anymore

The Rockets proved that with a third quarter resurgence for the title to go along with Ed s others in 1962 and 1950

Coincidentally that first season in 1949 50 was similar to 1966 1967 Northeast started out with a loss to Scottsbluff

I was really disappointed I knew we had a real good ball club Johnson said They did Northeast won 19 straight after that including the championship game

The year before in Corning Ia Ed didn t even know about Northeast But his mother-in-law did

Shirley is from Nebraska ' the Missouri native said Her mother heard about this job opening up and wrote a letter and signed my name to it

They (the Lincoln system) called and asked me to come over for an interview he said

And well that s where we came in

Weekend State Meets Slated In Prep Track, Tennis, Golf

By RICK AKIN

Around 1 600 Nebraska high school athletes all with Gold Medals in their visions congregate at Kearney's Foster Field Friday and Saturday for the state track meet

Golfers and tennis players also conclude their seasons this weekend The racquet swingers gather at the University of Nebraska and Woods Park courts for their state in Classes A and B Friday and Saturday

The linksters have Norfolk Country Club as the Class A host and Lincoln Pioneers as the site of the Class B tournament Both will be held Saturday

Several things of course will be determined at the track meet In all cases and classes action should be lively

Team rivalry should be snug in all Classes Omaha Central is the defending champion in Class A and rates the slight favorite

Hebron won Class B last season but drops this year to C, where the Bears, Bassett and Grant will struggle away Fullerton is the defending Class C champion

Aurora Columbus Scotus and Holdrege are the ones eyed as the No 1 threats to the Class B team championship

Gold Medal vying could get vicious between classes in most events particularly the hurdles the 880 yard run and weight events

Records should go in droves if this season's performances are indicative but swimming good weather is a must

Rick Molczyk of Humphrey is the only record-breaker of the 1966 meet returning He won the 880 last year and put his 1 59 1 in the Class D records

District Baseball Finals Set

A glimpse backward has coaches of the Lincoln Class A district baseball finalists remembering

Southeast and Northeast will meet Monday at Sherman Field at 4 30 p m to see if history (among other things) is an indicator

'Last year we beat them twice and then they beat us in the districts Northeast coach LeRoy Seng recalls

This year they've beaten us twice and I hope we can beat them in the districts

Southeast coach Charley Gordon notes the third game jinx is there but not a stopper

It's pretty tough to beat a team three times" he said 'We've been hitting pretty good lately I just hope we can keep it up

Joe Starita's two hitter calmed down Pius X 3 1 in the semifinals Starita and McCown are the like hill combatants Monday

The spoils is a berth in the four team Class A state tournament which opens May 22 in Omaha's Rosenblatt Stadium and ends the following night with the finals

Prep Panorama

By Rick Akin

During several years of David Lostroh's curious youth he has observed oddities

Isolated on a farm five miles from Pleasant Dale five miles from Malcolm and five miles from Emerald and with only three kids his age nearby Dave set about discovering

He had an Erector set (who didn't?) and made structures but in a way that didn't hack it because you can saw up those pieces very easily

Dave also liked working with the microscope

I built this thing where you could take pictures through the microscope and have them on slides That way you can look at them longer the University High senior said

Discovers Legs

Among the life he put on slides were ants legs Interesting subject ants legs But Dave made another find about legs He had a good set himself

In the ninth grade I found out in physical education class I could run faster than the other kids he said I didn't go out for track because it was already during the season'

But in his sophomore year Dave tried out with the intention of some day setting the school record in the long jump He made a mid air journey of 20 1 that year

He's improved only six inches in that event since then but has since turned to the sprints He's run a 22 7 in the 220 yard dash and a 10 2 in the 100 this year excellent improvement over his 24 4 and 10 8 of last season

The problem last year was the distance Now 100 and 220 yards is no marathon but 60 yards was about as far as I could go

All Winter Long

So last fall he went for cross country to improve on his endurance and continued distance training over the winter months

Every night this other kid and I (Tom VanAndel) would run after school all around the Fairgrounds Dave said We ran every night that there wasn't snow on the ground but Van even ran one day when the snow was this deep (hands spread about a foot apart)'

Having qualified Friday in both sprints and the 880 relay, Lostroh wants to excel at the state meet this weekend for a couple of reasons One it's his senior year and his first trip and second University High ceases operation this June

However it comes out Lostroh will attend the University of Nebraska this fall with his eyes set on a major in engineering

Four Records In Danger

W-Club Cinder Invite Tuesday

It's doubtful if last year's all-out assault on the record book will be repeated, but at least four marks are on shaky ground going into the W-Club Invitational track meet Tuesday at Magee Stadium.

Host Nebraska Wesleyan will be joined by Midland, Dana, Concordia, Hastings, Kennedy and powerful Doane in the afternoon-evening affair.

Triple jump finals and track preliminaries start at 3 p.m. The pole vault, high jump, shot put and discus begin at 5:45 p.m. The starter's gun will go off in the first running event at 6:30 p.m.

Last year only five records escaped as athletes cracked existing marks in 13 of the meet's 18 events. Doane accounted for six. Wesleyan five and Midland two.

"For a small meet like this, some of the records are outstanding," says NWU track coach and meet director, Woody Greeno. "Some of them won't be broken this year, but some are in danger."

Specifically the three relay marks might not last out the evening.

The Plainsman have bettered the :43.2 mark in the 440-yard relay several times this spring. Steve Welch, Scott Hayman and Tom Bassett are the principle runners and Greeno usually chooses between Roger Sand and Brian Hoppes for the other leg.

Doane's mile relay team, even without ace Paul Broussard, proved at the Doane Relays it can crack 3:20 and the W-Club standard is 3:21.1. Broussard, who holds the meet 440 record, still is doubtful for the W-Club after pulling a muscle last weekend.

With any kind of luck at all, Doane's Fred Davis should pass his meet shot put mark of 52-8 1-3. The 245-pounder threw the steel ball 55-11½ last Tuesday.

Kearney Nabs Title

Jack Hamer of Kearney shot a 69 to win the individual medal with a total of 143, one under par.

Chadron was second with 633, followed by Hastings 643, Peru 668 and Wayne 683.

Other players in the first five were Jim Tschelp of Kearney, 148; Jerry Rockwell of Kearney, 149, and Craig Madson of Chadron and Tom Wisdom of Kearney, tied for fourth at 152.

Ryun, Greene Could Be Beaten

Norman, Okla. (AP) — Jim Ryun is the world's best middle distance runner, but don't be surprised if the Kansas world record holder fails to win a rare mile-880 double 40 minutes apart at the 39th Big Eight outdoor track meet here Saturday.

Nebraska's Charlie Greene was ranked the world's No. 1 sprinter at 100 yards last year, but don't be surprised if the Husker senior is upset in his bid for a third consecutive double in the 100 and 220.

This will give you an idea of the strength of the Big Eight field, without question the best in conference history.

The key to Ryun's bid is the mile. If he is forced to run 3:59 to 4:01 to win the mile, an 880 victory just 40 minutes later might be too much even for the incredible 20-year-old Sullivan award winner.

Why? Because the 880 winner might have to hit the meet record of 1:47.7. The field includes Jim Metcalf, Oklahoma State, second in 1:47.8 last year. Metcalf and his cohorts will be fresh.

Ryun's only collegiate defeat in the 880 came in a less difficult situation at the NCAA indoor at Detroit. That day he ran a 4:08 mile in the prelims, came back 90 minutes later and was beaten by a fresh Dave Patrick of Villanova. Patrick ran 1:48.9, Ryun 1:50.7.

In an outdoor meet at UCLA, Ryun ran a 4:05.4 mile and 1:48.1 half 40 minutes apart, an outstanding achievement. If the Big Eight mile is a tactical race and Ryun can win in 4:05, he'll likely get the double. But the mile field includes Conrad Nightingale of Kansas State, meet record holder at 4:00.9 and two others close to four minutes.

He might need 3:59 and 1:48 for a double—something almost unheard of.

Greene holds both meet sprint records at 9.3 and 20.8. His double chances look better than Ryun's even though Glen Long and George Aldredge of Oklahoma are itching to upset him in the 220. One of them might do it.

Oklahoma State's Chris McCubbins, even if he doubles in the mile, should get the 3-mile mark. His 13:38.7 is best in league history and 25.2 seconds under it.

The high jump field includes three 7-footers — Steve Herndon of Missouri, Ron Tull and Jim Johnson, both of Oklahoma. In the pole vault are Larry Curts of Oklahoma and Chuck Rogers of Colorado, tied for the league's all-time best of 16-5.

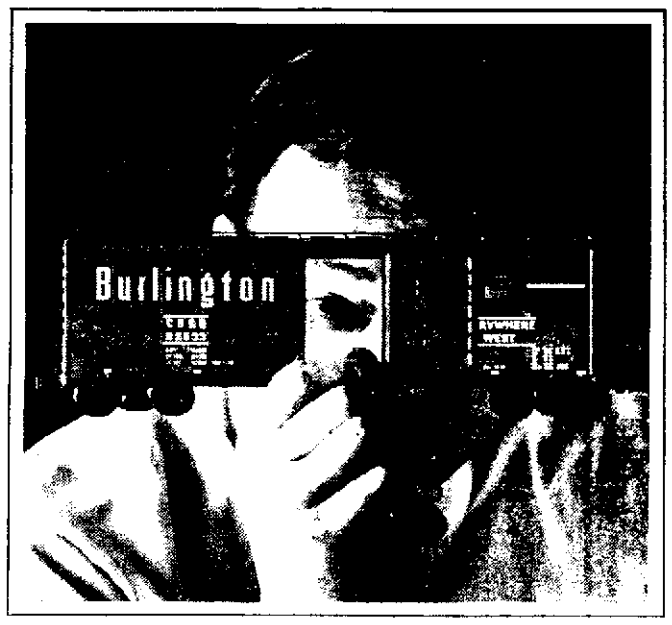
Art MacDonald says this railroad specializes in empty promises!



Who does he think he is?

He's one of the hard-driving wheels on the Burlington Railroad.

"We not only promise empties," Art insists, "we go all out to deliver. That's why we're likely to have more cars on hand when our customers want them."

As Burlington's service and car utilization director, it's Art's job to track down empty cars. To get them right back into service. And to help our customers use these cars most efficiently.

Unloaded cars just sitting around benefit no one.

So Art has set a deadline for their return. As empties begin bearing the deadline, he shortens it. And demands even quicker turn-around time.

Tough challenge? Sure. But we've developed a few shortcuts.

Like a computer that tells us instantly which cars are moving and which aren't. Where they're going. What they're carrying. And when they're unloading.

So instead of cars sitting around on some siding gathering rust, they're out working where they belong.

Art has good reason to boast about faster return of empties. But one thing's certain.

It's no empty boast.

Dr. Fager Captures Withers

New York (AP) — Dr Fager tossed aside the challenge of previously unbeaten Tumiga a quarter mile from home and went on Saturday to a six-length victory in the 92nd running of the $58,300 Withers Mile at Aqueduct

With tremendous stretch power, the Florida-bred son of Rough'n Tumble from W. L. McKnight's Tartan Stable came within one-fifth second of the track record as he stepped the distance under Braulio Baeza in 133 4-5 under 126 pounds. It was the fastest mile by a 3-year-old in New York racing history.

For his second victory in two starts this year and a sixth in seven career outings Dr Fager earned $37 895

Dr. Fager paid $3.60, $2 20 and $2 20 Tumiga, losing his first race after piling up a string of six straight victories finished five lengths in front of Patrice Jacobs' Reason to Hail and returned $2 80 and $2.60.

Reason to Hail fourth in the Derby paid $2 80 to show after finishing five lengths in front of Favorable Turn Then came Sun Gala Fort Drum, Racing Room and Yorkville

Campers Ready For Big Season

By JOHN HINES

It's pretty hard to find a common interest for 40 families, but a group of Lincolnites seem to be doing a pretty good job as the season of the year ready-made for them is in full swing

The Rollin' Tepees chapter of the National Campers and Hikers Association was organized as the third local affiliate of the national group 10 days ago with John Wisner as president This came just a couple of months after the second group, the Plainsmen, was formed.

The Conestogas were organized a little over a year ago with 50 member families as the first Lincoln chapter

State director Bill Haydon, a Lincoln attorney, is a member of the Conestogas and spurred the organization of the Plainsmen, whose president is Bill Melstrom

On the weekend of April 7-9 the Plainsmen held their first official function when 29 families journeyed to Two Rivers, 15 miles east of Wahoo near the Platte River, for three days of camping out, hiking, trout fishing, and supper and singing by the campfire

Just about every type of camping outfits were on that trip, Melstrom reports, with two landcraft campers being the only duplicate outfits Some of the campers had tents The group traveled separately to the site rather than in caravan to avoid a traffic problem.

The Plainsmen go on their group outings the second weekend of every month

The Conestogas whose president is Jerry Stogdill go the fourth Sunday of every month

The Rollin' Tepees, now 18 families with a limit of 40 camp the first weekend of every month

The Conestoga group meets the same Sundays during the winter to show color slides and films, talk about private trips their members made in the summer (one family went to Alaska, for instance), talk about new camping equipment, trade their equipment and have a social hour. The Plainsmen will likely follow suit.

Every walk of life is represented in the groups, which Haydon stresses is the strength around which friendships within are built

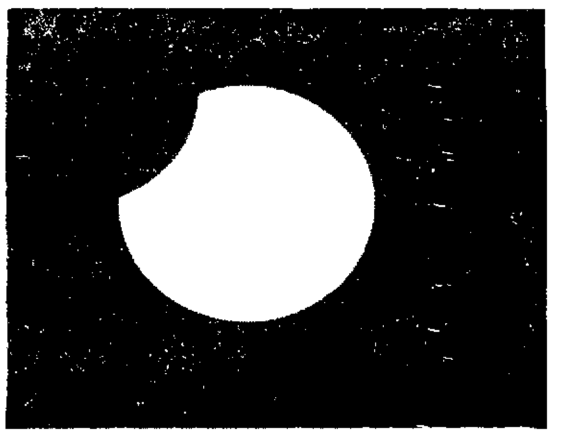
Partial Sun Eclipse



A partial eclipse of the sun occurred in Lincoln Tuesday as the new moon moved between the earth and the sun. The four-hour partial eclipse, visible all over the U S., reached its maximum point at 9:42 a m.

Telecommunications Bill Signed

Gov Norbert T Tiemann signed into law LB595 which establishes a telecommunications system for the coordinated use of state agencies

The law is expected to increase competition between two factions of the telephone industry

The Unicameral gave the go ahead to a new type prisoner rehabilitation plan The measure LB369 approved 43 0 would allow prisoners at the Penal Complex to be released by the warden for short term furloughs for family emergencies and daytime community works projects

In other Legislative Business the Public Works Committee sent two bills to the floor one creating a Nebraska Power Commission with authority to set electrical rates and the other requiring that the Nebraska Public Power System be managed and controlled by a single board of directors a bill permitting school boards to negotiate with teachers over salaries was approved by the Education Committee.

Law Challenged

Nebraska's newly enacted personal and corporate income tax has been challenged in Lancaster County Court in a suit asking that it be declared unconstitutional and void

The suit was filed by Philip C. Anderson and Raymond Weilage Jr both of Crete, Feed Service Corp of Nebraska and Morea Liquifeed Corp of Illinois

The two Crete businessmen and two corporations filing the suit allege the taxes are arbitrary unreasonable and capricious' and essentially the suit attacks the income tax rate setting and collection provision alleging the plaintiffs are denied due process of law

Lincoln in Brief

The long debated, controversial minimum housing code was adopted by the City Council, 5 0, but a series of meetings are being held in an attempt to launch a referendum drive to bring the ordinance to the people for a direct vote . . . The Lancaster County Board signed resolutions and contracts for a $5 million bond issue for construction of the Archer-Daniels-Midland Co soybean extracting plant . . . Pershing Municipal Auditorium manager Ike Hoig told the auditorium's board of directors it would cost between $10,000-20,000 beyond revenues yearly to operate Pershing after this year but thought this fiscal year would come close to breaking even . . . The YMCA-YWCA capital funds drive finished at 85 % of its $2 1 million quota but leaders and workers are extending their efforts until May 18 . . . A Lincoln Electric System official told the Lincoln Power Advisory Board there are no plans now for rate reductions and that capital improvements would require all necessary revenues under present rates .

Sohl Likes Racing Super Modifieds

The average Sunday driver is described as one who gets on a super highway and then travels 20 miles per hour So Marv Sohl is not average to say the least

He would rather get on Midwest Speedway's high banked race track and see how fast he can wind up a super modified race car

Sohl insists his summer plans are indefinite at this time But those who know him best are sure he will be living a dual life again

Marv is a successful health and accident insurance executive during the week But on weekends he gets his kicks from piloting a super modified car

Sohl didn't have a car ready for last weeks smashing Midwest opener but that will probably be corrected soon He has driven for the past five years for Howard Rudden in the familiar No 15

That car was sold last year but Rudden has a brand new model in his garage Sohl remains uncommitted but chances are he will be at the controls when the time comes to roll

Marv Sohl
No Sunday Driver

The popular Lincoln driver is also president this year of the Nebraska Modified Racing Association a group of some 150 car owners and enthusiasts

Sohl is bubbling over with enthusiasm about the cars that run at Midwest Speedway He estimates that at least six or seven of them are among the finest in the nation This was evident last season when Lincoln driving champion Lloyd Beckmann finished second in the national super modified championships

The costs of racing have gone up by leaps and bounds over the years Marv's first car was built 15 years ago at a cost of just over $500 The same figures today might run from $4 000 to $8 000

Sohl said there are 12 to 15 new cars on the circuit this year owned by association members in Lincoln. Most of them will be on hand tonight for the second Midwest card

Over 2 500 fans were on hand for last weeks chilly opener and they certainly weren't disappointed with the action Beckmann had a better than average night in an unfamiliar car from Iowa

The big winner was a Minnesota invader Don Mack and they will all be back tonight to battle it out for speed honors First race time is 8 p m at the 'Home of the Super Modifieds' at 27th and Superior Sts

Lincoln Youth Catches Season's Largest Bass

BY RILEY HALL

Tim Campbell top fisherman

Tim Campbell a 14 year-old Lincolnite, upset the experts this past week when he landed the largest bass in the state for the year—an eight pound 4½ ounce Largemouth Bass in a farm pond near Crete

An angler for five years Tim had caught a five-pounder only a week before on regular lures but took his Master Anglers Award winning bass with a pastic worm

"I had tried my other lures and I wasn't doing any good so I thought I would try the plastic worm I had heard so much about" Tim explained

'I walked along the bank and tossed the worm into spots I thought might hold a fish I was using a brown colored worm and I would jerk it across the top of the water much like a top water lure

It wasn't long until I hooked him' Tim said the excitement building as he told his story 'Feeling the strike I set the line and then started reeling him in It still didn't feel as if I had a very big fish

I thought it was a big crappie and I didn't really know it was a bass until I saw it up close to the bank I didn't waste any time then Tim exclaimed 'I jumped in after him clothes and all"

Tim, after his good luck in the fishing department, ran into a little injury that will halt his excursions to the old fishing hole for a few weeks however

While playing basketball he twisted a knee cap out of joint and will be sidelined with a cast

'It will sure be tough sitting here when the weather starts to warm up knowing that I can't pick up the fishing gear and go fishing' Tim said

Maybe I can get around in a wheelchair Tim said laughingly, I never thought of that before

Petty Wins 400 Stock Car Race

Darlington S C (AP)—Lanky Richard Petty survived an early brush with disaster Saturday and went on to run away from the field and win the Rebel 400 stock car race

The 29 year-old Plymouth star led all but 25 laps of the 291-lap classic and in doing so set a record of 55 victories in NASCAR's Grand National racing division

The average speed was 125 671 mph far off Petty's old mark for the race — 131 580 last year

Artificial Worms Catch Fish Best

By CHUCK ROBERTS

Black bass can be caught on baits ranging from black beetles to bubble gum but for day-in and day-out fishing spring and fall and in-between tough fishing or easy, the artificial worm outdoes them all

Probably the biggest reason is that it gets them where they live Rigged correctly, the worm is probably the most weedless fish catching bait made It can go anywhere

Bass are friendly fish, like most fish, and like to travel a bit But they like to stay at home a lot Home is a stump, a brush pile, flooded plum thickets and about anything that offers them protection shade and easy access to food

Fishermen can put the worm in that tangled type of cover and catch fish not brush This is why the worm is great catches fish and out catches other baits It will crawl through a pile of snags

It's been said (authority not named) that the best way to fish an artificial worm is the same way two porcupines on a park bench make love — slowly and carefully. Because of the weedless quality of the worm, it can be fished this way — slowly and carefully Each twig snag or piece of brush can be felt So can the strike of really big bass that oftentimes feels more like a piece of moss than a fish

A worm can be thrown into a pile of brush with more fish-catching confidence than any other bait

Sometimes even the great worm won't do the job But it's more than a safe bet that if it won't, nothing else will. Too many days this fisherman and his friends have taken bass out of this type of water on worms when not another person to our knowledge on the lake had a fish

Purple is the best color many believe but other fishermen think highly of other colors such as blue natural and a new color making its debut into bass fishermen's circles — green

The worm is not easy to fish at first What was thought to be a strike usually was but many times the novice wormer doesn't set the hook Look at the worm carefully Tooth marks will usually be found along the tail

The worm is especially great for the fellow who goes fishing when the fish aren't biting couldn't catch one anyway and has a little trouble with his casting accuracy

What otherwise would be a bad day for him can be made really wonderful when he throws the weedless worm into a tree as a result of his casting ability, doesn't get hung up and proudly exclaims to his fishing partner I bet you thought I'd get hung up

But regardless of what is the worm is more fun to use than black beetles and not as sticky as bubble gum Besides it'll catch more fish

Making the Worm Weedless

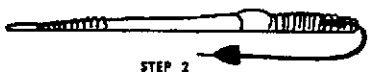
Take a worm 3/0 or 4/0 hook, and a pear shaped sinker (8 or 10) Remove the swivel wire from the sinker You now have a pear-shaped sinker with a hole in it

Step 1—Cut off the nose of the worm one quarter to three eighths of an inch back from the front end

Rigging the Worm

STEP 1

Step 2—Pass the leader through the sliding lead head Tie leader to hook Push the point of the hook into the center of the cut off end of the worm for about one half inch

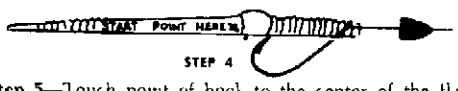


STEP 2

Step 3—Bring the point of the hook out of the worm one half inch back from the nose and through the center of the flatside of the worm on the bottom

STEP 3

Step 4—Pull the hook back through the worm until the eye of the hook where the line is tied disappears into the head of the worm one quarter of an inch Revolve the worm on the hook until the point of the hook is pointed up and touching flat side of worm



STEP 4

Step 5—Touch point of hook to the center of the flat side of the worm Hold the hook firmly and push forward on the worm three eighths of an inch and insert the point of the hook With the point started into the worm pull back and down on worm until the point of the hook lacks one eighth of an inch of coming through the worm

STEP 5

Step 6—Go fishing Throw worm into water close to tree or brush Let worm sink to bottom Lift rod tip gently and move lure about a foot and let it settle back to the bottom Repeat this at about three second intervals

Roads Spending Is Cut by 27%

The State Roads Dept is scheduling $33 million in new improvements during the next biennium for 623 5 miles of the state's 9 500 mile primary and secondary road system but this figure represents a 27 cutback in expenditures for additional work compared to the 1966 67 period ending June 30

State Engineer Dan Hosek said the large reduction in new improvements during the next two years is primarily the result of the fact that work scheduled for the present biennium cost more than had been estimated

So Al Said to Tom—and Look What's Happened!

100 Millionth Telephone Has Been Installed in the United States

It didn't happen during the Nebraska Centennial — although Al had a beard. It was in 1876.

Al leaned forward, looked at an upright cylinder and said "Mr Watson, come here I want you."

And Thomas A Watson in another room heard Alexander Graham Bell's words clearly. Tinny but distinct.

Now, 90 years later, there are 100 million telephones installed in the United States, marking a milestone for the Bell System and 2 300 independent telephone companies.

The U S has by far the best communications in the world. Bell serves 83 600 000 telephones and the independents operate 16 400 000.

It's Progress

By the turn of the century, telephone service was available in most American cities and towns but long distance lines were limited to a few hundred miles. Now you can call Mr Watson no matter where he's hiding out.

My how things have progressed!

In 1914, using vacuum tubes, engineers devised "carrier" systems which sent many conversations over a few wires.

In 1927, television was demonstrated when Herbert Hoover then secretary of state talked from Washington to New York over a video telephone hook-up.

In 1958, Bell Laboratories demonstrated the transistor. Without these tiny semi-conductor devices modern computers satellites and scores of other developments would not be practical.

In 1951, Direct Distance Dialing, where customers dial their own calls, began ("Hello, Tom. Hey, I dialed my own number!")

In 1962—Mr Watson would probably never have believed it possible—came Telstar, the first Bell satellite to relay telephone calls television and other forms of communications from outer space.

Telstar combines three telephone developments — microwave radio, semi-conductor devices and solar cells, which produce electricity from sunlight. Another revolution!

In the past 20 years telephone companies' investment in buildings, plant and equipment soared from $7 1 billion to $47 billion. The telephone industry payroll numbers approximately 1 million prople who live in all 50 states ("Aloha Tommy!")

Thirty Nations

Telephones, like fame and dandruff spread. There are now 30 nations in the world which have half a million or more phones. Behind the U S, which has about 48% of the total are Japan with 14 million phones and the United Kingdom with 10 7 million.

U S telephone anniversaries in a nutshell

Stock Market Declines

New York (UPI) — The stock market paused last week for one of its most extensive "breathers" of the year as investors apparently decided to cash in on some of the excellent gains run up in recent weeks.

The Dow Jones industrial average which only the previous week penetrated the troublesome 900 mark suffered its steepest week-to-week decline in over six months It fell 15 93 and finished at 890 03

The picture was not all bleak however as some groups and many individual issues chalked up substantial gains in the face of general market softness.

Brokers said the setback probably did not reflect adverse reaction to any business news.

Traders recently have adopted a habit of discounting such items and looking forward to the anticipated improvement in the economy in the second half of the year.

Analysts said many traders would like to realize a profit before launching any extensive buying.

Wheat, Soy Prices Rise

Chicago (UPI)—Wheat and soybeans were irregularly higher oats fractionally lower corn mixed and rye substantially higher on the Chicago Board of Trade last week.

Wheat was up 1/4 to 1 1/2 corn off 1/8 to up 1 1/2 oats off 1/8 to 3/8 rye up 3/4 to 5 1/2 and soybeans up 3/8 to 1 3/8.

Frontier Passenger Miles Up 35%

Denver (UPI) — Revenue passenger miles for Frontier Airlines increased 35% during the first four months of 1967, with 122,557,000 revenue passenger miles compared with 90,810,000 revenue passenger miles flown during the same period last year.

Passenger boardings jumped 31% during the four months with 391,328 passengers, in contrast to 299,294 passengers boarded during the corresponding four months last year.

Bankruptcy Soaring in California

Los Angeles—Southern California's soaring bankruptcy rates have forced reluctant businessmen to set up a free debt service for customers who get in financial trouble.

The service will consolidate debts and arrange prorated monthly payoffs to help avoid bankruptcy. If a debtor firm won't go along, it will face the service's commercial muscle.

"We'll use coercion if we have to," admitted a spokesman for the plan, who asked not to be identified.

"If an outfit won't co-operate, we'll pass the word along. That should have some effect, particularly with our backers."

The backers include an association of California banks, most of the major department stores, several credit groups and other large business and financial organizations.

Southern California has long had a reputation as the bankruptcy capital of the world, even back 10 years ago when 500 persons a month went through its bankruptcy courts.

Now, the figure has skyrocketed to 2,200 bankruptcies a month—and it's still climbing.

Joe Can Also Buy Stocks Through the 'Odd-lot System'

New York (UPI) — How does Joe the mechanic, a man with a big family and only a moderate amount of cash, invest in the stock market?

Let's say Joe has put aside $400 for investment. If he is interested in a stock that is selling at only $4 a share, the answer is simple. Joe can buy 100 shares, or a round lot.

But suppose a long-time customer, who likes Joe's work and wants to help him earn more money, advises him to invest in XYZ stock, which is trading at $40 a share but may go up to $75 in six months.

Joe does not have the $4,000 to buy a round lot of 100 shares. But he can buy 10 shares at $400 through the odd-lot system.

The odd-lot dealer will accept Joe's order for 10 shares through his broker. However, the odd-lot dealer must buy 90 more shares of XYZ to place a round-lot order of 100. Since XYZ is a good stock, there will be probably enough 10-share orders from fellows like Joe the mechanic to fill out the remainder of the round lot. That is the odd-lot dealer's responsibility, not Joe's, and he must buy Joe's stock at the current price.

Joe also must pay the lot dealer a differential. On stocks trading at $40, the odd-lot differential would be slightly under $1 a share, or $9 for Joe's 10 shares. This is the only compensation he will receive from Joe.

Odd-lots vary from one through 99 shares on active stocks and one through nine on inactive issues.

In 1966, 13.5% of total share volume on the New York Stock Exchange was in odd lots. The total volume in odd-lots for last year was $13.6 billion. The two largest odd-lot houses are Doremus & Co. and Carlisle & Jacquelin.

Grand Is Word for Many Young Mothers Today

SUNDAY JOURNAL AND STAR STAFF COLORPHOTO BY BOB GORHAM

Mrs Don Shurtleff is one of the new breed of grandmothers—one who looks as though she were her daughter's sister and who has a full schedule of community and social activities. Her three grandsons, children of Mr and Mrs Darrel Stanard, are (from left) Scott, 6½; Mark, 4; and Stevie, 11 months

Many are grand and many are great as well as grand among the women who share the honors of Mother s Day

In many cases it s difficult to tell whether the young matron guiding a couple of small children on a shopping tour is the mother or the grandmother of the youngsters

Today's young grandmother plays golf in the morning, does a stint of volunteer work in the afternoon and looks beautifully fresh at the dinner party in the evening

Or she may spend eight hours at a job during the day And she has enough vim that she will have an attractive house for her family to come home to and a delightfully prepared evening meal for them to sit down to

Far Cry From 1907

She is a far cry from the grandmother image of 1907, the first year in which an unofficial observance of Mother's Day took place Miss Anna Jarvis arranged a memorial service for her own mother who had died the year before

In 1914 Congress by resolution made the observance of Mother's Day in the United States official In 1915 President Woodrow Wilson proclaimed the day as an official holiday.

Sociologists believe several factors have influenced the change in the grandmother's activities Sixty years ago she was the "dear old lady" who gave the grandchildren cookies if they were good, who had a special rocking chair when she came to visit, who left sports and community work to her daughters.

Woman s opinion of herself changed greatly during both world wars, especially during the second one. And, in between, the great depression brought home the fact that it often took extra money to raise a family

It also brought home to the young women that

Senior Citizens Will Celebrate State's Centennial With All-Day Party

Come next Wednesday senior citizens in Lincoln will have a special centennial event at City Recreation Center I

Hosts at the event will be the Good Time clubs and dress for the day is 'centennial or casual according to Bud Imig city recreation supervisor of senior citizens activities

Parcels and packages probably will be brought by senior citizens attending for they have been urged to bring their favorite coffee cups a sack lunch and any historical mementoes or antiques they wish to display during the day

Coffee hour begins at 8 a m Following the invocation by the Rev C R Mattison and welcome by Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf the Rev Edward Jeambey will present a program on cane and walking sticks

Good Old Fashions

And naturally there will be a fashion show with styles worn in the good old days modeled by senior citizens

After the morning s activity twill be time to open up the sack lunches and just in case some person forget or do not have time to pack food for lunch sandwiches and coffee or tea may be purchased Mr Imig said

During the hour and a half lunch period there will be time for pool card games check ers looking at displays listening to music and enjoying conversation

The afternoon program includes a senior citizens talent show accordion music by Diamond Jim Fras and a film 'Lifetime Sports'

After the 5 7 p m dinner break activities will resume with a round dance program which will be followed by ballroom dancing and cards

Postcard Show

Displays at the center for the senior citizens day will include one of the Lincoln Doll club one from Bennett Martin Library and one of postcards of early Lincoln

Senior citizens activities at Recreation Center I are not confined to special events or days according to Mr Imig Drop in hours from 11 a m to 4 p m Monday through Friday and from 1 30 4 30 p m on Sundays keep the Center humming with card games as well as table games shuffleboard music pool and conversation

There is coffee at all times and often cookies or doughnuts Some of the senior citizens bring the goodies and sometimes organizations donate them Mr Imig explained 'It s all free but there is a kitty in case anyone wants to drop in a little cash for refreshments

In addition to the drop in activities special

25 Years Worth of Children and Happiness Fill the Siddens House

This house was home for the 250 foster children of Mr and Mrs Lloyd Siddens.

By LUCI MIDCAP

Happiness is having 253 children So think Mr and Mrs Lloyd Siddens parents of three daughters and foster parents of 250 boys and girls

Their foster children—including 80 babies under the age of 2—have ranged in age from three days to 17 years and stayed any length of time from two days to 14 years

Now retiring after 25 years as foster parents the Siddenses reminisced as they sat in their rambling white frame farmhouse on Rt 1 a house that looks as though it could have come from the pages of Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm

Mrs Siddens told why they began their venture as foster parents to children with whom fate has dealt unkindly as she phrased it

Two Weeks, Two Sisters

We just wanted to help somebody she said After they applied to the county welfare department our home was investigated and in two weeks we had two sisters who stayed with us 10 years said Mrs Siddens

Since that time the couple has in cooperation with county and state welfare departments the foster care unit at Whitehall and juvenile court provided a home for youngsters until the children were adopted returned to an improved family situation or placed in an institution such as the Beatrice State Home

Mrs Hazel Anderson caseworker for the county public welfare department explained that the couple would take any child regardless of color condition or problems

Loving Care

Some have turned out to be mighty good citizens because they were cared for in the Siddenses home she said adding that the entire family gave the foster children loving care

They began to take in foster children while their own three daughters were small but our own were never jealous of the other children explained entertainment is scheduled every Wednesday evening from 7 30 10 30 Special programs and organized games are slated for these hours Once a month is square dance night

Activities Vary at Centers

Ballroom dancing is the order of every other Saturday evening and for those who do not wish to dance there are card games Pinochle is the favorite with canasta running a close second

With summer just around the corner outdoor activities are scheduled including croquet And many of the senior citizen bowlers turn fishermen during the summer, Mr Imig pointed out

Other special events which will originate from Center I will be picnics local trips, attending Pinewood Bowl activities etc

The program is growing every day Our news letter goes to 1 000 people now and every day new people come into the center and register ' Mr Imig said

Next Sunday the senior citizens will put on a talent show and the public is invited to attend this event, which begins at 3 p m., Mr. Imig said.

' Then on Thursdays there are special sewing groups and senior citizens find a certain satisfaction in doing something for others at these sessions," Mr Imig pointed out

Other senior citizen activities are weekly meetings of Good Time Clubs when those present play cards and other games or participate in sings and other musical activities

Two meetings are scheduled on Monday, bowling at 9 a m at Hollywood Bowl and a social meeting at Bethany Christian Church at 1 p m The two meetings on Tuesday are at 11 30 a m at Southview Christian Church and at 1 p m at the Salvation Army Center The 1 p m Thursday meeting is at St Paul Church and the 1 p m Friday meeting at Havelock Recreation Hall

It would seem that with all the senior citizen activity at Center I there would be no time for other events But this isn t so

Several classes ranging from ceramics to archery, fencing to ballet, etc , are held on the second floor of the building

And youth activities such as grade school, junior and senior high drop-in hours are held after school Special junior high and grade school night events also are held at Center I.

Fun Club for handicapped junior and senior highschoolers meets Thursday evenings

Center 2 at 23rd and O is scheduled to open on June 4 and like its sister, Center I is a remodeled abandoned fire house

Classes now meeting at Pershing Auditorium will meet in the new center But the senior citizens will have at least one meeting there a week Drop ins on Sunday afternoons are planned

The two centers will provide recreational and instructional opportunities for all ages and all groups

The couple plans a late summer wedding

Fashions

United Press International

When buying your trousseau consider not only what your own taste is, but what your husband s feelings are about clothes Unless something is glaringly extreme, most men notice color more than silhouette or fabric Choose the colors he likes best on you Generally these colors are more flattering

A trousseau, if it is well planned and organized can last several years, with replacements made as necessary, says the Consumer Service Division of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union Plan your shopping meticulously to avoid mistakes

Your trousseau should consist of enough clothes dinner cocktail or evening clothes, at home clothes sports clothes loungewear lingerie and outfits to wear for errands or housekeeping duties

If your wedding is a simple one in the morning or afternoon select a simple wedding dress, and a wedding headpiece and veil

Popular fabrics for summer wedding gowns include lace organza, organdy nylon tulle — embroidered or lace trimmed

Do not exhibit your wedding gown to anyone except your immediate family That s a way to surprise all the others when you walk down the aisle The admiring comments that reach your ears will make the wedding an even more memorable day

Another factor in the changing role of women pointed to by sociologists is that women are marrying earlier Thus "grand" is added to "mother" when the woman is still young

And with medical science continually making strides in keeping the nation healthy great may precede the grand often before retirement age

So today many American family gatherings are honoring not only one generation of mothers but possibly two three or even four!

THE PENNEY STORY

"One eye on quality; one on price"

By ROBERTA NASH

More often than not, in a store's newspaper advertising, the emphasis is on the price of merchandise, for this is the news that readers want to know.

But the Penney people want to be sure you understand that this emphasis on price in advertising does not represent the thinking within the Penney organization. The thing that makes Penney wheels go round is value, or what you get for that low price.

"We have to keep one eye on quality and the other on price," one of our buyers said to me. "Every sale we make today is designed to bring the customer back tomorrow."

Children Must Go

Mrs. Siddens.

Their daughters now Mmes. Frank Schlegel of Kansas City, Mo., Del Fischer, and Donald Doner "would come home from school and find out we had a new baby and would be thrilled," said the foster mother. The Siddenses have had as many as six infants at one time.

Children's leaving was a heartache the couple had to get used to. Admitting they became attached to all the children, Mr. Siddens' eyes shone as he talked of a foster son they had taken in at two weeks of age.

"He was the swellest little fella you've ever seen," he exclaimed. Nine months later, the little boy was placed elsewhere and the day the tot left, Mr. Siddens said he just couldn't go to work.

Eventually Depart

"It was raining outdoors and indoors too . . . I got too attached." After that, he said, the couple just had to tell themselves that the children would eventually depart.

While the children, often as many as 16 at a time, lived at "Hillcroft," they had their own baseball team, played basketball, croquet and were active in 4-H Club, of which Mrs. Siddens was a leader for 17 years. Other activities included sewing, tending vegetable gardens, studying birds and planting lots of trees.

Older youngsters helped Mr. Siddens care for their ten acres; in fact, "They'd rather be outside with me than in the house," he remarked. The family would feed the 2,000 chickens and collect the eggs. "And throw a few eggs at one another," added Mrs. Siddens.

And how did "Mama and Daddy Siddens," as they were called, discipline their charges? Although their problems ranged from seven-boy pillow fights to bringing home "runaways" with police records, they never resorted to rough punishment.

Talked It Over

Talking it over or taking away privileges like homemade ice cream usually was sufficient, the Siddenses said.

Welfare allotments didn't always cover the children's expenses. Through much of her "career" as foster mother, Mrs. Siddens made dresses for "her" girls and with help, she handled all the other household tasks such as laundering clothes and baking.

Rewards, said the Siddenses, are return visits from the children — some now grown, living as far away as Oregon and California and rearing their own families.

It's also been rewarding, the couple said, to care for "those that need help the most; you feel you do the most good for the little sick children." Their foster family included youngsters who suffered from rheumatic fever, eye defects, epileptic tendencies, heart conditions, malnutrition and emotional upsets.

About one-third of their foster children have been mentally retarded or physically handicapped. But the more vexing challenges came from critical and rude parents, the Siddenses said.

'Retirement' Time

Just home from a Hawaiian tour, the Siddenses plan to spend their "retirement" time with—of course—children. Their travel will include visits to foster children they haven't seen in years and they'll be spending a lot of time with their three grandchildren.

Looking back over their 25 years as foster parents, the couple said their "empty feeling" when a child left was soothed by the knowledge that he was on his way to a permanent home and loving parents. And they knew the child had had security at his "home between homes."

"I wish I was 25 years younger," Mrs. Siddens exclaimed. "I'd do it all over again."

New NU Program Will Offer Women Second Chance at College, Careers

The University of Nebraska announced plans to help college trained women return to professional employment through a program of counseling advanced study and placement

Called Project Retrieve, the program is designed for women with a bachelor's degree whose family responsibilities will now permit them to return to responsible positions in education, government and industry

Chancellor Clifford M Hardin said "one of the critical needs of Nebraska and the Great Plains is the proper identification of college-trained individuals who may be available for professional employment or for positions of greater responsibility

Two Groups

' Of particular concern are two groups those who hold the bachelor s degree and have not been previously employed and those who may wish to enter a new field

' For example, there are women whose family responsibilities will now permit a return to the field of professional employment It is for these women that Project Retrieve is designed " the chancellor said

Ten women, generally between the ages of 30 and 50, will be selected to participate in Project Retrieve during the 1967-68 academic year Each will receive a stipend of $1,000 to cover the cost of tuition fees, books and other expenses under a grant from the University of Nebraska Foundation

Application for Project Retrieve must be made by June 15, 1967, to Dr Benjamin W McCashland Graduate College or Dr Wesley Meierhenry Teachers College, at the University

Planned Program

Chancellor Hardin said the exact program of courses for each participant will be planned with a supervisory committee of three faculty members chosen at the time of admission Many of the women may want to pursue an advanced degree but participants will not be required to have a degree objective

Those selected will carry 12 hours each semester and will attend regular University classes as graduate students The participants will hold informal monthly meetings to compare progress and share experiences

The University Placement Service will be heavily involved in Project Retrieve by trying to relate the abilities and preparation of the enrollees to desirable positions of employment

In addition to activities of the University Placement Service it is expected that the Project Retrieve selection committee through association with business and professional groups will prove to be a significant placement resource

Miss Keating at her desk

'Get More Than You Give'

By LUCI MIDCAP

' You can receive a great deal of joy from community service — you actually get more than you give, you know " Miss Mary Ellen Keating explained

And she should know — having been president of the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division and Quota Club, as well as being a Volunteer Bureau member.

Women should get more involved in community betterment, she believes, and there's a special need for younger women to participate in all phases of community service

Reasons

Her reasons include the speculation that by 1970 the average age of the population will be 25

"And they need to learn now to work with people in the community, because one of these days they're going to be taking over where some of the rest of us retire "

Besides, she added, a close coordination among all age groups provides the advantage of continuing some traditions yet bringing in new ideas — ' which show growth and advancement This is good for all of us," she said

Miss Keating stresses the importance of the Volunteer Bureau of which she was an advisory board member during its 1964 birth in Lincoln.

When groups or individuals want to really help, this is an ideal place to go, according to Miss Keating, since it coordinates voluntary community service efforts with the needs

'Growing Need'

For example, ' there's a real growing need of serving nursing homes — to entertain read or just visit ' And the State Hospital needs volunteers to sit at the reception desk and could use yarn and sewing materials for their craft shop Other agencies such as Veterans Hospital and welfare departments can use volunteer services too

The hardest thing is getting started but ' when working as a group, people discover the satisfaction of volunteer work " she observed She praised fraternities and sororities in the city who have worked on so many projects She said that the Volunteer Bureau, housed in Lincoln Center Bldg and listed in the telephone directory, needs even more young persons' aid, including young housewives

In fact, she said, "there's a real need for all people to get involved," —just a few hours a week or during the weekend

Miss Keating is secretary treasurer of Quota International 7th district which includes Nebraska and Iowa She has been the classification service club's 1st vice president in Lincoln and was a Quota International convention delegate to New Orleans

Women's Division

Besides serving as president of the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce she has been a member of the board and was a delegate to the U S Chamber of Commerce annual meeting in Washington D C

Miss Keating is on the board of trustees of First Presbyterian Church and is a member of Myrtle Chapter 94 of the Order of Eastern Star

Not only is she dedicated to community improvement and to her work as University Club's accountant she is a loyal Nebraska football fan

' But one day the joke was on me," she confessed Nebraska was scheduled to play Oklahoma, which had dominated the Big Eight for some time. After not missing a game for years, she gave her ticket away, feeling she knew the game's outcome.

"But that game, Nebraska won and broke Oklahoma's winning streak!" said Miss Keating

She also enjoys golf and yard work Originally from Fremont she attended Lincoln School of Commerce

Of her work in community service she said that it's educational and added There's the real joy of getting to know people through working with them "

Wedding Will Be Sept. 2

About 400 persons joined the Cornhusker Motor Club centennial fashion flyer last Sunday—and it's a question who enjoyed the fashion show more—the men or the women aboard

Miller & Paine coordinated the show, which took place during a ride around the loop of the Burlington railroad Several wholesalers and retailers had parts in the afternoon's entertainment

People boarded old time train coaches and were taken on a trip over the "old" route through South Bend and Louisville, now used only for freight trains, according to Burlington passenger agent Robert Palme

The train went down along the river and through Plattsmouth and to Omaha slowly enough that models had no trouble walking down the aisles

A barbershop quartet and a trio of folk singers went from car to car as part of the entertainment

From Omaha the train returned over the usual route through Gretna and during this hour's trip passengers were served box lunches

For A Large Group

We're lifting this from Kitty Montgomery's column in the Ozona (Tex) Stockman

I never print recipes unless I have tried or at least tasted them However, I received one this week that sounded too interesting to discard so I thought I'd pass it along

I don't think I will try it but if you do, please let me know how it turns out It is for elephant stew and goes something like this

1 medium size elephant
2 rabbits (optional)

Cut elephant into bite-size pieces (should take about two months) Add enough water to make brown gravy and cook over kerosene fire about 4 weeks at 465 degress

This recipe serves 38 000 people If more expected add the two rabbits but only if necessary because most people don't like to find hare in their stew!

Archbishop Casey Will Be Honored At Reception Today

By MIKE BAXTER

After a decade of leadership Archbishop James V Casey will offer his farewell today to the Lincoln Catholic Diocese

Archbishop Casey will be honored at a public farewell reception at 2 p m at the Cathedral of the Risen Christ, 3500 Sheridan

He will leave Monday to assume duties as archbishop of the metropolitan Denver Archdiocese

The Cathedral was a logical choice as reception site. It also has symbolic value

Many Archbishop Casey said regard the $1 million Cathedral as the diocese's

major achievement during the past decade "To me it is a sample of the generosity of our people," he said "it must be our major achievement"

Other achievements include the development of new churches buildings and convents the diocesan chancery here the Catholic Center the Newman student center and church at the University of Nebraska and rapidly growing Catholic population

Archbishop Casey has also been noted for encouraging the ecumenical movement and for enhancing the role of the Catholic layman in the diocese

His next 10 years he said, will be devoted to implementing the spirit and decrees of the Second Vatican Council in the Denver Archdiocese

In an interview Archbishop Casey characterized the Lincoln diocese as 'a family of God of about 60 000 persons who have generally a very deep faith and love of their faith"

A new bishop the seventh in diocesan history, may be named in one or two months Announcements of new bishops are made in Washington D C, normally on Wednesday nights

An interim diocesan administrator will be selected by a nine-member Council of Consultors meeting at the Lincoln Catholic Chancery at 1 30 p m Friday

Msgr Maurice W Helmann of Hastings, council chairman and a former Lincoln priest, said the interim administrator probably will be a priest of monsignor rank assigned to or near Lincoln

Technically, however, the interim administrator can be any one of the diocese's 125 priests

Hatfield To Speak Here

Oregon Sen Mark Hatfield prominent in presidential forecasting will deliver a "strictly non-political" speech at the Governor's Prayer Breakfast Tuesday in Lincoln

Hatfield

An estimated 900 persons will eat scrambled eggs at the 7 30 a m breakfast in Pershing Auditorium

Sen Hatfield a liberal Republican, will generally cover the significance of spiritual requirements for our country' a member of the breakfast's background committee, Roger Ghormley, said

Hatfield will arrive in Lincoln Monday evening Because of Gov Norbert Tiemann's tight schedule — he will be in Omaha Monday—Tiemann and Hatfield will not be able to meet until the breakfast, the governor's office said

Hatfield is a former governor of Oregon as well as its former secretary of state both positions following a career as a professor of political science He was elected to the Senate last November

The annual breakfast is sponsored by Midwest Laymen Inc

Choirs Spotlighted

Choirs will take over the 11 o clock service at First Plymouth Congregational Church 20th and D today

The major work according to C Richard Morris minister of music will be the Chichester Psalms with music composed by Leonard Bernstein

The words are in Hebrew and the high school and adult choirs received instruction in pronunciation from Rabbi Sanford Ragins of the South Street Temple

Bernstein was commissioned to write this music for the 1965 music festival at the Cathedral of Chichester in Sussex England A 28-piece orchestra most of whose members are leading musicians in the Lincoln Symphony Orchestra will accompany the choirs in this first performance of the Chichester Psalms in this area

Beverly George will be soloist for a group of Biblical songs composed by the Czech Anton Dvorak while in America

Psalms inspired other music to be heard at the service The junior high and boys and girls choirs will sing Psalms they chose and for which Morris composed music

The adult and high school choirs will join in singing Psalm 24 repeating a composition that was commissioned to Prof Myron J Roberts of Lincoln for First Plymouth - Church's centennial observance last October

Teaching Forum

Teaching religion in Lincoln will be discussed at a forum Thursday at the Lincoln Council of Churches quarterly assembly

The assembly will begin with a dinner at 6 p m at the Lincoln Center Bldg followed by a business session at 6 45 p m and the forum at 7 45 p m

Forum participants include Dr Paul Olson of the University of Nebraska English Dept Mrs Dorothy Olson an English teacher in Lincoln public schools and Dr J Ford Forsythe minister of First Plymouth Congregational Church

Depending on the status of legislation now before the Unicameral the Council may offer two resolutions on aid to dependent children at fair housing a spokesman said

Theologians Discuss Prayer: What It Is, What It Can Do

By George W Cornell AP

A refugee child placed in an American foster home, had her first experience with prayer As the story goes, she described the family devotions as 'talking to someone who isn't there"

Obviously it seemed to her a strange procedure and even among the religiously versed there have been recurring questions about the ways and workings of prayer

Teach us to pray' the apostles asked Jesus in the beginnings of Christianity

And believers ever since have approached the discipline of personal prayer variously—in confidence or uncertainty, in regularity or hardly at all as an intimate compass to life or a mere external formality

Nowadays prayer for many is like a foreign land says the Rev Dr Robert McAfee Brown a Presbyterian theologian When we go there we go as tourists Like most tourists we feel uncomfortable and out of place'

Catholic philosopher Michael Novak of Stanford University writing in the weekly Commonweal says it is astonishing how many Christians no longer pray as if God no longer were available in private devotions

'Gimme' Attitude

He says that one of the troubles is that many Christians have scarcely progressed beyond the habits of childhood' in regard to prayer

They 'think that prayer means asking for things for good weather to find lost objects to obtain peace of mind to make an important sale The mode is gimme The implicit world view is magical"

But as he and many Christian scholars emphasize prayer basically involves an attitude of responsiveness to God of concentration on openness to his will whatever it may be which is what a person needs even though he doesn't know it

'Prayer is response to God says the Rev Dr John B Coburn dean of the Episcopal Theological Seminary Cambridge

It is all right he says 'to begin by asking God to help us in any way we see fit but in genuinely receptive prayer we end by asking God to help us as He sees fit and to meet our needs not as we see them but as He sees them

That was the example set by the Virgin Mary at the annunciation Thy will be done and by Christ before his crucifixion Not my will but Thine be done

Ultimately You are using God when you pray for your own ends writes noted Protestant theologian Reinhold Neibuhr Prayer he adds should not be for trivial ends but for integrity courage wisdom

Way of Life

Through the ages church scholars have often pictured the totality of living and sensitivity to it as a continuous prayer or effort to attune oneself to full reality

Pray without ceasing St Paul advised

As Martin Luther the 16th century Protestant reformer put it Faith is nothing but pure prayer

Catholic Novak says that for the adult Christian prayer is fundamentally an orientation of the will in search for reconciliation with the real world of dynamic change in which

Talking to 'someone who isn't there?'

God's will is an unknown X'

It is he adds an attitude of radical openness to that ever unfolding reality

The effect of prayer is not that it binds God to something he adds God is not our servant boy to be summoned and given orders The effect of prayer is to change ourselves

It is to make us more alert to the subtle nuances of human relations to the actual course of daily events around us to the possibilities for creativity and brotherhood to which we might have been blind

Types of Prayer

The reason for praying is to become more realistic more open more discerning Reality makes many demands upon us the purpose of prayer is to open our eyes and ears to the fullness of the real world in which we live

There are various types of prayer — adoration of God thanksgiving confession of wrongs intercession for others petition for guidance and all of them intertwine to some extent in most prayers

Dr Coburn in a book, 'Prayer and Personal Religion offers some specific suggestions for developing a mature personal prayer life. Most of the practical methods also have been commended by other Christians in history

Among them

Pray each day at the same time

Have a regular place of prayer

The posture you assume, standing kneeling sitting or lying down makes no difference except as it aids your own concentration

Prepare for prayer with a brief period of devotional reading

Pray as long as you need or want to—no longer

Pray whether you 'feel like it' or not

The Rev Dr Daniel D. Williams of Union Theological Seminary says that in prayer God himself ventures with us into a future where His decisions take account of our actions

It is not a question that prayer will change God's mind or His intention That is surely a naive view of the matter Rather it is the discovery in prayer that the soul and God are joined in personal freedom and God has given us the dignity of decision

HOUSE OF THE WEEK

Kitchen-Family Room-Dining Arrangement Highlight Ranch Home

Exterior has a warm, gentle appearance.

This area is two steps down from the center hall and the living room and is in a world of its own—a world of housekeeping, informality and spacious living at the rear of the house.

Especially striking is the peaked ceiling, with beams showing, and a long window wall at the back.

Additional Glamour

Additional glamour is added by the greenhouse at the side of the kitchen and by the porch at the side of the dining room, the latter providing a place for outdoor dining in privacy.

Sliding glass doors lead to this side porch, with similar doors giving access to the rear planked deck from the family room and the kitchen.

FLOOR PLAN

The dinette area at the window wall can be used for coffeetime comfort and still keep her in touch with the cooking zone.

And she can check the progress of the flowers and plants in the adjacent greenhouse. Youngsters at study or play can use the family room and be out from under her feet while still under her eye.

Deck Her Domain

Even the outside deck becomes part of her domain, with glass doors. Architect Lester Cohen has designated one corner of the family room for the TV set and hi fi equipment.

The living room is at the front of the house, in an area all by itself and conducive to a more formal and sedate atmosphere than the sunken area behind it.

It is well-proportioned for furniture placement and is unlikely to get messed by ordinary household routine, since the center hall permits movement to the rear and to the bedroom wing at the right without crossing the living room.

The planter outside the bay window lends an air of country charm when viewed from within. Down the two wide steps, the dining room can be glimpsed.

While blending decor can bring these two rooms together somewhat, this arrangement caters to those who favor separate identities for each.

The master bedroom has its own bath, with a dressing room vanitory and stall shower. The second bathroom has the compact, compartmentalized features of a wide vanitory at the front, and tub and toilet facilities behind a pocket door.

Including the two-car garage, but not the rear deck, the houses measures 71 feet and one inch by 41½ feet, with a livable area of 1600 square feet.

Stone, Board

The gables over the bedroom windows echo the gabled garage look and suggest the rear gable effect formed by the A-frame kitchen.

It's a well-integrated traditional home, with modern overtones and that effective room arrangement at the rear.

Plans call for a full basement, with a railed stairway just off the kitchen. But a family wishing to build this house on a concrete slab could use a number of alternate ideas to provide additional space on the ground floor.

One possibility, for example, would be to shorten the greenhouse at the far end to provide space for a door leading to a laundry-utility room behind the dining room.

This extra room could thus have access to the outside without adding to the overall dimensions of the house.

Plants Will Respond to Love

The spring of 1967 will be long remembered as the most capricious season in memory. Consider the following statistics:

On Mar. 10 the temperature reached 75 degrees equaling the previous all-time high temperature for that date. On Mar. 24, 83 degrees was reached setting a new all-time high. On Mar. 29 and Apr. 5 for the second and third time within less than two weeks all-time high temperature records were broken.

In other words from early March to mid-April, the weather moved from late winter through spring to early summer. Yet on Apr 23 it snowed, returning us once again to winter

More Snowfall

In fact, one day in May (the third) we received more snowfall than we did during the combined months of February and March.

What effect have these diverse weather conditions had on trees, shrubs and other plants?

First, the spring of 1967 has taught this nurseryman something of the amazing resiliency of plants. For example on Apr. 24, the new growth on hackberry trees along 33rd from Sheridan to South froze, turned black and started to drop.

Yet one week later a second new growth was beginning to appear on the tips of the limbs. If weather deals these trees another severe blow they may be permanently damaged, but they are truly making a wonderful fight to survive.

Several years ago a midwest university conducted experiments to discover if plants would respond to love as well as good care. The results were encouraging.

Proof of Love

Further proof of the value of love is to be found right here in Lincoln. On So. 35th is an American elm with half of its roots under the concrete of streets and driveways where they can get no moisture or nutrients.

For years this tree's owner truly loved this old elm. He regularly fed and deep watered its roots. He always showered the new foliage as it came out. Several times he was observed actually talking to the tree in affectionate tones.

1967 is the year that this love paid off. Other elms along the block are showing little or no foliage, but the "loved" tree is in full leaf and a true joy to behold.

What is the answer to the capricious spring of 1967?

Love Is Important

Pay particular attention to the new growth on plants that is appearing right now. Shower this foliage after frosts or freezes and also on hot, windy day — and, most important, love your plants.

As the spring of 1967 has proved, plants have a way of showing and returning this love.

GARDEN GOSSIP

Grubs Will Damage Grass

By EMERY W. NELSON
County Extension Agent

Grubs can damage the lawn before one knows they are present These grubworms work under the ground and cause first stunted areas in the grass and later dead spots

Unless the spots are closely examined, they are apt to be mistaken for disease or some other type of damage.

Grubs are the larvae of several kinds of beetles. The most important one in Nebraska is the common June beetle. These larvae are whitish worms with dark colored heads. Because they are large and white they are easy to see in the soil.

When dead and stunted grass is noticed in the lawn, one should look for the white grubs. They can be found by pulling back the grass sod near the dead spots.

If grubs are causing the problem, they can be located one to three inches under the grass and the grass roots will be eaten off. If the grass roots are normal, disease or something else is causing the problem.

White grubs can be controlled with several insecticides. Use one of the suggested poisons and be certain to water it thoroughly into the soil after it is spread evenly over the lawn. Watering is necessary for good results.

Aldrin, dieldrin and heptachlor are good insecticides to use. Use 20% aldrin or 20% heptachlor granules at the rate of 1 to 2 pounds per 1000 sq. ft. Dieldrin is applied as a 5% granule at the rate of 2 pounds per 1000 sq. ft.

Narrator Henry Fonda special projects producer Lee Rockwell of KUON TV discuss the Centennial film

Fonda Helps 'Cornbelt Meet the Range'

Perhaps our biggest accomplishment in Nebraska has been the development of a vigorous productive efficient agriculture

This is how native Nebraskan actor Henry Fonda begins his narration of the Nebraska Centennial agriculture film Nebraska Where the Cornbelt Meets the Range

The 30 minute color film takes Nebraska agriculture from a century ago—when the big problem was taming a prairie to the beginning of the state's second century when agriculture is faced with feeding an exploding world population

The film was sponsored as a Centennial project by the agriculture and educational television committees of the Nebraska Centennial Commission

The film's premiere public showing will be May 20 at the Sheldon Art Gallery

Fonda says he enjoys narration of films as much as any of the work he does on stage and screen He uses his sincere approach in telling the Nebraska story It is a straight forward method that has won him the designation as the most typically American narrator

The film stars Nebraska's gigantic food factory of 48 million acres bringing those acres into national focus because of the production versatility that makes the Centennial State a leader in many departments from crops to hay to livestock

Only in a state where the rich soils of the Cornbelt meet the 18 000 square miles of Sandhills rangeland can such a production record be accomplished

This is Nebraska agriculture where 97% of the state is in agricultural production the highest percentage of land in any state in agriculture' says

'Sound of Music' Premiere Will Aid Broadway League

The May 25 benefit premiere showing of "The Sound of Music" at the Cooper/Lincoln Theater 54th and O has three purposes set forth by the benefactor the Broadway Theater League of Lincoln

The proceeds will be used to sponsor an exciting 1967-68 season to overcome a financial setback suffered by the League in the recent season and to promote good theater according to Mrs Stanley Wentz of the Theater League

The gala premiere opening the new Cooper Lincoln will include an inaugural ceremony by Cooper Theaters city manager Mike Gaughan and other extra attractions said Mrs Wentz

The Broadway Theater League's upcoming season includes the Broadway successes "The Roar of the Greasepaint and the Smell of the Crowd" "On a Clear Day You Can See Forever" and "Impossible Years"

Reservations for the benefit are being handled by Mrs. Alexander Booras

The Sound of Music winner of five Academy Awards including the best picture of the year has been one of the biggest box office attractions in cinema history

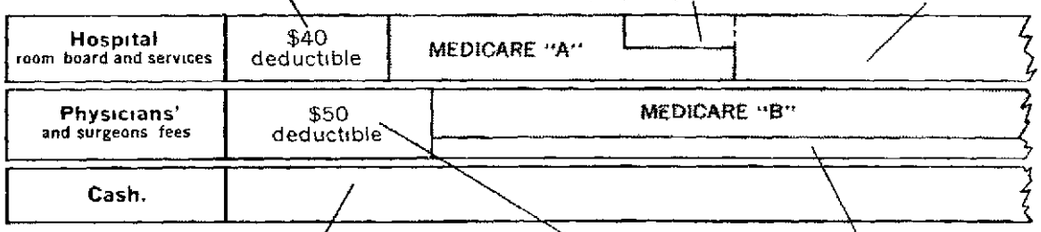
This point. Medicare does not pay the first $40 of hospital bills when you enter the hospital. You can pay this $40 with a Golden 65 tax free cash plan (70 Plus or 110 Plus).

This point. Even with Medicare you have to pay $10 per day from the 61st through the 90th day for hospital room, board and services. A Golden 65 Major Care policy pays this $10 per day.

This point. After the 90th day of a hospital stay Medicare "A" stops. But a Golden 65 Major Care policy goes on paying up to $35 a day until total policy benefits of $25,000 are exhausted.



This point. Medicare does not pay cash for extra hospital conveniences or bills piling up at home. A Golden 65 tax free cash plan (70 Plus or 110 Plus), can help with these expenses.

This point. Medicare does not pay the first $50 for surgeons and physicians fees. You can pay this $50 with a Golden 65 tax free cash plan (70 Plus or 110 Plus).

This point. Medicare B does not pay for 20% of surgeons and physicians fees. A Golden 65 Major Care policy will pay this 20% when hospitalized for surgery.

That's why 600,000 people are protected by Continental Casualty in addition to Medicare.

Golden 65 tax-free cash plans, 70 Plus and 110 Plus, pay you $70 per week or $110 per week [illegible] hospitalized (depending on the plan you select) up to 52 weeks. [illegible] cash that you can use for anything—Medicare gaps, in hospital co[illegible] electricity, telephone.

EXCLUSIONS AND LIMITATIONS.—You are immediately covered upon hospitalization for an accident or sickness that commences after the effective date of your policy. 70 Plus or 110 Plus covers you for 13 weeks of confinement for mental illness with a lifetime maximum of 26 weeks. Major Care does not cover mental, psychoneurotic, or personality disorders. Under all above policies you are covered for conditions diagnosed before your policy was issued if hospital confinement begins after your policy has been in effect for at least six months. Major Care does not cover any treatment or service not reasonable or necessary for the diagnosis or treatment of sickness or injury or to improve the functioning of a malformed body member.

You are covered anywhere in the world against all injury or illness except those covered by Workmen's Compensation or Occupational Disease Law or those caused by any act of war. Excluded also is coverage when confined in federal government hospitals except in California. Above policies do not cover confinement in any government hospital for mental illness or tuberculosis. In Louisiana, Texas and Tennessee they do not cover any treatment or service for tuberculosis. Above policies do not cover custodial care confinement in a hospital or routine physical examinations.

Agile Astaire Is Exception

Aging Hoofers

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood (AP) — When limbs aren't so limber any more and hooting causes huffing what do dancers do? Retire?

No They become directors

Gene Kelly 54 says he always wanted to direct and started dancing only to get into show business Still an occasional dancer he has directed Broadway's 'Flower Drum Song' and eight Hollywood movies the first three as co director

Marge and Gower Champion billed themselves that way deliberately — the man's name last contrary to the practice of most dance teams —against the day he would be Gower Champion, director" At 45 he has had four Broadway directing hits including the smash gold mine "Hello Dolly"

A decade ago a horse rolled on Gene Nelson dancing co-star of Doris Day and Virginia Mayo and broke his pelvis The injury healed but he switched cars anyway — I knew I couldn't go on dancing the rest of my life At 46 he has directed six movies and nearly 100 television shows

The dancers-turned directors are still trim and healthy looking and actors generally like to work with them Nelson has bawled out tardy or big-headed newcomers and Carol Channing calls Champion a benevolent despot Kelly tells jokes or does a little step to break tension

A dancer's legs and wind go first says Kelly. Your legs slow down from the time you're in your early 20s'

But the main thing is will Desire If you like what you're doing you'll make adjustments A dancer can pace himself'

The Champions danced in top night clubs three Broadway shows television and seven movies (Show Boat Jupiter's Darling etc)

He cut his directing teeth on television drama

Hospitalized after the 1957 pelvis fracture. Gene Nelson worked into TV directing and then feature movies

His current release is a flashy Warner Brothers musical The Cool Ones starring Roddy McDowall and Debbie Watson

Still dancing Fred Astaire.

Other dancers have become directors but there is one shining exception Fred Astaire

He's unique the idol of us all says Champion In April at Warner Brothers Astaire started another strenuous dancing film Finian's Rainbow

On May 10 he turned 67

YOU'RE NUMBER ONE...GO AHEAD...FLIP!

No question about it, you're the apple of our eye. And all of us in the life insurance business in Nebraska are mighty proud of the fact that last year we made payments of over 170 million dollars to living Nebraskans in the form of savings, retirement benefits, dividends, pensions and life incomes. Also, in 1966, our companies paid in excess of 115 million dollars to survivors of policy holders.

You'll "flip" when you learn that the life insurance companies invested the majority of your premiums in Nebraska last year. In fact, over 2 billion dollars is invested for your benefit in such things as mortgage and business loans, sanitary improvement districts, hospitals, religious facilities and public utilities.

Each of you in Nebraska who invests in life insurance is "number one" with us. Thanks for the faith you have in your state and us.

Sponsored by Nebraska State Association of Life Underwriters and Nebraska life insurance companies, whose employee payroll is in excess of 50 million dollars each year.

WHY do so many adult single, widowed and divorced people FILE an "S.P."

BECAUSE

they are anxious to meet people who are compatible to them.

The Selection Profile is the key to scientific matching – the modern intelligent method of selecting and meeting your companions in a dignified and confidential manner.

INSTRUCTIONS

Carefully fill out the top portion of the Selection Profile then in a rapid manner make a check mark (X) in the Me column beside the things you like dislike you are and have. Then go back and make a check mark (X) in the He She column beside the things you would want the other person to like dislike to be and have.

Then simply mail the completed Selection Profile to COMPTRONIC SELECTION CORPORATION Computer Hdqtrs. P. O. Box 1169 Boulder Colorado for your reply.

TV Quotes

On the television side this week several quotes stand out

June Lockhart hostess for the Miss U S A pageant on CBS this Saturday thinks girls would tune in a male beauty beefcake contest I'm sure women would like to see a representative group of male physiques on display They could be very pleasing to the feminine eye but I imagine men viewers would die laughing says June

TV fare as seen by FCC Commissioner Lee Loevinger

Television is not and has no prospect of being either the salvation or the damation of mankind The significance of television is that it is a mass medium the exclusive club of the excluded masses Television is a golden goose that lays scrambled eggs and it is futile and probably fatal to be it for not having caviar

Findings in a survey by the Downtowner Motor Inn chain on the most popular TV show with businessmen on the road First place is the Monkees (of all things) followed by Peyton Place Batman Fugitive and Beverly Hillbillies

Barbra Streisand just finished taping her new special for this fall on CBS Although Barbra is definitely the star of the vaudeville spectacular entitled Belle of 14th Street she managed not to throw her weight around She left that to the cute chorus line known as Billy Watson and His Beef Trust Of the six beefy beauties the weight ranges from over 200 pounds to 300 plus

One TV Serial for Thinkers

By Bob Thomas

Hollywood (AP)—If there is such a thing as a thinking man's television series, it might well be "Star Trek." Despite this stigma, "Star Trek" has managed to win a renewal for a second season.

The man behind "Star Trek," which takes a band of 21st Century adventures to new vistas beyond the stars, is pipe-puffing Gene Roddenberry, a former airline pilot and former cop, the producer-writer.

"'Star Trek' is the 'in' show with the college crowd, with the people who work at NASA, Caltech and the space plants," said Roddenberry.

"We get letters from curators of museums and college presidents all of whom appreciate our serious attempt to portray what space travel will be like."

Series that appeal to intellectuals are usually consigned to sudden death, and for a while it looked as if "Star Trek" would suffer the same fate. After fair ratings in the first weeks—new shows generally do well as viewers "shop" in the early season—ratings dropped.

"But then we started climbing," Roddenberry said. "I think the thing that convinced NBC to keep us on was the fact that 'Star Trek' ratings had the same profile as 'Bonanza.'"

Trade observers also believe the NBC decision was influenced by the fact that "Star Trek" was a prestige show in a season that was sadly lacking in prestige.

And fortunately the series appealed not only to egg-heads. It can apparently be enjoyed on a pure adventure level by less enlightened citizens, as well as children.

"I believe it's possible to produce a series that can titillate the college professor as well as the truck driver," Roddenberry said. "We do that by giving the audience adventure with a social comment.

"And besides, the truck driver is a lot smarter than the networks believe he is."

Roddenberry, who moonlighted as script writer while serving in the Los Angeles Police Department, believes the networks should take more of a chance in the field of serious drama. Said he:

"The networks lose millions of dollars a year in news and special events, which they put on because they feel it is their duty to do so. I would like to see them take the same kind of risk in drama.

"There's nothing wrong with 'The Beverly Hillbillies'. it is part of the strain of Americana. But it is fluff and almost everything we get in TV is fluffy stuff. The viewer deserves a more varied diet."

Bigger 'Wind'

Hollywood (UPI) — "Gone With The Wind" has been expanded from 35 mm film to 70 mm bog screen process for re-release this fall.

Comer Stars

On Air in Fall

College Gets FM Permit

Union College has received Federal Communications Commission (FCC) approval to begin construction of an FM campus radio station.

The proposed station will be Class D non-commercial educational, with studios transmitter and tower in and on the administration building. It will operate with call letters KVUC at 91.3 megacycles.

Dr. Arth Hauck of the UC speech dept. said the station is to operate on 10 watts power. He said this would be enough to cover the entire city. Plans are for an increase in wattage pending FCC approval.

Construction and testing should be completed in time to begin a full broadcasting schedule in the fall, Hauck said. This would be from 4 to 10 p.m. weekdays and 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. on weekends.

The station will be programmed and operated by students, Hauck said.

Gretchen's Debut

Hollywood (UPI) — Broadway actress Gretchen Wyler will make her movie debut in "The Devil's Brigade."

Yearning For Good Old Days

By HOLLY SPENCE

"OH, for the good old days!"

Don't label that yearning as schmaltzy. This plea isn't dripping with honeyed words of nostalgia. Call it reminiscent if you must.

Even in our young lives, there will be "good old days." Thirty years from today, I'll probably hang that tag on the 1960s.

Perhaps many kids would shun the thought of returning to those times, but I'd give most anything to step inside that mythical time-machine and journey back for a few days.

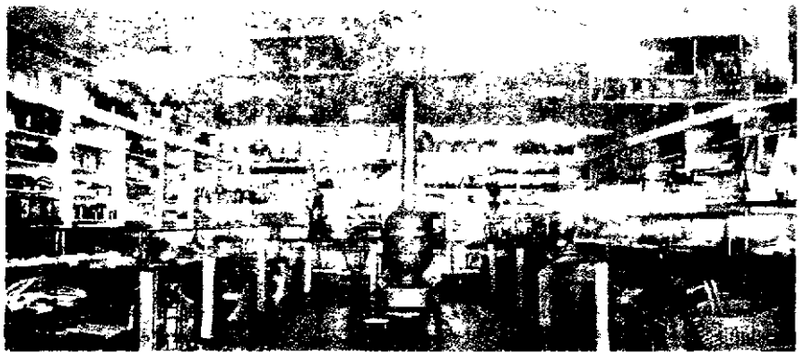
What ever happened to those multi-pound rounds of cheese, barrels of crackers and crocks of pickles? Can't you just see the friendly store feline perched on one of those barrels lulling lazily in the afternoon sun?

Store of yore is preserved at Minden's Pioneer Village



It's hard for me to vision my pop taking a dip in a country pond or skipping buffalo beans across an azure stream on a sunny summer afternoon.

When the circus came to town, pop and his cohorts were up at the crack of dawn to herald its arrival. It was down to the station to watch the menagerie parade to the fairgrounds.

What could have been more exciting than to see the silent screen transformed into a "talkie"? Or a family gathering around the newly acquired crystal radio and taking turns at the earphones?

And words . . . they were worth a 1,000 pictures in those days. All one needed was an imagination to get caught up in the wild schemes and country cavorting of such idols as Frank Merriwell, the Rover Boys or Tom Swift.

Those were the days when highways and turnpikes didn't straight-arrow across the land. Paths ribboned their ways in zig-zags over the country. Well-worn paths were the highways and if a plum thicket rose in the road, the "highway" jutted around leaving the bush to flower and bear fruit.

It was a time when kids primed pumps, windmills turned, dogs were mutts without pedigrees and phonographs had to be cranked

California was a world away. And trips from Holdrege to Colorado Springs meant setting up camp in Cambridge the first night.

And families journeyed from the far corners of the state to hear fiery evangelist Billy Sunday at the chautauqua.

Barber shops were lined with mustache cups and pantries and storm cellars were filled with home-canned goods of every variety

Mothers gathered up their offspring when word got around that a band of gypsies was camped on the outskirts of town. Boys and girls were disciplined with threats that the gypsies would get them.

Every boy carried a pocket knife for whittling and other important jobs. It was practically like becoming of age when that possession was acquired They came in handy for excavating Indian pottery or arrowheads in the country.

And I'm told that Armistice Day meant that our clan lined the sidewalks with fluttering flags and decked the gingerbread porches in patriotic bunting.

Farm-Ranch Become Vast Food Factory

The demand for food is demonstrated by using one city, Lexington, as an example of the community that is added each day to U.S population.

The film shows how the man in agriculture is the center link in taking the products of many and incorporating them into agricultural products that are the basis for many businesses in Nebraska

The importance of credit, electricity, conservation, irrigation, farm and commodity groups, education and research is shown in relation to agriculture

"Everyone knows that agriculture is livestock and crops But sometimes we forget that our farmer and rancher are backed up by so many businesses in the town and city We call them agri-business," says Fonda

The Unpopular Deuce

By Joe Planas

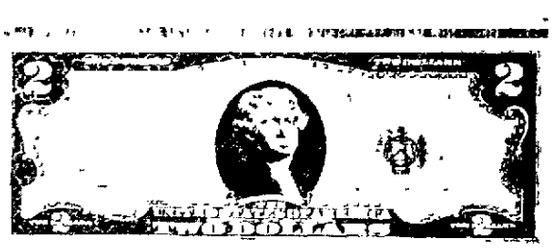
Deuces were aces a couple of months ago

The United States two dollar bill often considered an unlucky piece of U S monetary equipment was being pursued by those eager collectors and non collectors who wished to retain a bit of Americana

Reason for the pursuit was the announcement by the Treasury Department that this country would make no more two spots The department deemed movement of the bills too slow and concluded there was not enough public interest in them to merit printing any more

Coin World a newspaper for the coin collector recently reported it has not been necessary to print the denomination since July of 1965 Coin World also indicated there was a supply to last until at least June 30 1967

It is suspected that even the race track set has abandoned the two dollar bill because of superstition or perhaps for other reasons Corners on some deuces have been torn off because people are superstitious



Some folks claim the two-dollar bill foretold twins so it wasn't something anxious parents wanted in their possessions Others have claimed the word deuce was historically connected with the devil and this surely was to be avoided

Stores actually maintain that having a two dollar bill on your person meant that you could be bought at election time (shades of the voting rights act) for a two dollar bill

The two dollar bill has never been popular and often has been mutilated because of silly superstition attached to it Maybe Jefferson would be glad to know he's safe now on the solid American nickel

An Echo Costs Nothing

By Howard Schenken
and Richard L. Frey

A defense weapon that yields juicy profits and yet costs nothing to operate is the trump echo which can be used when following suit to declarer's play in trumps.

Opening lead: Heart queen.

Depending on the tactical situation, you can echo either to show three trumps and give partner a count on the hand or you can echo to show three trumps plus an active desire to ruff something.

Partner will usually have no trouble figuring out which meaning is intended.

When Mrs. Homeplay in four spades won West's heart opening in her hand and led two rounds of trumps, Laura Leedwell echoed with the four and three from the East hand.

West knew at once that she wanted to ruff, for otherwise there would have been no point in echoing. East was already marked with three trumps in the bidding.

I just hope you knew what you were doing when you echoed, muttered Jennie Leedwell as he won the second round of trumps and made the dangerous-seeming lead of a diamond away from the king.

It was obvious East couldn't be void in clubs so diamond was the only chance.

Laura knew all right. She ruffed the diamond, cashed the club ace and exited with a club. Declarer still had to lose a diamond trick and three hearts.

Tools of Her Career Return to Sandhills Loved by Mari Sandoz

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Gordon—The tools used by the girl who went East to write about the West have been returned to the land she loved.

In a plain concrete building, the office and living room of the late author Mari Sandoz has been recreated alongside Hwy. 27 in the Sandhills 22 miles south of here.

"We have some painting and roof finishing to do and will board to install inside," Mrs. Pifer noted, "but the museum can be viewed any time."

The building, incorporated into a roadside rest area built by the Sunbeam Cultivator Garden Club, is constructed so viewing is done from the outside through windows.

When we went to New York to visit Mari," related Mrs. Pifer, "everything was piled so high with notes and things she was working on that we couldn't set a table to eat from."

Prominent among the furnishings, as it should be, is an elderly portable typewriter from which the letters flowed to create such classics as Old Jules, Cheyenne Autumn, Miss Morissa and Crazy Horse.

Mari had an upright typewriter too. Mrs. Pifer explained, but she always did her work on that old portable, using it on a board she laid on her lap.

Beyond a partition is the living room, decked with the old, old furniture people love to see, and an age-worn desk photos show was in the author's Lincoln office when her writing career began.

The truckload of belongings was brought from the Greenwich Village apartment where the famed historian was known to stuff paper against the telephone bell to assure quiet as she worked.

The old-fashioned quarters were both home and workshop to her for 14 of the more than 20 years she lived in New York.

Mari claimed, said her sister, that she couldn't write out here because she would be too close to the places and things she wrote about.

Letter files and research material was left to the University of Nebraska by the author, though duplicates will be in the museum. Mrs. Pifer said some items there is no room for will probably be given to the State Historical Society.

But most will be at this roadside museum and rest area significantly a regular monthly bookmobile stop.

Foote Will Talk To Naturalists

The Audubon Naturalists club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Morrill Hall auditorium, 14th and U. Frank Foote, section chief of the state parks division of the Nebraska Game, Forestation and Parks Commission, will speak on the parks system and how it involves naturalists. The club welcomes visitors.

Top Chess Players Vie Here

Among the notable chess dignitaries competing for the $1,000 in prize money are Gisela Gresser of New York City, U.S. womens chess champion seven times; Edmar Mednis, New York, U.S. chess master and former Olympic team player, and Marshall Rohland, Milwaukee, U.S. Chess Federation president.

The four-day tournament will be closed with a banquet. Edmar Mednis will tell of the victory of the U.S. student's Olympic team in Leningrad in 1960 and Rohland will present an illustrated talk on the 1966 Olympics in Cuba.

The tournament, sponsored by the Lincoln Chess Foundation, Inc., is directed by Bill Dean.

'The Older the Music, the Better'

The McGuires tell Nebraska heritage through music

C A McGuire of 3714 So 14th has been fiddlin' around for nigh on 50 years now, and his wife accompanies him on the piano

The McGuires musical figures in southeast Nebraska since 1927 are believers in the theory that the older the music the better

'The kind of music we play" McGuire said, 'has practically died out in the United States, except of course in the deep south it's a little more common down there '

McGuire and his wife have played with several different groups at a list of engagements that ranges from private square dances to Lincoln during World War II U S O entertainment for which they were awarded a presidential certificate of honor to playing for community groups

I can still remember those Sunday programs at the U S O McGuire mused In fact my wife and I still get cards from some of the folks who got together at those dances

According to McGuire this type" of music got its start back when Nebraska was still a territory The fiddlers were the only form of entertainment available to the settlers a combination radio television stereo and movie theater in most communities

That kind of music tell the story of Nebraska's heritage McGuire said I guess that's why we are trying out to keep it living

Film May Be Extra On Plane

Washington (UPI) — The free airline movie may be coming to the end of its reel.

If a proposed Civil Aeronautics Board rule change is approved passengers on domestic flights will pay $2 each for the entertainment.

Critics of the rule say it is a strategy that could end with the board ordering a separate charge for all food and liquor as well.

The CAB apparently considers the movies an extra service that the passengers should pay for.

The controversy started after 12 airlines asked the board to approve an agreement they worked out calling for mandatory charges on movies.

The board deferred action on the agreement, but proposed that all the airlines, not just the original 12, put a $2 charge on movies.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy (D-N.Y.) is on the side of free movies. He told the board the introduction of the 300 and 400-passenger jumbo jets in the 1970's would make movies a necessity to ward off boredom for all passengers without window seats.

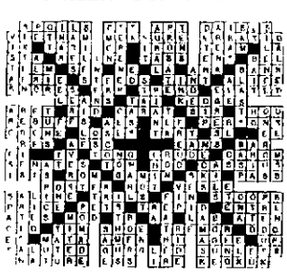
If the board approved a tariff now, it probably would have to reverse itself later, Kennedy said.

Critics have one supporter in the board's own ranks — Vice Chairman Robert T. Murphy. He says he sees no more reason to charge for movies than for food.

The airlines already charge movie-viewers on international flights and attendance dropped sharply after they imposed the fee — $2.50 on most lines.

On some overseas runs fewer than half the passengers are willing to pay.

Puzzle Solution



OUR LITTLE TOWN

About Mother and Her Wages

By Gertrude Skinner Ruskin

The way I figure it, Dad and the kids owe her about $328,500 in back wages. The average wife and mother works 15 hours a day, 365 days a year for 30 years. Figure that at a nominal wage of $2 an hour.

Although I do not have the complete report nor the accurate figures for the times that she's taken down storm windows, mowed the lawn, taken out the garbage, by actual count and close observation the following statistics are valid.

In 30 years she will have laundered, folded, put on and taken off 2,500 diapers, made 56,223 cookies, administered 266 doses of laxative, put 2,750 baby aspirins into resisting baby mouths, drops into 67 earaches and taken 849 temperatures. We won't even count the hours she's walked off baby colic and teen-age conniving.

In 30 years she will have prepared 27,225 meals and washed 10 million dishes, made 23,675 beds and handled 4,875 tubs of dirty clothes. She also has made 4,751 trips to the supermarket and waxed 365,000 square feet of floor space.

Mother believes in giving credit where credit is due, that is if she has been a wife and mother for 30 years or more.

More than likely she wouldn't give your blank check more than a passing glance. For her the interest on her investment amounts to far more than the principal — like having a family that she is proud to call her own.

Keeping your credit good with Mother isn't difficult. All she asks is love and this you can give her without depriving yourself; never but never give her a "no fund" check.

Invitations Out for Expo '70

New York (UPI) — Expo '70, the Japan World Exposition to be held in Osaka in 1970, is expected to attract 20 million visitors, including more than 1 million from overseas, says the Japan National Tourist Organization.

Work on the giant international fair, the theme of which will be "Progress and Harmony for Mankind," was begun in March.

A total of 123 countries and 21 international organizations have been invited to participate.

On One-Mile Trip

The Goose Is Galloping

Dolores, Colo. (UPI)—The Galloping Goose, an auto engine-powered railroad train put in mothballs in 1951, is to run again as a tourist attraction.

On display in the park of this southwestern Colorado town, the Galloping Goose annually attracts between 10,000 and 15,000 visitors.

Civic leaders believe most of these sightseers would like a ride. The townsmen have refurbished the Galloping Goose and laid a mile of 30-pound rail track along the Dolores River to a scenic overlook.

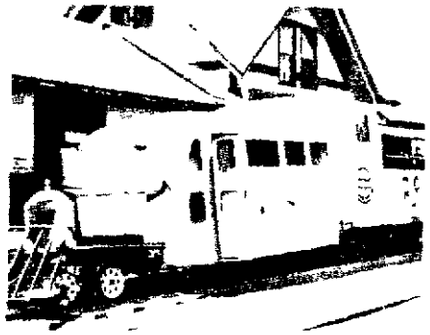
The Goose—actually there were seven of them—was developed in 1931 to maintain rail travel on the 172 mile route of the Rio Grande Southern. Economic troubles had put an end to regular passenger trains. And the same economic difficulty overtook the Galloping Goose. Its service was abandoned in 1951.



Chamber of Commerce officials are defraying part of the $10,000 cost of the restoration job by selling honorary stock certificates to charter members of the new line.

Two-Ton Alice Back On Feet

St. Louis (UPI) — Alice, the two-ton elephant, is back on her feet.

She was cranked up by an A-frame hoist built and delivered within 24 hours.

Alice had become ill and lay down. The zoo staff feared if Alice stayed down much longer she would develop pneumonia and die.

But the chain hoist lifted Alice completely off the ground with a wide steel belt wrapped under her belly. As Alice recovered her strength she was slowly lowered. Within a week she was released entirely.

Yugoslavia's Welcome Mat May Not Be Big Enough

Belgrade (UPI)—Yugoslavia heads into the 1967 tourist season with the slightly preoccupied air of a hostess who has invited too many guests to her party.

This year Yugoslavia extended a blanket invitation to the world by abolishing all visa requirements and it seems certain the country will have a record number of visitors. But the worry for the tourist industry is where to put them all.

Along the Adriatic coast construction crews struggled to get new hotels, campsites and villas ready for the season. But even their best efforts were expected to leave the country considerably short of the rooms needed.

With a mixture of pride and trepidation, tourist officials estimate the number of 1967 visitors could go as high as 25 million—or about six million more than the total population of the country.

Last year, with only 17 million visitors, Yugoslavia's tourist facilities were overtaxed and since then only 60,000 new tourist beds have been added — equally divided among hotels, private homes and camps.

Youth Symphony's Concert Tuesday

Pound Junior High School auditorium at 4740 So. 45th will be filled with music from the pen of Lalo, Brahms and Beethoven at 8 p.m. Tuesday when the Lincoln Youth Symphony presents its annual spring concert, conducted by Eugene Stoll.

Lalo will be represented by the romantic "Le Roi D'Ys" and "Symphonie Espagnole" for violin and orchestra. Soloist is the orchestra's concertmistress, Sally Schulz, a senior at Northeast.

Miss Schulz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Schulz of 6916 X, recently won the American Federation of Musicians Local 463 auditions and will attend the National Congress of Strings this summer.

Beethoven's "Leonore" Overture No. 3 will feature the orchestra's trumpet section. The final number will be Brahm's Acadamic Festival Overture.

Scholarships will be presented to Jed Vitamvas and Alice Henline, who were chosen to represent the Symphony this summer at the Reston (Va.) Music Center.

This is the first year of operation for Reston's eight-week music camp and the Lincoln Youth Symphony was designated as one of the nation's outstanding orchestras from which two string players were selected, according to Stoll.

Certificates of merit will be presented to graduating orchestra members: Sally Schulz, Dave Owen, Marilyn Ghormley, Ron Eddy, Randy Oelkers, Pam Hastings, Alan Virgil, Paul Newhouse, Judy Rulla, Lynna Gene Hill, Peggy Eickmeier, Jim Davies, Bob Semrad, Mike Shelley, Carrol Peacock, Mark Medley and Mona Hagen.

At Wesleyan Tuesday

Faculty Recital

Members of the Nebraska Wesleyan University music faculty will present a free public recital at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Arts Center recital hall.

The recital includes vocal solos by Prof. Ruth Stephenson and Oscar Bennett, a clarinet solo by Dr. Floyd Peterson and a trio including Prof. Mary Howell, flute, Janet Marshall, cello, and Peterson. Accompanists will be Profs. Pauline Slonecker, Ann Leatherman, and Geralyn Bennett.

Prof. Stephenson will sing "C" and "Air Vif" by Poulenc, "Donde lieta" from "La Boheme" by Puccini, "There Were Two Swans" by Giannini and "I Can't Be Talkin' of Love" by Duke.

Dr. Peterson will play "Sonata in E flat Major, Op. 120 No. 2" by Brahms.

Prof. Bennett will sing "Tramping" and "Verborgenheit" by Hugo Wolf, "Les Berceaux" by Faure and "Vission Fugitive" by Massenet.

New Records

Toscanini Library Enlarged

By Delos Smith, UPI

RCA-Victor's observance of the 100th anniversary of the birth of Arturo Toscanini is, naturally enough, a set of Toscanini records. There are five of them. They contain 10 pieces Toscanini performed with the NBC Symphony which hadn't been issued as recordings before.

Toscanini Made off the NBC airways between 1940 and 1949, the old recordings are a delight.

They reveal Toscanini's handling of five composers—Haydn, Leopold Mozart, Brahms, Sibelius and Shostakovich. Brahms is represented by three pieces, and the others by two each with the exception of Mozart who is included because, in addition to fathering music's divinity, Wolfgang Amadeus, he composed a "toy" symphony which now is a hackneyed trivality. But it isn't hackneyed by Toscanini. Like everything he ever conducted, he gave it its own unique validity.

Son-in-Law

Toscanini's son-in-law, the pianist, Vladimir Horowitz, also is the subject of a two-records commemorative album, not because he is no longer with us but because his retirement is so strict we're aware he is still with us only when he is moved to concertize, which is rarely. He gave only three concerts last year and the recordings were taken from those programs.

Thus Columbia set documents that Horowitz is one of the great pianists of the century and it is exciting to have him prove it all over again through a repertory of pieces by Haydn, Schumann, Scriabin, Debussy, Mozart, Chopin and Liszt.

Miss Price

The promotion of a new RCA-Victor recording of Verdi's "A Masked Ball" centers on Leontyne Price in the role of Amelia.

Amelia, though not the most glamorous of Verdian heroines, is involved in believably human emotions to which Miss Price gives musically eloquent expression. Amelia is one of the roles most suited for her voice and temperament.

Erich Leinsdorf conducts the RCA Italiana Opera Orchestra and chorus and an all star cast. Carlo Bergonzi had the role of Riccardo and Robert Merrill was the Renato. For the role of the melodramatic gypsy, Ulrica, there was Shirley Verrett.

Who Is Servant, Man or Machine?

The Myth of the Machine. By Lewis Mumford; Harcourt, Brace & World.

In a recent public statement Lewis Mumford described himself as "an optimist about possibilities, a pessimist about probabilities." The pregnant phrase could almost serve as a commentary on his latest book, another in the distinguished series of works he has written on man and society.

Of an earlier Mumford book I remarked that he was one of the few living writers of whom it could be confidently predicted that he would be read decades hence. "The Myth of the Machine" confirms me in that view.

The book is a survey of the relationship between man and the servant he created which we call the machine. However, it differs markedly in its approach and conclusions from other works on the subject

Whereas it is commonly supposed that the trend is irresistibly toward making man the servant of the machine, Mumford believes precisely the opposite No computerized future for him, with machines ordering our days, designing our lives, and appropriating the arts and sciences to themselves On the contrary, he sees the human mind as the controlling factor in the future as in the past.

In arriving at this heartening conclusion (the "optimistic" possibility above), Mumford takes the reader on a long, erudite, yet fascinating journey through human history, drawing therefrom the necessary morals to adorn his tale. For much of his study he is in the period of pre-history, relying for his data on artifacts, ancient art, and the like. Again and again he questions assumptions which others take for granted.

Man did not, for example, distinguish himself from his animal ancestors because he learned to fashion tools. He fashioned tools, argues Mumford, because he had drawn away from hominids. He was not so much a tool-using animal as a mind-using animal, which led him to make tools.

We are given an absorbing reconstruction of the manner in which man first learned to utter words, which in time led to language and the liberating of human personality. This, maintains Mumford, was a crucial step forward. Later came the first primitive machines to help man in his work

At this point the author postulates his most arresting theory, namely, that the great machines of history (the megamachines, as he calls them) were created by royal rulers using humans as parts. Only a ruler who could command implicit obedience could have produced such massive products of human engineering as the Pyramids, the Mesopotamian canal system, and the Great Wall of China, to mention a few. When the humans died, the parts of the machine vanished with them.

The radical inventions of the past, in Mumford's view, were glassmaking (spectacles prolonged the useful lives of mature people, while microscopes and telescopes altered the dimensions of the world); the printing press (which enriched the collective human mind through the circulation of books); and the clock (which mechanized time and sparked a host of subsequent inventions).

"The clock," adds Mumford, "is in fact the paragon of automations. The automation of time in the clock is the pattern of all larger systems of automation."

What now? Mumford brings his book down to the dawn of modern civilization, when the Power Age was born. It has now grown to proportions no one could have visualized even half a century ago. Nevertheless he reasons, it is a fallacy to suppose that man will ever forfeit his individuality to the machine. Having carried him from animalhood to his present primacy, it is not likely to desert him now.

No, suggests Mumford, the danger lurks not in the machine but in man's own streak of irrationality — that irrationality which expresses itself in such acts as human massacres in wars. We have not yet learned to control this errant behavior, as witness the wars in our own time. Here, you observe, Mumford is a pessimist about probabilities.

"The Myth of the Machine" is a thoughtful, mind-stretching book which contrives at once to inform, to inspire, and to humble the reader.

Ernst Barlach. By Alfred Werner, McGraw-Hill.

Just as Ernst Barlach carved, sculpted and produced fine prints and woodcuts with a compassionate feeling toward man and his travails Alfred Werner has painted a sensitive word picture of the German artist.

During the early part of the 20th Century, Barlach commanded love and admiration as well as respect in Central Europe. Born in 1870, he decided on a career in art when he was a youth. He did not confine his studies to academies and schools in Germany, but studied also in Paris, Dresden, Russia and Italy.

Most of his life was spent in Germany and although he had rough going during the rise and rule of the Nazis, Barlach would not accept advice that he leave his native land

His great works were ridiculed by der Fuehrer and assorted underlings, and stamped by the Nazi regime as degenerate art. This after he had been acclaimed for his sculpture woodprints and drawings not only in Germany and Central Europe, but in London as well His reputation had even crossed the Atlantic to New York.

A certain earthiness in Barlach's work, along with its clean lines, appeals to many. It is a great service to art lovers which Werner has performed in producing not only a fine story of the artist but seeing that it is beautifully illustrated with reproductions of Barlach's works.

Werner, who was born and educated in Vienna, has been living in New York since 1940 and is active as an art critic and lecturer on art.

BOOKS

Story of a Man And Many Ideas

The Autobiography of Bertrand Russell. By Bertrand Russell; Atlantic-Little, Brown.

At the name of this author, a surprising number of images come to mind: Bertrand Arthur William Russell, 3rd Earl Russell; foe of nuclear armament; voluble critic of some U.S. policies; jailed for pacifism; often a lecturer in this country but at other times persona non grata because of unconventional views on sex and unconventional behavior; married four times; grandson of a prime minister; co-author of "Principia Mathematica," purporting to identify mathematics and formal logic; a most independent and courageous social thinker.

The general reader's first thought, if not apprehension, could be that this book is the forbidding account of a philosopher-mathematician's first years. Let such a fear be rebutted at once: this is the fascinating, entertaining, and most readable story of a youth's first experiences, of a mind and body together healthily and brilliantly developing and maturing, of a milieu august and severe drowning down upon the exciting challenges of the present and future.

The volume covers the years 1872-1914 Photographs show a very pretty baby and an attractive young man never imaginably destined for spectacular rebellion. He was brought up largely by Countess Russell, widow of the prime minister.

Once at Windsor Castle, feeling ill, she had been the object of a gesture of royal condescension from Queen Victoria: "Lady Russell may sit down. Lady So-and-So shall stand in front of her."

And to show the unworldly tone of the home in which he grew up, he remembered Gladstone on a visit left alone with young "Bertie" and remarking: "This is very good port that they have given me, but why have they given it me in a claret glass?"

We follow Russell to the eve of World War 1; numerous letters supplement each of the seven chapters. He lived in a time when, without a bicycle and much less a car, he happily walked four miles a day to call on his girl. He also walked four miles every evening for the newspaper, with its account of the Boer War

Family stories as he tells them are delightful, there are hurts and failures, successes and happiness It is an autobiography admirably simple, touching witty, and brimful of significance

We enjoy it all the more for remembering Russell's ties with our country though he would deplore such a chauvinistic note

Firemen Join Battle Against Crippling MS

Home appliance cord defects and human nerve fiber deficiencies have something in common. They sometimes result in disaster, if not death.

Fire fighters claim worn out cords, extension lines and defective wiring frequently trigger home blazes, some exacting human tolls.

Responses Inpaired

Without this protective covering the nerve impulses of the human transmission line become distorted. Muscle and sensory responses are impaired if not eliminated.

Aware of each other's battle grounds, the Lincoln fire department and the Lincoln Multiple Sclerosis Society are joining forces this month in their related campaigns.

If home owners accept the fire department crew's offer, these men will inspect their houses to point out fire hazards in this annual three-month campaign. At least 75% of the city's fires in 1966 involved someone's home.

Emergency Calls

20,000 distributed

The Multiple Sclerosis chapter's week-long campaign starting Monday is a door-to-door effort to raise funds to help local victims of the disease and to support continuing research on this enemy of the human transmission line.

20,000 Labels

A joint effort will be the firemen's distribution of 20,000 gummed labels on which Lincoln's police and fire emergency telephone numbers have been printed at Multiple Sclerosis Society expense.

MS chapter officials said this represents an organization service to the total community, including those homes where multiple sclerosis is an unwelcome resident.

Those particular houses are not unknown to Lincoln fire department crews, says DeWayne McIntyre, chief of the Bureau of Fire Prevention.

About three of every four calls answered by the department rescue unit are from the handicapped, including multiple sclerosis patients.

An MS chapter spokesman says patients have found they can count on firemen coming to their rescue "just as we have told them to do if they fell out of a wheelchair or needed help not available otherwise."

Fire Inspector McIntyre says most large loss fires are caused by human-delayed alarms.

"People think they can handle it so they put off calling and the fire that started small becomes a big one," he explains.

No Pattern

Putting out the "blaze" of multiple sclerosis isn't quite that simple. There is no set pattern.

Early symptoms may be mild and transient. It could be merely numbness of the arm, blurred vision or excessive fatigue.

In others, the first attack may cause major disability.

No matter the starting pattern, symptoms tend to disappear completely, only to recur later, usually in more severe and persistent form. Many patients have unexplained prolonged remissions.

Until widespread research can produce a complete jigsaw out of the pieces being discovered in laboratories today, the "fires" caused by this chronic, usually progressive neurological disease can only be controlled in varying degrees, but not put out.

Changes at Auditorium In Making

Board Wants Policy Review

By LEO SCHERER

Don't be surprised if the Pershing Municipal Auditorium advisory board makes some policy changes in the near future.

Around City Hall

Some board members feel that a review should be made of the entire operation especially regarding rentals and types of shows being booked.

Board members aren't critical of Manager Ike Hoig, who says that auditorium operating costs, like other 10-year-old businesses, are continually going up.

Hoig has predicted the auditorium will come close to breaking even during this fiscal year, but it now shows a $14,177 net loss for the first eight months.

The auditorium board just rents the auditorium to a promoter on some big shows and doesn't share in the total receipts, or losses, in some cases.

Getting Acquainted

Although not yet the mayor, Sam Schwartzkopf has been as busy the past week as if he was the city's chief executive.

Schwartzkopf has been getting acquainted with city officials and others and attended several board meetings.

He also has been working closely on some items with Mayor Dean Petersen, who wants a good transition of administrations.

Schwartzkopf says he now plans no major changes of personnel within city government and he feels Lincoln has some highly competent employes.

Long-Drawn Job

Don't let anyone tell you that the deactivation of the old Lincoln Air Force Base is a simple matter that has been completed.

The Lincoln Airport Authority and other city officials are still involved in the deactivation and there has been much governmental red tape involved among federal agencies.

There now are hopes that the title and final disposition of base properties will come within three to six weeks but more time might pass before all paper work is finished.

The old base, renamed Lincoln Air Park West, now is 84% occupied and reliable sources says some good tenants are still showing interest.

Valuation Protests Are Fewer

Complaints Drop to 120

By HAROLD SIMMONS

Despite increases in property taxes in Lancaster County last year that averaged about 20% for real estate far fewer protests of valuations were filed this year than had been anticipated

Court House Call

Assessor Fritz Meyer said the County Board of Equalization will have only 120 protests to consider when it begins the annual hearings next Tuesday Last year the board had 178 protests

Meyer attributed the small number of protests to the fact his office talked with property owners who wanted to file protests and went out and checked more than 160 homes.

If he hadn't followed the procedure he did, Meyer said, he estimated the board would have had some 300 protests to consider this year.

The Board of Equalization will open hearings Tuesday and by law must make decisions on all protests by May 30

Forceful Reminder

A man from Clearwater, Fla informed County Judge Ralph Slocum that his city has devised a means of helping people remember not to leave their keys in their cars

Police in Clearwater are authorized to remove keys from the ignition of unattended vehicles and turn them over to the officer in charge at the police station It costs the owner $1 to get his keys back.

The information was provided after the Florida resident said he was surprised to read a story some weeks ago about the number of vehicles parked around the Courthouse with keys in them and that there is no law against this.

In Brief . . .

The county commissioners last Tuesday approved a resolution authorizing a $5 million bond issue for Archer-Daniels Midland Co s soybean extraction plant and then realized the resolution hadn't been read Board business was halted for 13 minutes while the resolution was read out loud

Lancaster County is the ninth county in which a state capitol is located in which Cole Layer-Trumble Co of Dayton Ohio, will reappraise property

Two youths who paid $210 in fines and court costs with quarters in County Court recently did not rob their piggy banks as they claimed It seems they visited a bank just before appearing in court, purchased $210 in rolls of quarters and dumped the change into paper sacks

For whatever it's worth, George Cook has pictorial evidence to back his action of firing a man last week that resulted in a five hour strike at the County City Building He often takes photos of the building's progress and one of these shows the employe stretched out on his back in the sun during time he was supposed to be working.

Last Class at Beaver Crossing To Be Honored

Beaver Crossing—The annual Beaver Crossing High School alumni banquet Saturday night will honor the school's last graduating class

Beaver Crossing has combined forces with Utica and Waco in a consolidated district High schoolers will attend classes at the Utica school next year with Beaver Crossing and Waco buildings as elementary schools

Alumni President Richard Pariset said the special banquet expected to draw some 350 graduates will follow a Centennial theme

The well established annual event will be continued in future years according to Pariset even though Beaver Crossing High School will no longer exist.

BANK-CARE

PAYS MONEY TO HELP KEEP YOU WELL— PAYS YOU WHEN HOSPITALIZED

Starting the FIRST DAY* you are hospitalized BANK-CARE pays direct to you:

$15.00 A DAY

Benefits are paid for up to 500 days for each accident or sickness or a maximum of

YOUR POLICY IS GUARANTEED RENEWABLE UP TO AGE 65—IF YOU ARE 65 OR OLDER, ONE-HALF DAILY BENEFITS ARE PAID.

Benefits begin the first day you are hospitalized for accident. Benefits also start the first day for sickness originating after your policy is 30 days old.

No physical exam is required to enroll. But to help keep you well, BANK-CARE pays up to $10 a year for your annual physical.

Why every adult needs the BANK-CARE program.

- The cost of being hospitalized is rapidly increasing. Experts predict hospital fees will continue to increase much faster than the cost of living index.
- Medical knowledge is advancing — but it costs more, too.
- Most people have some form of insurance to help pay hospital, medical and doctor bills — but, because medical costs and nurses costs are climbing, insurance probably hasn't kept up.
- Even the most complete health insurance simply doesn't cover everything.
- living expenses go on. You need cash for rent or mortgage, utilities, installment payments, sitters, etc.
- if you are the breadwinner, cost of food, clothing and family support continue.
- and while these costs go on and many incidentals mount up, your income may be curtailed or stop entirely.

BANK-CARE provides EXTRA CASH you need - - with no strings attached.

BANK-CARE pays $15.00 a day while you are confined — if you are released and then re-hospitalized for the same cause, benefits start again immediately — for up to 500 days for each accident or sickness. Even if you are paid for the full 500 days, you are eligible at once for benefits in event of a new sickness or accident — and after six months out of the hospital, if you are hospitalized anew for the original cause, you will be eligible again for benefits.

After two years, BANK-CARE even covers pre-existing conditions.

After your policy has been in force continuously for two years, BANK-CARE will cover you even if you are hospitalized by conditions that existed at the time your policy went into effect.

BANK-CARE helps your doctor keep you well.

As you know and as your doctor will tell you, a regular physical exam — at least once a year - - is important. For example, if cancer is discovered early, the chances of curing it are much better. It is the same with many other diseases.

You are never required to have a physical, but each year BANK-CARE will pay you $10.00 on an annual examination if you have one. You may arrange the exam any time within 60 days after your policy has been in force one year and each anniversary thereafter. An annual Physical Examination Certificate will be enclosed with your policy.

Questions and Answers about BANK-CARE

Q What is BANK-CARE?

A A new kind of insurance to help you meet today's higher costs of hospitalization and to help keep you well.

Q How does BANK-CARE help keep me well?

A BANK-CARE encourages an annual physical exam, thus chances are excellent for early detection and prevention of disease — saving you money, time, pain . . . and possibly your life.

Q Do I have to take a physical examination to apply?

A NO. Merely fill out a simple application.

Q Do I have to take an annual physical exam?

A DEFINITELY NOT. But, to encourage you to have a regular check-up, BANK-CARE will pay you $10 a year on the cost of a physical- -but you need not have an exam unless you want it.

Q What does BANK-CARE do when I am hospitalized?

A It pays money direct to you to use any way you wish — to make up the difference on your hospital bill, or for living costs, nurses, or bills. How you use it is up to you.

Q How much does it pay me?

A BANK-CARE pays $15 a day for every day you are confined. If you are age 65 or older or eligible for Medicare, BANK-CARE pays $7.50 a day.

Q Does BANK-CARE pay from the first day I am hospitalized?

A Yes, benefits are paid from the first day you are hospitalized.

Q What is the effective date of my policy?

A Your policy is in full force for accidents occurring after the issue date of your policy. Your policy is in full force for new sickness 30 days after the issue date of your policy.

Q How long are benefits paid?

A BANK-CARE pays up to 500 days for each accident or sickness. Even if paid the full 500 days, you are covered at once for benefits in event of a new sickness or accident — and after six months out of the hospital, you will be eligible again for benefits if hospitalized anew for the original cause.

Q What if I have other insurance, will BANK-CARE still pay?

A BANK-CARE pays regardless of any other insurance including Workmen's Compensation, Employers' Liability Laws, or Medicare.

Q Would BANK-CARE pay if I am hospitalized in Canada?

A Yes, you are covered anywhere in the world.

Q Does BANK-CARE pay in any hospital?

A Yes, you will be covered in any hospital that makes a charge for room and board, except convalescent, rest or nursing homes, homes for the aged, drug addicts or alcoholics, or a facility used principally as a clinic.

Q Are there any conditions not covered if I am hospitalized?

A Only the usual exceptions apply — war or any act of war, functional nervous disorder, rest cure, dental surgery or repair, pregnancy, childbirth or complication thereof, confinement in any government hospital, check-up or pre-existing conditions except as provided by the policy.

Q Will BANK-CARE cover conditions that exist when I apply for my policy?

A Yes, after your policy has been in force continuously for two years.

Q How do I file a claim?

A In case you are hospitalized, use the form that will be enclosed with your policy. Your check will be mailed to you promptly and enclosed will be a claim blank for use next time.

Q Can BANK-CARE be cancelled by the Company?

A It is GUARANTEED RENEWABLE to age 65 as long as you pay your premiums. Your rate cannot be changed unless all like policies in your entire state are similarly changed.

Q Can I cancel my policy?

A Yes, at any time. Simply notify us prior to any renewal date.

Q How do I pay my premiums?

A As a convenience, many banks pay premiums automatically from customers' regular checking accounts when authorized, saving customers worry about policies lapsing. If you prefer, premiums may be paid direct to Company.

Q Who can apply for BANK-CARE?

BANK-CARE PREMIUMS ARE SURPRISINGLY LOW

DAILY BENEFIT	BASED ON AGE WHEN YOU APPLY:	FIRST MONTH	MONTHLY RENEWAL
$15.00	At 18 to 39 Years	$1.00	$3.90
$15.00 ($7.50 after 65)	At 40 Years and Older	$1.00	$4.95

HOW ARE THESE LOW BANK-CARE RATES POSSIBLE?

1. BANK-CARE encourages (but does not require) an annual physical — helping you stay well saves claims;
2. Red tape and all unnecessary and complicated paper work have been eliminated;
3. By using modern communication methods, instead of personalized selling, cost is minimized — savings are passed on to you in the form of lower rates.

Even pre existing conditions for which one has received medical advice or treatment are covered after policy has been in force for two years

Regardless of occupation anyone 18 years of age or over is eligible to apply

No physical examination is required to enroll Merely fill out the simple enrollment form attached to this page and mail it

Under present laws and regulations BANK CARE benefits are federal income tax-free

READ THESE IMPORTANT COMMENTS:

"Banks can offer a needed and appreciated service to their customers.

"The factor that has impressed me most regarding Central States has been their absolute insistence on standing behind their obligations to the letter"

Robert W Kirkpatrick,
President
First National Bank
New Holland, Ohio

"We are sold on your Central States Insurance and recommend it to our friends.

"Automatic payment of premiums from accounts is very convenient for our customers Our depositors have been well pleased with the swift and understanding claim service Central States has always given"

Malcolm Forrester
President
Bank of Yorkville
Yorkville Tennessee

"A regular physical examination should be routine for every American.

"Today, medical science can detect many afflictions — among them heart disease, cancer and stroke — if given the opportunity"

Fay Smith M D
Omaha Nebraska
Past President Nebraska
State Medical Association

"The $930 I received from Bank-Care was a blessing!

"Last August I enrolled in the Bank-Care program when my bank agreed to pay premiums from my account It was only three months later in October, that I required a serious operation and was rushed to the hospital where I spent many weeks recuperating

Evelyn R Shores Sterling, Kansas

THE MOON REFLECTS SUNLIGHT ONTO THE EARTH—MOST AT FULL MOON, LEAST AT NEW MOON—DEPENDING ON ITS POSITION RELATIVE TO SUN AND EARTH.

MIRROR, MIRROR, IN THE SKY...
